U. S. WIELDS 'BIG STICK' IN COAL STRIKE

Today

Even the Stock Exchange. Still the Wonder Grew. Wanted, More Dollars. Yellow Paper, or Green?

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

WE LIVE in days of revolution, reform, repentance and searching of souls.

Nothing like it in nature, except an old-fashioned Baptist revival meeting in Jackson School House, Fanwood, N. J., when one farmer after another would arise and say, in trembling voice:

"I love Jesus, brethren pray for me."

TODAY, EVEN the New York Stock Exchange is on the mourners' bench, saying:

"I love Franklin D. Roosevelt, and I am going to be a better boy."

The "big exchange," hitherto hard-boiled and defiant, turns good of its own accord, and brings forth a series of "thou shalt nots," that will do your heart good.

THOU SHALT not lead the little gamblers into temptation.

Accounts of little gamblers, with cash involved not more than $5,000, must be margined at least fifty per cent. No gambling on a snoestring. Bigger accounts must be margined at least thirty per cent.

Thou shalt not go into the highways and byways.

Brokers may no longer "ring you up" and tell you that your chance of a life is gone, unless you buy P. D. Q. NOW.

You may not have "customers' men," drumming up trade, wherever they know there is a loose dollar.

GENTLEMEN and ladies that wish to "go broke" in stock gambling must come themselves and offer up savings, of their own free will.

The above and other rules, to make the "exchange" less of a gambling joint and more of a business institution, are made by the Stock Exchange authorities, of their own free will. Cynics suggest that the super-government in Washington must have been active, but there is nothing to prove this.

THE UNITED STATES government is determined to make kidnaping dangerous for the kidnapers, and will carry on a relentless crusade against that and other gangster forms of crime.

In the fairy story, when something pleasant happens, the good fairy is always back of it, and so, it is in modern government.

The administration good fairy, Prof. Moley, is to take charge of the anti-kidnaping campaign. You consider how many things that man knows, and two lines come back to you:

And still they gaz'd, and still the wonder grew
That one small head could carry all he knew.

As it happens, Prof. Moley, before becoming official pooh bah, had specialized in crime prevention, and no better man could have been chosen to worry the kidnapers.

THE FRENCH government, adding fifteen per cent to tariff charges on goods from America, explains that our cheap dollar makes it necessary. Why you should tax more heavily goods bought with cheap money is not clear to American shippers.

Perhaps 25 per cent added to tariffs on French goods, "because the franc is so expensive," would balance the situation.

BY THE WAY, when will that "deflated dollar" become more plentiful? No NRA or other pious device or hope will bring prosperity, TO STAY, until dollars become easier to get.

The government borrows $850,000,000 with wonderful ease, and that is called prosperity. It is nothing of the kind. Bonds are bought eagerly by those that do not want to put their money in payrolls or business enterprises. After the taxpayers have paid interest on those bonds for ten or twenty years, they will know that a debt is a debt.

To go off the gold basis, and then make the dollars as scarce as diamonds, saying to the little employer "You go ahead and make a heaven on earth," may turn out to be good magic, but it is puzzling to many.

IF THE government had issued and distributed $850,000,000 worth of perfectly good, nice green dollars "off the gold," putting that amount into circulation instead of going out and borrowing $850,000,000 and cutting down the available cash supply, it would have shown intelligence.

Why load millions a year more on the taxpayers, discouraging business, when you could pay your bills with your own money, and save the interest?

IS THE GOVERNMENT'S NAME AND GUARANTEE ANY BETTER ON A YELLOW BOND THAN IT WOULD BE ON A PIECE OF GREEN PAPER?

THE BOOTLEGGERS gave their alcoholic blessing to NRA and its price-raising crusade. In New York rye whisky has gone up $20 a case, in anticipation of a shortage, and it is expected that alcohol will soon sell at $18 a gallon — the plain alcohol used as a foundation for "bath tub" gin and other refreshments.

The bootleggers are not able to promise any 35-hour week, because their work is necessarily irregular, but their help is well paid.

BOMB FOUND IN AUTO OF SURGEON

Bad Connection Balks Blast; Plot Discovered At Gas Station

A bomb was found this afternoon under the hood of the car driven by Dr. W. O. Markell, specialist in orthopedic surgery and on the staff of the Children's and Columbia hospitals, police reported.

The discovery was made by T. M. Cox, attendant at a gasoline station, Boulevard of the Allies and Jumonville street, as he lifted the hood to check the oil.

A stick of some kind of explosive, at first thought dynamite, was found with three wires attached. One was joined to the spark plug, another to a percussion cap and the third was looose. Police believe it was originally connected with the starter. The fact that it was loose prevented an explosion, police said.

Dr. Markell told police he was at a loss to understand who placed the explosive or when or why. The infernal machine was turned over to the bomb and arson squad.

Dr. Markell, with offices in the Jenkins Arcade, resides at 413 Whitney avenue, Wilkinsburg.

FORBES FIELD, Aug. 3.—The pugilistic series between the Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals was resumed this afternoon. In view of the fact that the stands held thousands of women and girls, Ladies' Day guests, there was a feeling that the fisticuffs might be dismissed for the afternoon, although there was no assurance of good behavior, the race and weather being as hot as they are.

Bill Swift loosened up to twirl for the Pirates and Dizzy Dean was all set to oppose the Buccos. The gripping series will end tomorrow.

Pickpockets Get Depositor's $500

LATROBE, Aug. 3.—H. M. Miller, of Washington, was lucky enough to draw $500 from the bank before the banking holiday. He had been carrying it since.

Yesterday he attended a picnic at Idlewild Park, carrying the lone $500 bill in one pocketbook and $11 in another for emergency expenses. He notified C. C. MacDonald, park manager, today that both pocketbooks had been stolen.

Adam Geibel, Blind Composer, Dies at 77

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Dr. Adam Geibel, widely known blind organist and composer of songs and hymns, died today. He was 77.

Born in Germany he was brought to the United States when 9 years old. In his long career as organist at different Philadelphia churches he composed about 3,000 hymns and songs.

Succop Leaves Jail; Holds No Bitterness Over His Conviction

COL. BERTRAM L. SUCCOP . . . FIRST BREATHS OF FREE AIR

THINKS HEALTH IMPROVED

Bert Succop walked out of jail today feeling fine and "through" with politics.

The former city director of supplies lighted a cigaret, smiled and announced he was going to hurry to his cottage at Conneaut Lake to see "the wife and the kids."

Succop, in good humor, said:

"That's a swell place, that jail. I lost 14 pounds there in six months. I haven't felt so good in 10 years . . . Nope, no more politics. I'm going to stick to my real estate business on the South Side."

For the late Mayor Kline, with whom he was convicted of malfeasance, the World War veteran had only praise.

And he harbors no hard feelings over the investigation of city contracts which sent him to jail. He said:

"That's all over with and I'm going to forget it."

Sentenced to a year in jail, Succop's term was cut in half Tuesday by the Board of Pardons and Gov. Pinchot.

1,000 Reported Dead In Chinese Floods

PEIPING, China, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Floods caused by a collapse of dikes along the Chiang River near Sanyduan caused the deaths of 1,000 persons and a great loss of livestock dispatches from Sian reported today.

Distress was widespread, the advices said.

Marriage Banned For Bobby Recruits

LONDON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Lord Trenchard, commissioner of metropolitan police, issued an order today forbidding constables to marry in the first four years of their service.

STOCK MARGINS TIGHTENED

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Wall street and its volatile security markets shuffled about somewhat uncertainly today following the announcement of new and drastic rules adopted by the New York Stock Exchange to curb unbridled speculation.

Trading in both stocks and bonds was hesitant and dull and the more important operators were inlined to defer further commitments for the moment in order to await whatever repercussions might result from the tightening of the speculative reins.

Leading shares moved narrowly.

The latest regulations, apparently designed to protect the small and generally uninformed trader from himself and to prevent a repetition of the recent hysterical gyration of the stock

M'Ardle Won't Eat Corn on Cob With Herron

The spirit of independence is so strong in P. J. McArdle, one of the Independents' mayoralty candidates, that he won't eat corn on the cob with the organization candidate, Mayor Herron.

The two met in a fashion at the stewards' corn roast yesterday at Daniel's farm.

Mayor Herron and his coterie were already punishing an outlay of chicken and corn when McArdle walked into the dining room.

Councilman W. Y. English yelled to McArdle to join them. The Mayor, neglecting an ear of corn for the moment, nodded approval of the invitation.

But McArdle smilingly rejected the offer and sat down with the lone friend accompanying him.

NRA UPHOLDS CONTRACTS ON LABOR

Agreements Reached By Bargaining To Stand

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The way was cleared today for big employers of labor under contract to join the countrywide NRA program without altering existing wage and hour terms.

While Hugh S. Johnson, as head of the Recovery administration continued efforts to bring peace to the coal strike territory of Western Pennsylvania, Donald Richberg—his general counsel—issued an interpretation of President Roosevelt's voluntary agreement under which contracts reached by collective bargaining and which specify a definite number of hours employment per week, may be maintained unimpaired.

TO GET INSIGNIA

The employer affected, to obtain his Blue Eagle insignia, must conform in other ways to the wage and employment move, however.

Newspapers are a principal group affected by the new ruling, since a huge proportion have their mechanical forces now under union-negotiated contracts.

Meantime, the effects of one of the codes of fair practice now in force became evident.

The Navy awarded millions of dollars' worth of ship contracts to private yards, which will operate on a 32-hour week under the code, and, simultaneously, civilian employes in the Navy yards were ordered on a flat five-day, 40-hour week. Further adjustment and changes may be made later.

In driving forward the mobilization for a national campaign to place public opinion actively behind the re-employment drive, the Recovery Administration meanwhile announced more than 200 speakers, including Governors, Congressment, and even cabinet members, have been drafted to stump the country.

SPEAKERS LISTED

Prominent in the list were Secretary of War Dern, John Dickinson, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, speaking today in Pittsburgh; Speaker Rainey; Senators Robinson, of Arkansas; Harrison, of Mississippi; LaFollette, of Wisconsin; McAdoo, of California; Byrnes, of South Carolina; Bulkley, of Ohio; Walsh, of Massachusetts; Barkley, of Kentucky; Wagner, of New York; King, of Utah; Brown, of New Hampshire; Lewis, of Illinois; Clark, of Missouri; Byrd, of Virginia; Duffy, of Wisconsin; Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, and Prof. Paul Douglas, University of Chicago.

Negotiations on codes for individual industries were being carried on simultaneously.

Steel, oil, lumber and many lesser industries were dealing with recovery officials in these efforts.

The oil code, the only major one now in open session, brought out fresh strife today with Oscar Sutro, general counsel and vice president of the Standard Oil Company of California, denouncing the pending code as one not carrying out the views of the "liberal administration."

Like many other oil leaders he was demanding that the government approve of rules for fixing oil prices.

Showers Due Tonight To Break Heat Wave

Showers reported from most points along the Ohio Valley were expected to reach this district tonight, moderating the heat wave which has caused 100 deaths in eastern United States in the last week.

Cloudiness kept the temperature somewhat below yesterday's range but the humidity was hight, Observer W. S. Brotzman reported.

Yesterday's peak was 89.

NRA 'CHEATS' WARNED BY JOHNSON

Code Evasion Charged To Minority Group Here at Meeting

"Chiselers" among Pittsburgh's business and commercial life who intend to try to beat the President's blanket recovery code by subterfuges were warned today by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator.

John Dickinson, assistant Secretary of Commerce, in the first direct message to Pittsburgh from the NRA, struck inferentially at the coal strike, saying that this was no time for quarrels that halt re-employment. He spoke in the Chamber of Commerce at noon.

Gen. Johnson, in Washington, had cited alleged unfair practices of some Pittsburgh businessmen. He said:

"I am not surprised. This was to be expected. Ninety-nine per cent of the manufacturers, wholesale and retail dealers will go along honestly and fairly. About 1 per cent will prove to be otherwise. If it had been otherwise, I would have been surprised. Everything is running true to form.

CODE EVASION CHARGE

"It is reported to me that dealers in Pittsburgh are resorting to subterfuges, and are evading the mandate to the detriment of employes. Let me say that the employes of the concerns which are evading the precepts of the act should immediately report the matter to the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh.

"This organization is authorized to make a report to me. If the employes concerned are not satisfied with its decision, they should report to me direct and I will see that justice is done."

Mr. Dickinson said:

"The only defense for the blanket code is public opinion. People knowing of firms violating their agreement and still using the NRA insignia should report to the Chamber of Commerce. They will in turn pass the word to Washington and investigation will be made. And if the violation is shown, the concern will have its insignia taken away. That is the extent of the

Kline Wills Estate to Widow

His will was filed for probate today. The value of the estate was not reported. Neither were any of the Mayor's possessions listed.

Kline specified that if he and his wife, Mrs. Katharine Kline, died at the same time, his estate should go to his nephews and nieces. He directed that a mausoleum costing not more than $12,000 be erected for himself and his wife in Allegheny Cemetery. He named Mrs. Kline the executrix.

The will was made in December, 1931, when Kline was in his second term as Mayor.

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt, close friend of Kline, filed the document.

Mr. Dickinson, assistant secretary of commerce, who spoke at the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce today, warned against "chiselers" who might try to beat the President's blanket recovery code. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

FLOOD SWEEPS INTO DENVER

DENVER, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Cherry Creek bounded out of its banks today, sent scores scurrying from their homes, flooded busy streets with three feet of water and battered down three bridges as it swept on through Denver.

The ordinarily placid little stream, one of the spots where Colorado pioneers panned gold, roared into a muddy torrent of flood waters loosed by heavy rainfall and the breaking of Castlewood Dam, 40 miles from Denver.

Police routed sleeping residents. In the agricultural area between Denver and the dam, telephone operators and volunteers warned farmers.

Authorities feared some persons along the route of the flood might have been drowned in their homes. Mrs. Claude Hill, 50, was drowned yesterday near Colorado Springs when caught by a similar cloudburst.

Six inches of water covered the floor of the main building of the Denver Union Station.

In the exclusive Cherry Hills and Denver Country Club residential districts, home owners fearfully watched the rising flood lap at their doorsteps.

U. S. to Check Weekly On Cost of Living

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—The government is going to make weekly checks on the costs of foods and textiles, the necessities of life, so the consumers can know what is happening to prices.

"We are going to do what we can to see that consumers are protected at a time when the administration is trying to pull the farmers and workers out of what President Roosevelt calls the 'economic hell' they have been living in for four years."

So said Dr. Fred C. Howe, consumers' counsel of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, adding:

"Conditions are changing so rapidly that month-old figures are of little use to consumers, so we plan to report these data every week."

The weekly lists, compiled by representatives of the Agriculture and Labor departments who will make checks in 50 cities and in over 1,000 stores, will show:

1—Retail prices of bread, milk, meat and other necessities.

2—Show the money the farmer gets for producing the raw materials that go into these foods.

3—Show increase in labor costs of a result of the raises in wages and new employment.

4—Show what the farmers are having to pay for the goods they buy.

Howe said consumers in many sections are beginning to organize to insure fair dealing.

FRICK, UNION HEADS MEET JOHNSON

Pinchot, Lewis, Moses Go to Washington at 'Czar's' Command

Developments in the Western Pennsylvania coal strike today were:

1—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson wields NRA club to attempt settlement of dispute between H. C. Frick Coke Company and United Mine Workers as labor troubles spread beyond coke region mines.

2—Picket rules laid down by Gov. Pinchot and United Mine Workers' officials cause unrest in coke region. Coal strikers cause walkout at Uniontown shirt factory and dye works.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The talons of the NRA blue eagle were shown for the first time today as a result of the Western Pennsylvania coal strike.

Representatives of the H. C. Frick Coke Company met with representatives of the National Recovery Administration, those of the United Mine Workers, and Gov. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, after steadfastly refusing to discuss the strike at their mines with officials of the Keystone State.

The strike which began at the mines in the Frick company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, has been spreading to other mines of Western Pennsylvania.

Today's conference was called by Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, after he had failed to make headway during a flying visit to Harirsburg.

At the conference were Thomas Moses, president of the Frick company; Gov. Pinchot; Gen. Johnson; John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and Edward F. McGrady, assistant administrator of the NRA and a former official of the American Federation of Labor.

SPEEDS COAL CODE

Johnson has taken the stand that the federal government can take no official stand in the Pennsylvania mine controversy, until the coal operators place themselves under a code, and in order to expedite such action has advanced the date for the coal code hearing from August 14 to August 9.

The men at today's conference met last night after Johnson's return from Harrisburg, but he was represented as desirous of conferring with officials of the United States Steel Corporation, now in Washington to consider regulations for the steel code.

When the conference was called this morning, Pinchot, Lewis and McCrady went into Johnson's office and were informed by lawyers for Moses that he could not be present at that time, explaining he was still conferring with other representatives of the operators.

Johnson agreed to a postponement until this afternoon.

PINCHOT, LEWIS WAIT

Pinchot and Lewis walked out, tight-lipped, to return later as the conference finally get under way.

Federal intervention in the strike was discussed between Pinchot, Gen. Johnson and union officials was discussed, it was learned.

Representatives of the Department of Labor have reiterated the statement that the department does not possess police powers and the opinion was voiced that the situation as thus far developed must be handled by the state.

Miss Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, declined to comment, pointing out that she awaited the reports of two representatives of the division of conciliation of the Labor Department.

Man Found Dead In Downtown Street

Efforts were being made at the county morgue today to identify the body of a man, aged about 45, found dead in Cherry alley early today. There were no marks of violence on the body and a post mortem was to be made to determine the cause of death.

ROOSEVELT HOPES TO SPEED UP HOME LOAN FINANCING

PRESIDENT IN PARLEYS AT HYDE PARK

Prepares to Protect Defaulted Bond Owners

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Administration of the new securities and home loan refinancing acts gained attention of President Roosevelt today in conferences with officials at his family residence.

Ray Stephens, member of the Federal Trade Commission, was the first caller. Mr. Roosevelt is considering a reorganization of this commission which administers the securities control law.

He also is preparing to establish the Foreign Bond Corporation to protect interests of holders of defaulted securities.

Vincent Daly, head of the Federal Home Loan Bank, of New York State, came to the summer White House with the troubles of this problem. The situation in New York reached the stage yesterday where Gov. Lehman called for legislation authorizing a one-year moratorium on home foreclosures.

The President himself had appealed for a moratorium pending operation of the new legislation. He hoped in his conference with Daly to speed up government loans to permit small home owners to get their borrowings on a better basis.

As for reorganization of the Federal Trade Commission there is persistent speculation that William E. Humphrey, a Republican member, is due for departure. Of course, another Republican must be named in his position. Humphrey was opposed for confirmation in the Senate by a group of independent Republicans and Democrats.

Mr. Roosevelt joined with the whole Hudson River valley today in welcoming a break in the terrific heat wave. He took advantage of the cooler weather to go to his desk a little earlier than usual.

LEHMAN SEEKS SLUM REMOVAL

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The removal of city slums and their replacement by "dwellings of standard quality to be leased at low rentals" by municipal housing authorities financed under the National Recovery Act, was urged by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today in a special message to the New York Legislature.

The Governor asked the lawmakers to approve measures that will permit cities to set up their own housing authorities, borrow from the $3,200,000,000 federal fund for public works, wipe out their slum districts by condemnation and substitute new dwellings for persons of small or modest means.

He asked also that steps be taken to reduce gas and electricity rates in New York State by broadening the powers and the operating facilities of the State Public Service Commission.

prices, were the most stringent in the history of the exchange.

The rules went into effect today on new accounts; old accounts will be affected September 15.

The new requirements compel all exchange members to demand a minimum of 50 per cent margins on accounts totaling less than $5,000 and not less than 30 per cent on acounts of more than $5,000.

Not so long ago, in more orderly markets, 10 per cent margins were the rule, although in the wild trading of the past several weeks, brokers voluntarily raised all margins substantially and on some of the more excitable issues, full cash payments covering outright purchases were required.

One of the rules forbids members to lend money for the account of any non-banking corporation, partnership, business, trust or any other group or individual.

This regulation, it was assumed, was designed to prevent the financing of pool operations with funds provided by lenders who would have a direct interest in an appreciation of stock prices. It means that hereafter all loans for market purposes must be made for the account of banking institutions.

EXCHANGE MAY MOVE

Published reports that some stock exchange members were considering removal of the exchange to Jersey City or Newark, N. J., to avoid proposed increases in transfer taxes led Wall Street to wonder whether the exchange would not find its big property investment here a big obstacle to such removal.

At the same time no secret is being made of the exchange's concern over the present drive by New York City for further levies on dealings. The proposed tax would be in addition to the state and federal taxes already in effect and would mean a total impost of 12 or 13 cents a share on transactions in stocks.

SPIDER LIFTS SNAKE 2 FEET

WOOSTER, O., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The nation's garter snakes are getting to the point where they need advice in gladiatorial combat, it would appear.

There's one here in Wooster who has let a tiny spider lift him two feet from the floor of a basement with an entangling web.

Wooster recalls the many previous battles between snakes and spiders, and the recent incident in another part of the country where a clam bested a water snake.

So the town is refereeing the battle between the snake and the spider in the Eastern Produce Company's basement, with the betting odds against the snake. The snake is six inches long, and his spider opponent is about the size of a housefly.

Every time the spider runs down a skein of his web to win another skirmish, the snake lashes and weaves frantically, to which tactics the spider responds by climbing on the snake's head and enjoying the ride. The snake is being slowly lifted to the under surface of a floor bench.

HOLIDAY BEGINS FOR COUNCIL

City Council today was recessed for the summer.

The final meeting was held yesterday. The vacation days, probably to be used by five members to campaign for re-election, are subject to interruption upon a special call by President Harry A. Little. The law provides the Council head may call a meeting at any time.

Columbus Honored At World Fair Fete

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Exactly 441 years ago an adventurous Italian set out from Palos, Spain, on the voyage that led to the discovery of the new world, and in commemoration of this date, Italian-Americans are today celebrating Italian Day at a Century of Progress International Exposition.

The day's celebration opened with the dedication of a bronze statue of Christopher Columbus in Grant Park and the renaming of a boulevard Columbus Drive.

Code to Increase Hair-Waving Prices

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug 3.—(INS.)—Milady's hair is going up—in dressing costs.

This was revealed today following a meeting of the Atlantic City Hairdressers' Association, at which steps were taken toward the formation of a blanket code which would adjust hours and wages and increase the price of marcels and permanent waves.

punishment at the present stage."

He added:

"Of course, this blanket recovery program looks merely to the formation of codes, to be sent in by September 1. In other words, it is a stop gap."

PROBE LAUNCHED

Frank Harper, manager of the Chamber of Commerce said today that the Chamber has received some complaints and announced that a subcommittee of the recovery committee will be appointed to investigate these charges.

Dickinson continued:

"Paragraph 7, as interpreted by the National Recovery Administration, means first, that where an employer is ordered to comply with the reduced number of hours, he must hire additional workers, and he shall not reduce wages so as to turn the reemployment agreement into a mere share-the-work movement, without any resulting increase of total purchasing power. In order to avoid this result, he must make some increase in the hourly rate of wages paid to the employes who are to work for a shorter number of hours."

Dickinson laid down the law to the coal groups in the strike zone in his address, saying:

"I would like to say that if self control and co-operation in the national program is imperative on the part of business, it it no less imperative on the part of labor.

"Until the wheels of the industrial system have started to move forward again, quarrels between labor and capital are like quarrels between rival occupants of a house while the house is burning. The re-employment program cannot stand at a halt until labor has obtained everything to which it thinks it is entitled, or even everything to which it may be entitled.

CAN'T HALT DRIVE

"The reemployment program cannot stand at a halt while issues which have no immediate bearing on re-employment are thrashed out. No doubt these issues, or many of them, may need to be thrashed out and if so, they will be duly and promptly thrashed out in the process of preparing and agreeing upon the permanent codes for the respective industries in which they arise.

"The time is here to call a truce to all controversy which threatens the re-employment program."

LAUREL, HARDY, WIVES AT PEACE

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Matrimonial clouds which have hovered over the film comedy team of Laurel and Hardy are lifting and they are smiling again, at least off stage.

Stan Laurel, who sheds screen tears at slight provocation, announced beamingly yesterday he and Mrs. Laurel were reconciled and that her divorce suit would be dropped.

Their 3-year-old daughter, Lois, he said, drew them together again.

And Laurel added:

"The Hardys are doing the same thing."

But Ben W. Shipman and David H. Cannon, attorneys, respectively, for Mr. and Mrs. Hardy, said:

"That's news to us."

Friends on the studio lot, however, insisted Laurel was right.

NAVY AWARDS CONTRACTS FOR 21 NEW SHIPS

Roosevelt Program Put in Full Swing Over 'Plot' Protest

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—President Roosevelt's plans to increase the fighting strength of the Navy today were launched under full swing with the award of contracts by the Navy Department for the 21 ships to be constructed in private yards and the allocation of the remainder of the 16 vessels to be built in government yards.

Disregarding charges by Senator Trammell, (Dem.), of Florida, that four great shipbuilding companies, the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, the New York Shipbuilding Company, the United Dry Docks, Incorporated, and the Newport News Shipbuilding Company had "connived" in offering bids on three cruisers the Navy Department awarded the the contracts as follows:

Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, Quincy, Mass.—One heavy cruiser for the fixed price of $11,720,000.

Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, Newport News, Va.—Two aircraft carriers for the price of $19,000,000 each.

New York Shipbuilding Company, Camden, N. J.—Two light cruisers for the fixed price of $11,677,000 each.

Electric Boat Company, Groton, Conn.—Two submarines for the price of $2,770,000 each.

Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation—Four destroyers for the fixed price of $3,896,000 each.

New York Shipbuilding Company—Four destroyers for the fixed price of $3,775,000 each.

Six 1,500-ton destroyers were awarded as follows:

Bath Iron Works Corporation, Bath, Me.—Two destroyers for the sum of $3,429,000 each.

Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, Kearny, N. J.—Two destroyers for $3,410,800 each.

United Dry Docks Company—Two destroyers for $3,400,000 each.

AIMEE MAY GO ON STAGE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, evangelist, may go on the stage.

The elders of Angelus Temple nodded approval when she suggested such action yesterday. Her role would be that of preacher, not an actress, and the public would be admitted free after the regular vaudeville program. She said:

"I believe this presents an opportunity to carry the gospel to virgin fields and bring the Lord's word to people never before reached by the church."

David Hutton, Jr., her husband, who has filed suit for divorce, is now in vaudeville.

Nazi Prisoners Face Harsher Treatment

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—On the theory that "the only effective punishment is to make offenders dread prison life," the treatment of prisoners, men and women, became stricter under a new Prussian law today. Said Hans Kerrl, Prussian cabinet member, by way of explanation:

"The time is past for jailbirds being treated to lectures, games and the cinema, making them better off than the jobless or laborers."

Weather Conditions.

Low pressure extends from the far Northeast southwestward to Texas, thence northwestward over the Rocky Mountains and the plateau section, while high pressure covers the plains states and northward over Manitoba and the southeastern states. Cloudy weather prevails this morning throughout the low pressure area, and it is raining at scattered places over the Ohio Valley states and the southern portion of the lake region. Showers were general during the last 24 hours from Colorado eastward over the central plains and the Ohio Valley states to the Atlantic coast. Temperature changes were towards cooler over most of the eastern half of the country as compared with yesterday morning, and high maximum temperatures yesterday were limited to the southern states, the Atlantic Coast states and northward over the Ohio Valley to Central Ohio and Indiana.

KATHRYN CARVER

MENJOU $5,000 GAGS HIS WIFE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—That suave gentleman of the drawing room movie, Adolph Menjou, has pulled a tight rein on his personal affairs in the public records by an agreement with his wife which will permit her a divorce by default.

For the small sum of $5,000—he already had given her $150,000 as a property settlement—Mrs. Menjou agreed yesterday to amend her divorce complaint to eliminate all mention of another woman in the life of the actor.

Menjou commented:

"I do not want to indulge in any recriminations or to bring about any unpleasant publicity."

A New York stage actress was mentioned in the first complaint signed by Mrs. Menjou, known as Kathryn Carver on the screen. The new complaint will merely charge cruelty.

OHIO WILL ACT ON RELIEF

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Declaring that "the people must be fed," Gov. George White today issued a call for an extraordinary session of the Ohio Legislature on August 16 to take up the problem of poor relief.

School financing and economies and a proposal to prescribe the death penalty for kidnapers also will be included in the program of business to be considered by the Assembly.

3.2 Beer Approved In S. Dakota Senate

PIERRE, S. D., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—A bill to legalize 3.2 per cent beer was approved by the South Dakota Senate in special session last night. The vote was 42 to 1.

The measure now goes to the House, where quick action is expected. Carrying an emergency clause, it would make 3.2 beer and wine legal immediately upon House approval and signature by Gov. Tom Berry, who called the special legislative session to act on the bill.

Coroner's Jury Holds Autoist in Death

E. L. McAllister, 26, of 1300 Beechwood boulevard, was held by a coroners' jury for the Grand Jury today on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of 4-month-old Caroline Van Briggle, of 404 Station street, Bridgeville.

The baby died in Mercy Hospital July 8 of a fractured skull suffered in an automobile accident on the Bigelow boulevard, near Kirkpatrick street. The child was riding in a car driven by her father, Basil Van Briggle.

HUEY LONG RULE FADES AS QUIZ SHOWS FRAUD

'Kingfish' Now on Way To Obscurity, Old Enemies Insist

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—The once powerful political kingdom of Senator Huey (Kingfish) Long is crumbling, and if an election were held tomorrow the man who has been virtual dictator of Louisiana for many years would go down to defeat by a 75,000-vote margin.

This was the claim of Francis Williams, member of the Louisiana Public Service Commission and one of the leaders of the forces that have fought the Kingfish—(or the Crawfish as they call him now)—since 1925.

Wholesale desertions from the ranks of Long's followers are hamstringing the "Kingfish," who suffered a trip-hammer blow at the hands of his enemies yesterday when discrepancies were shown in six ballot boxes used in the November election, according to Williams.

POINT TO JUDGES

Anti-Long leaders pointed to the action of two criminal court judges, both elected on Huey's ticket, as proof of this.

Judge Frank Echezabal dismissed the pro-Long grand jury that had attempted to block a recount of the ballots, and ordered selection of a new jury.

Judge Alexander O'Donnell made good his pledge to see that the boxes were opened and investigated in his court. Williams said:

"When the Crawfish, through his puppet Governor, O. K. Allen, called out the militia to seize the boxes, suspicion here ripened into conviction that fraud was so gross an inspection of the ballots involved would startle the public.

VICTORY CLAIM

"This result has been attained. The disclosures when the boxes were checked by prominent citizens as tellers in open court are adequate enough to convince any open-minded citizen of the state that the Long domination in Louisiana is a fraudulent one.

"The coming city election will see Long beaten, for citizens are determined to have the honest ballot count and will start his parade into obscurity."

CLEAR MANGER IN SHIP DEATH

BREMERHAVEN, Germany, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Detectives said today that they regarded as accidental the slaying of Karl Werner Heye, young New York broker, aboard the liner Bremen at sea last Sunday.

Charles Manger, of Los Angeles, who was detained aboard the ship pending completion of the investigation into Heye's death, probably will be released shortly. He plans to return to the United States aboard the Bremen August 7.

When the Bremen docked at Cherbourg, France, yesterday, Chief Officer William Dahme said the 26-year-old New Yorker was accidentally shot by Manger, his friend, while the latter was playing with a pistol in their cabin.

The case comes within the jurisdiction of German authorities according to international law. After Manger reported the shooting a hospital attendant was with him the rest of the voyage, Dahme said Manger was not under arrest.

Death Takes Sister Of Henry L. Doherty

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mary Doherty Morrey, wife of William T. Morrey and sister of Henry L. Doherty, utilities and oil operator, died early today at her summer home at Buck Hill Falls, Pa., the offices of Henry L. Doherty & Co. announced.

Mrs. Morrey had been active in the Ohio State University Women's Association of New York City, of which she was president, for many years.

5 Waive Hearings In Mine Outbreak

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 3.—Two deputy sheriffs and three striking miners, arrested after a disturbance at Filbert, waived hearings before Justice E. N. Paia at Republic. John Webb and Dave Cunningham, the deputies, and John Carl, John Ziots and John Baron, Filbert miners, posted bail.

Law, Doctors May Send Sylvia Back to Studio

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Emanuel Cohen, vice president of Paramount Pictures in charge of production, asserted in a statement today that Sylvia Sidney was offered full salary to remain idle in Hollywood during her convalescence from a throat operation.

Miss Sidney, who walked out of her role in a picture starring Maurice Chevalier, is now in New York.

Cohen said:

"Although three of the most eminent physicians in Los Angeles have given us their written opinions, after examining Miss Sidney, that she is able to return to work, we have not ordered her to do so.

"On the contrary, we have asked her to remain idle but in Hollywood, on full salary during any reasonable period of convalescence, after which time her condition of health could be affirmatively established.

"Miss Sidney has chosen to ignore our requests. She has preferred to convalesce, not in the beautiful Italian garden of her Beverly Hills home, but on an airplane speeding across the continent, in New York during one of the hottest spells in its history, and in hotels and on fast liners with a party of Hollywood friends. Even now we have not ordered Miss Sidney back to work.

"Three of the most reputable physicians in New York will reexamine her. If these specialists agree with the Los Angeles physicians that Miss Sidney is able to work without endangering her health, then we will order her back to the set, and if she refuses we will take every measure to protect our rights which the laws afford us."

Boy Hero Ignores Fire Warning, Saves Babies

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Ten-year-old Edward Flansburg woke and stared uneasily into the darkness. It was warm. His nose smarted.

There was smoke in the room. He listened intently—and heard a timber creak.

His father had often warned him:

"If the house ever catches fire, get out and stay out. Don't wait to get your toys."

A dull glow flickered in the hallway. The house was on fire. His mother and father were away. He heard his grandmother's bare feet pounding the floor. Coughing, frightened, he ran out with her. The red glow mounted.

The babies! Outside, Eddie remembered his baby sister and his two baby brothers, asleep in a back room. But there was that warning—"Get out and stay out."

Down the street an hour later came his father's automobile. Frantic at the sight of their burning home, the father and mother saw a group of huddled firemen.

The firemen surrounded Baby Eleanor, 4 months; John, 3 and Raymond, 3, and the grandmother. All were safe. A doctor was attending Eddie, cut and bruised and burned on one foot. Said a fireman:

"He made three trips into the house, brought out all of the youngsters, and then collapsed, half suffocated."

The children's sleeping room was destroyed.

MRS. COSTELLO GIVES LIE TO 'KISS AND TELL' POLICEMAN

WIDOW FIGHTS TO ESCAPE NOOSE

Deals Blow at Case Of State; Sobs On Stand

SALEM, Mass., Aug. 3.—(INS.)—With her back to the wall and fighting, perhaps for her life, Mrs. Jessie B. Costello this afternoon continued to deny under cross-examination the story of illicit love as related by Edward J. McMahon, so-called "kiss and tell" ex-policeman.

She snapped back repeatedly to questions fired by District Attorney Hugh A. Cregg. "It's not so."—that she went on trysts with him in an automobile, that she invited him to her home, that she was more friendly to him than to any other man, and that she encouraged him.

"Did he ever make any improper advances to you?"

"I'll give him credit for that much—no."

BLOW TO STATE

Mrs. Costello dealt a smashing blow to the state's case when she admitted buying empty gelatinous capsules at a Peabody drug store, but declared they were purchased for a woman neighbor and given to the latter in the store.

State medical witnesses had testified to finding a gelatinous substance in the stomach of Costello consistent either with cyanide of potassium, which killed him, or food. The final and "surprise" prosecution witness, George N. Russell, pharmacists' assistant, told of the capsule purchase by Mrs. Costello four months before the death of the fire captain.

It was not four months before Costello's death, but a year ago last March that she purchased empty capsules, she said.

CRIES ON STAND

Jessie was calm when she gave this testimony but at the outset today—her second day on the stand—she broke down and cried as she told of finding her husband's body and denied she had moved it to the hallway, where it was found. Her voice broke as she said.

"I saw my Bill lying in the hallway. I screamed and went downstairs. I didn't go near the body because three years ago I went through a similar experience with baby. Bill had the same look."

Other highlights of her testimony were:

She denied Edward J. McMahon, ex-policeman, embraced her when he came to her home with other neighbors soon after her husband's body was found.

She heard her father tell McMahon he would "break him in halves if he didn't get out."

ENTERS DENIALS

She denied she said in effect, "They'll have to go like—to find anything with a gallon of embalming fluid in the body."

She welcomed an autopsy, voluntarily went to Peabody police headquarters to tell of her married life, and during the grilling, declared that she did not know that cyanide and oxalic acid was a lethal mixture and knew nothing of her husband's life insurance policies.

She denied she had told police she liked younger men.

CITY-FIRM PAY PACT BROKEN

Complaints against contractors breaking an oral agreement to pay a minimum of 30 cents an hour on city work were announced today by Mayor John S. Herron.

The Mayor declared that the M. O'Herron Company, paving Saline and other streets on old contracts, was mentioned as a company paying below the 30-cent rate agreed upon by the Mayor, Council, and contractors several months ago. New contracts include a proviso that 45 cents an hour to unskilled labor be the minimum.

A representative of this company sat in the conferences, Herron said, adding:

"I was surprised to hear that our oral agreement with contractors engaged on city work has been broken. I have informed the Law Department and Director of Public Works Lang to make an investigation."

Although no written agreement was violated, he said, he can hold such a contractor "irresponsible," inferring that such contractors could be excluded from city work in the future.

Jessie Costello Again in Pillory, Dares Death to Clear Her Name

(Editor's Note—The following article describing the appearance of Jessie Costello on the witness stand at her trial for the murder of her husband was written for International News Service by Adela Rogers St. Johns, famous novelist and motion picture writer, author of "A Free Soul," "The Single Standard" and "What Price Hollywood."

By ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHNS
Written Exclusively for International News Service

SALEM, Mass., Aug. 3.—Jessie Costello sits for the second day in the pillory.

It is a plain wooden chair, uncomfortable and awkward.

The rose color in her beautiful face deceives you, for a moment. That, and the hot flash of her black eyes. Then you see that really she is tense and tormented. She knows, and you can feel that she knows, that when she rises from that weary chair her fate will be decided, the dice will be rolled for her life or death.

Guilty or innocent, she flies the red badge of courage. Upon the story she is telling she has staked her very soul. If they believe her, those 12 men who watch her so closely, sometimes with direct stares, sometimes with embarrassed side glances such as men often give a woman accused of guilty passions—if they believe her, they will acquit her, and send her back to her three babies. If they do not believe her, she will walk from that seat to another from which she will never walk again.

That is all there is to the Costello case, really.

DESPERATE VENTURE

What a desperate venture to tell the story she is telling us now in the soft, light voice that hurries, that drops into a brogue now and then, that lilts suddenly with laughter and grows husky with tears.

Not many women accused of murder, not many women who listened to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts build a case of 46 witnesses against her, would dare to take the stand in their own defense. Even if she is telling the truth, how easy to be tripped in memory, to forget to become confused to say some inadvertant word that will be misunderstood. If she is lying, what burning fear that one false word may betray her into the hangman's noose.

As she talks we know so much—and so little.

We know that Bill Costello didn't like doctors and hated a fuss when he was ill. We know that Jessie Costello had a strong box in which she put the money she collected for the unemployed and that she kept the key hidden under a candlestick. We know that Sis, her little girl, wasn't very well and had to get up often in the night and that Jessie Costello always heard her. We know that sometimes when she took her little girls to church of a Sunday morning she stopped and picked up Ed McMahon's mother—the mother of the man who has sworn so glibly that he was her lover.

WIVES CONVERSE

Do we know that Ed McMahon's wife and Jessie Costello once talked together and that Mary McMahon said:

"When you've known Ed McMahon as long as I have you'll learn not to pay any attention to anything he says."

And that Jessie Costello told her, with half-humorous philosophy:

"Mary, you've always got to be catering to men. My mother lived with my father 30 years and catered to him every day of them. And I'm living 10 years with Bill Costello and I'm still catering to him."

Do we know that, or is that just a lie that Jessie Costello invented.

Now we come to the fatal day, the day that was to be Bill Costello's last upon earth.

We know that he got up early at 6 o'clock when Bud, the baby boy, woke up, and brought the youngster into his mother's room and put him in bed between them. How plainly we can see it—the dark, lovely woman in her plain nightgown, still sleepy because she had been up so often in the night with Sis and with Bill, who wasn't well. And the little boy, laughing and pulling at her dark hair. And the father who perhaps didn't dream that he had only a few hours to live.

Then at 10 minutes to 7, the little girls woke up, and Jessie got up and took off her nightgown and threw it across a chair and dressed herself and the little boy. Then with him in her arms and Sis and Anna, the two little girls beside her went downstairs to cook breakfast.

We know that she kissed the little girls goodbye and sent them off to school and served breakfast to her father-in-law, the old gentleman who lived in the front bedroom downstairs.

At 9 o'clock, the general cleaning woman came and changed her clothes in the back porch and started her routine. And Jessie began, with the fatal paste, to clean brass and silver and boilers.

It is all so simple, so natural, so like a thousand other mornings in a thousand and one homes everywhere.

But suddenly, as Jessie Costello tells us these simple things, there is a cold whisper, a cold wind sweeps through the sweltering courtroom.

Death enters.

LAST GRIM ACTOR

How did he enter, the last grim actor in this tragedy?

While she dressed her baby and waved her little girls goodbye and prepared the old gentleman's breakfast, did Jessie Costello turn into a heartless, hideous fiend and with the same hands that had fed the baby boy and smoothed out the little girl's hair feed poison to their father?

The very thought sickens and we stare at her, trying to get behind the words.

She knows the truth, she knows all that happened in the little house that morning. Behind her hurrying voice is a desperate insistence, an agony of pleading. She wants us to believe her.

Some of us do. Some of us do not.

If only there were some way to know some touchstone of truth that we might know whether this woman is innocent as she seems, whether she is a fiend in human form and deserves the most terrible punishment man can mete out to man.

But we cannot know. Perhaps before she has finished, a miracle will happen—perhaps somehow the gods of truth will show us plainly whether this is truth or ignoble falsehood.

Now only Jessie Costello knows—and the knowledge, guilty or innocent, burns her with a searing flame.

PINCHOT'S WIFE AIDS GIRL HERE

A letter written by a Pittsburgh woman to Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, crusading wife of Pennsylvania's Governor, complaining of alleged "sweatshop" conditions in a magazine canvassing job, got results.

Miss Fidelis Harmening, 30, of 4401 Schenley Farms Terrace, today in Central Police Court faced Arnold W. Bayley, 28, of Dayton, O., with offices at 616 Berger Building.

He had been arrested by detectives, charged with being a suspicious person, at the request of the Better Business Bureau, to whom Mrs. Pinchot had referred Miss Harmening's complaint.

Miss Harmening testified that, tempted by a proffer of $18 weekly, she had solicited subscriptions for a magazine in Uniontown and Greensburg for two weeks, had received only $4 in cash, had to pay 25 cents to Bayley for taking her in his auto to Greensburg and when she went "broke," he told her to hitchhike home. She hailed a truck driver and returned, she testified.

Bayley testified another representative of the company had employed Miss Harmening. Magistrate Leo Rothenberg continued the hearing until Saturday.

Louis Shipman, Dramatist, Dies

PARIS, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Theatrical circles mourned today for Louis Shipman, well-known New York dramatist, who died at his home at Boury-en-Vexin, France, at the age of 69.

Shipman had lived in France for eight years. His plays were well known in the New York stage. Born in Brooklyn, N. Y., he was a journalist, magazine writer and editor as well as playwright.

Lord Furness Weds Mrs. Enid Cavendish

LONDON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Lord Furness, British shipping magnate, and Mrs. Enid Cavendish were married this morning at a registry office.

POLA NOT WED TO M'CORMICK

PARIS, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Pola Negri, exotic film star, does not intend to marry Harold M. McCormick, of Chicago, "for the time being," she assured International News Service today.

She added:

"Whether there is any possibility of my marrying him within six months is another question."

Miss Negri was located after the Paris Midi published a dispatch from Nice, detailing a rumor that she had married a "Mr. MacCormick" and was honeymooning in Italy.

She said:

"Harold and I are great friends, but that is all. No woman ever knows her own mind. Maybe I don't know mine."

In the meanwhile, Miss Negri said, there is "certainly" no possibility of her becoming Mrs. McCormick.

'HUG ROBBER' SEIZES NURSE

While Mary Barker, 25, a trained nurse, rested on the porch of the J. H. Roadman home, 312 West North avenue early today, she reported to police, a man walked on to the porch and without a word seized her by the throat.

Miss Barker who is nursing the infant son of Roadman told police:

"The man approached from the park. When he seized me I couldn't scream. I think he planned to kidnap the baby for when he saw I didn't have the child, he loosened his grip, stared at me for a moment and then walked away."

She described her assailant as being well dressed and aged about 35.

NEW KIDNAPING THREAT SENT O'CONNELLS

Wife of Democratic Leader Guarded; Revenge Motive

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Threats to kidnap the wife of Edward J. O'Connell, prominent Democratic leader, or one of the three O'Connell brothers, uncles of the ransomed John J. O'Connell, Jr., were reported today to have been received by the family. The threats were said to have been responsible for the heavy guard maintained at the mountain camp of Dan O'Connell where several members of the family are staying.

Police and private guards, armed with rifles, patrol the O'Connell camp, 20 miles from the city. Young "Butch" was returned to the camp last Sunday morning after a 24-day captivity in New York City.

It was the police theory that the kidnapers, now aware that they had been given marked money and that the O'Connells worked with the authorities, sought to silence the youth and his uncles with threatening letters.

The O'Connell brothers are Ed and Dan, uncles of Johnny and John J., Sr. (Solly), father of "Butch."

Reports also were being circulated that the first arrest in the case would be made today. Manney Strewl, intermediary, has been held in custody for questioning, and his pal, John Oley, was ordered picked up.

Kidnaping to Be Solved, Attorney Declares

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 3.—"Something is wrong if they can't solve the O'Connell kidnaping case in view of the information we have given."

Louis Snyder, Albany attorney, who accompanied Manny Strewl, the ex-convict "go-between" to New York City when $40,000 was turned over by Strewl to the kidnapers for the release of 24-year-old John J. O'Connell, Jr., made this statement today to International News Service.

Snyder is nettled by the policy of silence adopted by Daniel P. O'Connell, politically powerful uncle of the kidnap victim.

STREWL HIDDEN

The fact that Dan O'Connell is letting him strictly alone—even though he played an important role in the final ransom negotiations—has disturbed Attorney Snyder. He said this silent treatment is placing him in a false light.

Shrewl, meanwhile, has been taken in hand by District Attorney John T. Delaney, who is working in close harmony with Dan O'Connell. No one outside of Delaney and a few police officials know Strewl's exact whereabouts. He has been "detained" several days.

Snyder asserted:

"Dan O'Connell knows many things—told him by Strewl and myself—which have not been made public. If they can't clean this case up from the information we have given something is wrong."

'ARDEN' BACK AND WINS WIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Alexander G. Standridge, legally, declared dead, has returned after an absence of 12 years to find his wife remarried and his daughter adopted by her stepfather. But the wife said she planned to remarry Standridge when her divorce decree became final.

The situation was disclosed in a suit on file in Superior Court here today by Standridge and his former wife, Wilhelmina, against her second husband, Wilfrid Page, a cook.

The action asked that the adoption of Standridge's daughter be nullified because Standridge is alive and "willing and anxious to assume his rightful obligations."

Mrs. Page said she felt her former husband's 12-year disappearance was caused by a head injury he suffered during the World War. Standridge said the 12 years were spent working in Canada Alaska and various parts of the United States.

WOMAN KILLED BY 3-STORY PLUNGE

North Side Wife Dies In Fall Following Quarrel in Home

Mrs. Margaret O'Connor, 24, died in Presbyterian Hospital early today of injuries received a few hours before. According to police she fell or leaped from a kitchen window of her third-floor apartment at 811 Concord street, North Side, after a quarrel with her husband, a city fireman.

Patrick O'Connor, 28, the husband, told Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in North Side Police Court today that he was in an adjoining room while his wife was in the kitchen. She screamed, he said, and when he ran to the kitchen, she was lying in a yard three floors below. They had had a quarrel, he said, and she had threatened to leave home. Rothenberg turned him over to the homicide squad for further questioning.

Neighbors found Mrs. O'Connor unconscious in the back yard of the apartment building and she was taken to the hospital in an automobile commandeered by her husband.

She died without regaining consciousness.

Police said neighbors told them that in March Mrs. O'Connor attempted to throw herself from a window after a quarrel, but was prevented by her husband.

To the detectives O'Connor was said to have admitted he and his wife quarreled. Mrs. O'Connor said she was leaving and began packing up her clothes, the detectives said.

They quoted him as saying:

"I was smoking a cigaret in the bedroom and my wife was in the kitchen. Suddenly, I heard screams in the back of the house. I looked out the window and saw neighbors lifting my wife from the yard. I ran down and helped take her to the hospital."

The third-floor window is about 25 feet above the concrete yard. Glass in a window in a second-floor apartment was shattered as she hurtled through space, the detectives said.

IL DUCE'S KISS TO GREET BALBO

ROME, Aug. 3.—(Universal.)—Premier Mussolini today decreed that Gen. Italo Balbo, air minister leading Italy's American aerial armada, be accorded the same triumphal ceremonies on his return as were the conquering heroes who returned from battle in the days of ancient imperial Rome.

At a ceremony at Ostia, Rome's port, Il Duce will embrace Balbo and plant the kiss of honor on both cheeks of the spade-bearded air chieftain.

Then Balbo and virtually the entire Italian air force will be escorted into Rome, passing through the ancient Triumphal Arch of Constantine.

(Copyright, 1933, Universal Service, Inc.)

SHOAL HARBOR, Newfoundland, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Gen. Italo Balbo and his air armada, impatient to hop across the Atlantic Ocean, will probably be held here at least until Saturday, it appeared today.

Winds, rain and fog kept the aviators indoors.

Ruth Nichols to Fly For Amelia's Record

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Ruth Nichols, society aviatrix, of Rye, N. Y., plans to hop off early tomorrow in an effort to shatter the West Coast to East Coast airplane speed record of 17 hours, 7 minutes now held by Amelia Earhart.

Miss Nichols' plane has a 220-mile-an-hour top speed.

Fire Periling Wife, Children Holds Man

VINELAND, N. J., Aug. 3.—(INS.)—John Lawson, 40, alleged to have attempted to cremate his wife and five children by leaving them asleep in their home which he had saturated with kerosene and ignited, was captured in a wooded section near Williamstown and charged with arson.

Neighbors, who entered the flame swept house early today with wet rags over their faces, rescued Mrs. Lawson and the children. The house was destroyed.

Two Babies Abandoned; Nurse, 8, Gets No Dime

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Catherine Kearns is just eight years old and not inclined to spurn an offer of 10 cents to watch two little babies for 10 minutes.

A lady pushing a perambulator in front of Fifth Avenue Hospital at tea time last evening stopped Catherine. She said she would give her a dime if she would watch the children just long enough for the lady to go into the hospital for a drink of water.

Catherine watched the babies, one four months, the other 18 months old. The 10 minutes passed, a half hour, an hour. The lady hadn't come back. Catherine was getting tired and she was late for supper. Still, one cannot leave two little babies.

She sat down on the curb. Then she got up and looked to see if the babies were all right. Then she sat down again. It was very hot, and she was very hungry.

Two hours passed—three, four; the lady had not returned. Catherine began to worry about getting her dime, about getting her supper and about getting a spanking for staying out so late. Why didn't the lady hurry?

A policeman questioned the child. The babies were taken to the police station and then to a foundling hospital.

Catherine went wearily home. It was an arduous evening for 10 cents, especially when she didn't get it.

N. Y. City Police Coatless First Time in History

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—For the first time in the history of the Police Department New York's City's 17,000 finest may pound the pavements in their shirtsleeves.

The order went out bright and early this morning after a revolutionary one-man experiment in the midst of the heat wave yesterday.

Officer Flynn, perspiring on his beat, got a call from headquarters. The chief inspector said:

"Take off your coat."

Replied Flynn:

"Can't. I'm still on duty."

The inspector explained:

"It's an experiment."

So Flynn went coatless while his fellow officers sweltered.

And they perked up with interest when they read todays order, but another development since yesterday took some of the edge off their enthusiasm.

The heat wave was broken and a cooling breeze was blowing off the Hudson.

U. S. PRESSES SPENDING DRIVE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Mobilization of the buying power of the nation was under way today as the next big step in the recovery program.

Preparations are being made to launch a campaign throughout the nation which will seek to utilize the spending ability of those who have any, backed up by the new-made dollars of those whom it is hoped to add to the payrolls before the snow flies.

COMMITTEES FORMED

The latter phase of the recovery effort is getting under way as the committees in state and local communities organize. Backing up this national move were the pledges of additional thousands of local firms, each with the prospect of increased employment as the agreement takes effect.

Stimulating further the employment effort, Hugh S. Johnson, the national administrator, eased the terms of the blanket code for a larger group, as he had done earlier for the retail food and chain stores.

The effect was an immediate signing of approximately 20,000 banks, and the adherence under temporary agreements, pending adoption of formal codes, of a group of major industrial manufacturers, including among others, the electrical manufacturers, the radio industry and a number of textile manufacturers.

Work continued with the cotton garment code, successful termination of which will mean, according to R. O. Kennedy, Troy (N. Y.) manufacturer, additional employment of 40,000 to 50,000 workers.

There was a promise the petroleum code would finally be completed, after threatened deadlocks throughout the week, while committees were attempting to agree on controverted points.

Reinforced pressure for price-fixing was brought to bear through Gov. Alfalfa Bill Murray, Oklahoma; F. P. Walsh, of the Consolidated oil interests; Ernest Thompson, Texas Railroad Commissioner, and others.

LEASING FIGHT

J. F. Faulkner, of Baltimore, representing filling stations, urged abolition of the leasing and licensing system. On this point it appeared the committees were prepared to leave a decision to the Federal Trade Commission. If that body does not act within 60 days, it has been decided, Johnson will be permitted to include a provision in whatever code is finally adopted.

Meanwhile, it virtually has been agreed, until the Federal Trade Commission acts, new contracts under the present system will be banned and no renewed contracts under one year will be allowed.

Under executive order the wool textile code will become law August 14. It establishes a minimum wage of $14 in the North and $13 in the South for a 40-hour week in both sections, with no exemptions for learners or other class of workers.

Forty-three per cent of those now engaged, it is estimated, are now receiving less than the prescribed minimum wage, so that enactment of the code means adding approximately $100,000 per week to the payroll, as the average is now $12.40 per week.

Approximately 27,000 additional workers will be required, by reason of the shorter work hours.

BIG INCREASE

Their added wages, under the minimums allowed, amounts to $378,000 besides the increased amount of the payroll, making a total increase of $478,000 per week alone.

Agreement was near also on hours and wages involved in the cast iron and soil pipe industry, hearings on which have been in progress. Workers are holding out for a 24-hour week, a guaranteed minimum of $25 per week, and no employment under 18 years, and no apprentices until the present unemployed are absorbed.

The employers' code offers a 30-hour week and wages of 25 cents up to 30 cents per hour, the latter for the Pacific Coast, and 35 cents for Northern sections.

Blue Eagle Missing, Iowa Miners Strike

MELCHER, Ia., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Three hundred miners walked out of the Indiana Consolidated Coal Company mine No. 2, owned by the Rock Island Railroad, because the blue eagle insignia of the National Recovery Administration was not on display.

Status of Codes For Major Industries

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The status of codes of fair practice presented by major industries and trades and pending before the Recovery Administration:

STEEL—Hearing held, labor terms, production and price control features being ironed out in private conferences.

COAL—Hearings moved up to August 9 to hurry solution of labor troubles.

AUTOMOBILES—On file for hearing probably around August 15.

RETAIL TRADE (except food and drugs)—Set for hearing August 14, with labor terms temporarily in effect on voluntary basis.

BANKING—Temporarily in effect; hearing date to be set.

FOOD DEALERS—Temporarily in effect on voluntary basis; hearing date pending.

LUMBER—Hearings over, revision nearly completed.

A collection of codes for textile lines and branches of the clothing industry also are in various stages of development, with a miscellany of agreements ranging from a theater code to one for wallpaper manufacturers.

SEES MINERS WIN ON CODE

Belief that the Recovery Act directors will side with the union and independent coal operators against the Mellon and Rockefeller interests on the coal code, was expressed last night by Congressman Henry Ellenbogen.

Speaking over radio station WJAS, Ellenbogen explained the operation of the National Recovery Act and enumerated its eventual benefits to the American working man and their employers. He said:

"I am inclined to believe that the administration in Washington will side with the union and the independent coal operators against the Mellon and Rockefeller interests."

Ellenbogen, who yesterday toured the Fayette County strike area to investigate conditions, explained that the Recovery Act provides that anyone who violates the provisions of the code is subject to fine, imprisonment and injunction.

Plane Pilots Drop Pay Boost Demands

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Airplane pilots who have been negotiating with the companies for higher pay the last three days agreed yesterday to table their differences temporarily and to cooperate with the transport companies in drafting a code.

The wage dispute arose when the companies recently changed from a mileage basis to an hourly scale. The pilots held that the change meant in effect a reduction in pay because of the increasing speed at which the planes are operated.

TRADE HIGHEST SINCE 1930

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Steady expansion of industrial activity during July pushed output to the highest levels since the middle of 1930 and within 89 per cent of the 1923-1925 average, the Commerce Department announced today.

Activity continued throughout July, but there was some tendency for a seasonal leveling off, although there was no serious break.

Steel ingot production reached a peak of 56 per cent of capacity in the second week of July, following which operations showed a tendency to sag.

Automobile production has held up well and the output in the first three weeks of July was maintained at a rate comparing favorably with June. Electric power production has eased off after reaching a high in the final week of June, although the output remains considerably in excess of a year ago and reflects a continuation of a high rate of industrial activity.

Indexes of distribution indicated a continuation in consumer purchasing. During June it was indicated that employment increased by 500,000.

Newspaper advertising was well maintained in June and only fractionally lower than in May.

LIMITS ON DEBT MAY BAR AID TO CITIES

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 3.—Many Pennsylvania municipalities, already indebted to their legal limits, may not be able to take advantage of the public works provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

An opinion from the Department of Justice today ruled that municipal subdivisions will be held to constitutional limitations which permit indebtedness of not more than 2 per cent of the assessed valuation.

Harris C. Arnold, Deputy Attorney General, wrote the opinion at the request of Lewis E. Staley, Secretary of Forests and Waters.

The procedure involved under the act would be for the Federal government to construct a public building or some other public work, and in doing so would acquire title to the completed project. The government would then lease the project to the municipal subdivision in which it is located, giving the municipality an option to purchase at the end of a specified time.

The ruling said:

"In our opinion the making of a contract between the municipal subdivision and the United States whereby a public works project was to be constructed by the United States and held by it under a lease agreement would be the incurring or indebtedness by the municipality.

"If the amount of such indebtedness carried the total debt of the municipality beyond the constitutional limit, the transaction would be void."

Public Works Board To Grant More Funds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Allotments from the public works fund, which have passed the billion dollar mark, were to be further increased today by the public works board.

With plans in the making for slum clearance projects in several cities, the board was expected to adopt a policy at its meeting.

Proposals are before the board for the financing of modern tenement houses on a big scale, which would provide low-rent housing for many workers. Linked with this is the proposal for housing in the suburbs of big cities, where workers can raise part of their own foodstuffs.

FILM INDUSTRY TO FORM CODE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The motion picture industry was told yesterday by the National Recovery Administration to adjust internal differences and come forward quickly with a code of fair competition to regulate wages and hours.

Sol A. Rosenblatt, the deputy administrator assigned to handle the industry, telegraphed the various organizations calling upon them to meet in New York August 8 to form a code and present it to the administration.

The legitimate stage already has presented a code applicable to chorus girls, musicians, actors, dramatists and all others connected with the dramatic or musical comedy life.

CONTRACTORS BACK CODE

HARRISBURG, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The national code for contractors is backed by the Associated Pennsylvania Constructors.

More than 200 Pennsylvania contractors, members and nonmembers of the state association, yesterday approved the codes, which fixes working hours for their industry at 150 per month where practicable and feasible.

Wage minimums are to be established locally by agreement between employers and employes. Where such agreements are not made, minimums established in each state under the national code are to prevail.

Speakers included Walter S. Rae, of Pittsburgh.

Rubber Industry Works on Code

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Leaders of the rubber industry were still at work today drafting a code for the industry for presentation to the National Recovery Administration.

R. W. Lea, newly assigned deputy of the NRA for the rubber code, said there was no indication as yet as to when an agreement would be ready for a hearing, or when a date for a hearing would be set.

CAN'T ABOLISH CONTRACTS, NRA SAYS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The Recovery Administration ruled today it could not attempt to abrogate contracts existing as a result of collective bargaining between capital and labor.

Employers who find themselves unable to adjust such contracts will be permitted to display the NRA Blue Eagle, if they conform as much as they otherwise can to the wage-raising, employment increasing movement.

Donald R. Richberg, general counsel for the Recovery Administration, pointed out that the paragraph in President Roosevelt's blanket agreement proposing "equitable readjustments" of the higher brackets of pay and no reductions applied to wages based upon days, weeks or months and not hours.

INTERPRETATION

Under the interpretation, if an employer has a contract providing that he give a specific number of hours of employment weekly, 24 for instance, at a specified rate per hour, he would not be compelled to change it.

However, if the contract related merely to pay per hour without specifying the number of hours of employment to be given, Richberg said the employer would be expected to come within the maximum hour provision as a means of spreading employment. He declared:

"We are faced with a flat fact. We can't abrogate contracts, and we can't deny an employer who has a contract arrived by collective bargaining the right to use the Blue Eagle."

The paragraph to which the interpretation applies in the agreement with the employer reads:

"Not to reduce the compensation for employment now in excess of the minimum wages hereby agreed to notwithstanding that the hours work in such employment may be hereby reduced) and to increases the pay for such employment by an equitable readjustment of all pay schedules."

The interpretation issued today reads:

"Paragraph prevents the reduction of compensation in excess of the minimum, whether it is paid by the hour, day, week or month.

"Therefore, an employe previously paid by the day, week or month, will receive as much for the shorter day, week or month.

"An employe previously paid by the hour will reduce his actual earnings per day or week his compensation per hour is to be increased by an equitable readjustment.

NO FIXED RULE

"There is no fixed rule which can be applied to determine what is an equitable readjustment. In general, it will be equitable to figure what the employe would have earned at his previous rate per hour in a normal week in the industry, and then to increase the hourly rate so as to give him substantially the same compensation as he would have gotten for that normal week.

"But consideration must be given to other factors, including: Is the existing rate high or low compared with the average rate paid in the industry? Will the resulting adjustment result in an unfair competitive advantage to other employes or other trades or industries? Will a long standing wage differential be lost if there is no increase in the existing rate?

"Where an employer is bound by the terms of a contract with a labor organization entered into as the result of bona fide collective bargaining and he is unable to effect a change in such contract by agreement in order to comply with the terms of the President's re-employment agreement, he may certify his compliance with the President's agreement with the following exception 'Except as required to comply with the terms of agreements between the undersigned and (name of labor organization).

"It should be understood that this exception can be made only in the case of a contract not subject to change at the discretion of the employer and then only after a certified copy of the contract has been filed with the National Recovery Administration and its approval has been given to the exception stated."

TEACHERS' AID PLEDGED NRA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—School teachers of the nation were being recruited today to aid NRA.

The National Education Association broadcast a letter to all teachers and school executives, asking them to give 100 per cent co-operation to the Roosevelt recovery program, to explain it to pupils when schools open again in the fall, and co-operate with local officials in carrying it out.

The letter said:

"Give strength to the President's arm."

NRA May Close Cemeteries Earlier

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Reports were current that earlier closing of cemeteries generally throughout the country may follow adoption of the 40-hour week under the National Recovery Administration. The Cook County Cemetery Association will meet tonight to talk about the new code.

BANKS GET CODE RULES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Fourteen thousand banks, members of the American Bankers' Association, and 6,000 others, nonmembers, yesterday joined the industrial recovery movement under a modified presidential reemployment agreement.

It calls for minimum wages of $12 a week in towns of less than 2,500 population and $15 a week in cities of over half a million for a 40-hour week.

TEMPORARY CODE

As in the case of other modifications of the President's agreement including retailers and food distributors and electrical manufacturing, the code for the bankers will be in effect pending formal presidential approval of a permanent code.

The wage and hour provision of the code, which substitutes for similar paragraphs in the President's agreement follows:

"No banking employe shall work in any bank for more than 40 hours in any one week on an average of a five-week period (such an average being necessary owing to the periodic settlements, payments or emergencies in serving the public, over all of which the bank has no control). The hours of any banking operation shall not be reduced below the hours now obtaining in each individual bank.

"This provision for working hours shall not apply to guards and watchmen employed to safeguard the assets of the bank who cannot be shifted or changed during the night period.

MAXIMUM HOURS

"The maximum hours shall not apply to employes in banking establishments employing less than two persons in towns of less than 2,500 population which towns are not part of a larger trade area; nor to employes in a managerial or executive capacity, or in any other capacity of distinction or sole responsibility who now receive more than $35 per week. Population for the purpose of this agreement shall be determined by reference to the 1930 federal census.

SUTRO ATTACKS COMPROMISE OIL CODE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—A dramatic attack on the compromise industrial code for the oil industry, redrafted by the NRA, was waged today under the leadership of Oscar Sutro, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company of California.

The chief basis of Sutro's attack was the refusal of the administration to sanction oil price fixing.

He was aided in his fight against the compromised code by Wirt C. Franklin, of Oklahoma, a leading spokesman for independent producers.

Sutro said:

"I voice the feeling of a large part of the oil industry represented at the Chicago conference when I say this code is no answer to the industry's problems. It increases the burden of the industry and does nothing, as I see it, to carry out the liberal views of the liberal President.

'We think you have flinched on the economic question which the administration should face and solve—that is the price question."

Sutro declared "this industry is bleeding."

He asked where the operators would get the money to pay the increases in labor costs provided in the code, adding they were now conducting their business at a tremendous loss.

The code was attacked and defended at today's final public hearing.

Denying the claim advanced by Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, that he lacked power to fix oil prices, Sutro asserted:

"I haven't heard any reason advanced why Johnson could not fix prices. The Supreme Court held against child labor a pitiable decision. Did that stop Johnson from forcing on industry an anti-child labor provision? Happily, no."

Philip Kemp, deputy administrator presiding at the hearing, interrupted to say that Sutro was covering ground already thoroughly discussed at previous meetings.

Speaking in behalf of the "Emergency National Committee of 54," formed at the Chicago conference, Franklin vigorously supported Sutro's plea for price control. He said:

"Any code adopted that leaves out the fixing of a fair and equitable price for crude oil will be a dismal failure and a disappointment to the administration."

He insisted that the code include provisions limiting oil imports to the average of the last six months and withdrawals from storage to 100 barrels daily. He also demanded more rigid restrictions to limit excess drilling.

C. B. Ames, chairman of the Texas Corporation, stated the committee of 15, representing a number of the big oil companies, had been unable to agree on the code provisions.

Jack Blalock, of Texas, another spokesman for the committee of 15 warned that any attempt by the federal government to control production within a state would be fought vigorously by major companies and numerous independents.

HORNE'S

Linens and Tropicals

Regularly Up to $16.50

$9.75

Here it is, men . . . our annual clearance of Summer Suits! Don't swelter another day in a hot, wool suit—when comfort and smartness may be bought at this low price!

The Linen Suits are white and natural color but the Tropicals—which are in the majority—include plenty of quiet, dark stripes and checks, indistinguishable from the wool business suit except for weight. But, oh my, what a difference here—just one-third the weight of the usual wool suit! Hundreds of suits . . . popular summer models, both single and double breasted, ALL SIZES.

The appeal is quickened by the recognition of our Men's Store as Pittsburgh headquarters for smart summer clothing. Look to immediate wear (August is the hottest month of the year, and September temperatures are frequently not far behind), and to next summer, while these clothing values prevail.

The August Hudson Seals*

Are From "Specialists"

This store is always famous for its Hudson Seal* Coats, because we buy exclusively from houses that specialize in Hudson Seal, alone; which means that they concentrate on its quality, on the most expert methods of tailoring this particular fur, and on its smartest and latest styling. Also, these "specialists" confine their product to Horne's exclusively, for this city.

And with all that, our prices are strikingly moderate on these superior coats, possible because we contracted for them long before price advances started, that are apparently going to make furs higher than in many years.

$145 $185 $245

This season's Hudson Seal Coats are unusually chic and animated in style, with swagger models, dress types with the new silhouette, new sleeves and small, youthful collars. Our large collection includes untrimmed coats, and models trimmed with silver fox, real mink, black Persian lamb and krimmer . . . For junior-misses, for misses, for women in sizes up to 44, and shorter women who require half sizes.

OLD-STYLE BARS DISCOVERED BY BEER SLEUTH

A survey of more than two score retail beer dispensaries in downtown, East End, South Side and North Side sections yesterday revealed that:

A majority of the beer sellers are conformng to the law.

That one out of five failed to "anchor" counter-chairs.

That some maintain old-fashioned bars in defiance of the law.

That beer-drinking, spread over intervals during the day, produces no anti-social effect, the investigator being able to spell pizzicato, phthisis and other difficult words at the end of the day.

The Pennsylvania beer law states:

"No retailer shall maintain any bar at which beverages are served to customers except in a room in view of the public, but this shall not be interpreted to prohibit sale of beverages at a lunch counter with seats or chairs permanently fastened thereto."

BARS BUSY

Three downtown bars hummed merrily, with men and women bending the elbow and resting their feet on the rail. No "seats permanently fastened" were visible.

One—perhaps the handsomest beer garden in the city—had neglected to fasten its high backed, mahogany chairs down, although they were lined up neatly against the bar. In the suburbs and outside districts of the city, a half dozen more "unanchored chair" bars were visible. Some were former food counters, some were old soda fountains. Merely pinning two of the chairs down would have meant conformity to the law—but they didn't conform.

TRUCKS UNLABELED

And the law states:

"It shall be unlawful for a manufacturer to deliver any beverages excepting in vehicles bearing the name and address of such distributor or manufacturer on each side in letters no smaller than four inches in height."

Two small trucks, with cases labeled with the name of a beer company, had no distributor identification on the right side. And traffic and the heat and a natural apathy prevented the investigator from dashing around in front of the moving trucks to see the left sides.

And the law states:

"The treasurer shall issue to the person who conducts a reputable hotel or incorporated club or a reputable bona fide eating place where food is regularly and customarily prepared and sold and who makes application upon a form as hereinafter provided, and who pays a fee and files a bond, a retailer's license for such place."

And again:

"It shall be unlawful . . . to sell or consume on premises . . . without a license."

And elsewhere the law demands the license be shown in a conspicuous place, and that an "eating place" means a room having no less than 300 square feet, equipped with table to seat 40 persons at one time, and in rooms visible from the street.

PERMITS NOT VISIBLE

But in one haven, with beer 10 cents a bottle, and not bad at that, no license was visible, there were only eight chairs around three tables, six unanchored stools were in front of a soda fountain, and no food was served.

But the store was 300 feet and visible to passerbys—it is on one of the city's busie corners.

Several other places, especially one in Mt. Lebanon and one in Oakland, couldn't squeeze 40 Singer midgets or "living skeletons" into them.

But the majority of retailers are obeying the law punctiliously.

Counterfeit Money Suspect Arrested

Martin Braun, 28, alias John Mitnick, charged with passing counterfeit $10 and $20 bills in Philadelphia, Baltimore and Wilmington, was arrested yesterday in Ambridge by Chief of Police John Flocker at the request of the Secret Service Department of the government. Braun will be taken to Baltimore Saturday.

COUNTY TO BURY DROWNED BOY

An uptown undertaker today volunteered to provide a funeral for John Stachaszewski, 14, of 617 Parkview boulevard, O'Hara Township, drowned in the Allegheny River at Sharpsburg, Tuesday.

The boy's body was taken to the morgue when it developed his parents had no funds for burial. William A. Dunn, funeral director of 1928 Fifth avenue, called Deputy Coroner Stanley Guzenski at the county morgue and offered a casket and services gratis.

Morgue attaches communicated with Sharpsburg police and were informed funeral arrangements had been made with a Sharpsburg undertaking establishment, and that the cost would be paid by the county.

CAPTURES HUGE BEE SWARM

About 50,000 Italian bees, stranded in Frick Park for the last three weeks, were captured yesterday by Motorcycle Patrolman George Wood and taken to his apiary at Warrendale.

The swarm was the largest of the 27 he has captured so far this summer.

Familiar with farm life, Wood studied bee keeping and became the bee expert of the police force. He finds it easier to capture a swarm than to direct traffic.

In the capture yesterday, Wood was assisted by K. H. Kingsford, park forester. Wood sawed the limb on which the bees were swarming and with the aid of a little smoke persuaded the queen to enter a wooden box. The rest followed her.

REOPEN BUTLER ROAD SATURDAY

The Pittsburgh-Butler highway, Route 8, will be opened to motor traffic Saturday, the Pittsburgh Motor Club touring bureau reported today.

Closed since last November, a stretch between Wildwood and the Butler County line was relocated and widened.

While the road was closed, another link of several miles was completed between Allison Park and Glenshaw. Tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad were moved several hundred feet, two dangerous grade crossings were eliminated and the course of Pine Creek was diverted to eliminate construction of bridges.

ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY ASSAILED

Advocating the building of the Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal and opposing ratification of the St. Lawrence Treaty, A. J. P. Vandermyn, president of the Propeller Club of Pittsburgh, spoke last night over station KDKA.

The club's attitude, he said, is taken in the belief that American money should be used for projects wholly within the United States and for the employment of American labor. Vandermyn said:

"Pittsburgh cannot experience any direct advantage from the building of the St. Lawrence Waterway, but Pittsburgh can enjoy a tremendous advantage from the building of the Lake Erie and Ohio Rivel Canal. It is an all-American project, bringing direct benefit to more than 70,000,000 Americans, living within a radius of 500 miles of Pittsburgh, through reduction in transportation charges."

BLOW TO U. S. FARMERS

He said the St. Lawrence treaty gives the Canadian farmer a great advantage over American wheat growers, threatening to eliminate the American farmer as a factor in the Liverpool markets. He continued:

"The treaty obligates the United States to assume 65 per cent of the total cost, and so more than $1,000,000,000 will be our contribution to a project 90 per cent of which lies within Canadian territory.

"While this treaty provides for a great waterway direct from the Canadian wheat port to the world markets, it shuts down water diversion at Chicago to a point where it renders a commercially successful Lakes-to-the-Gulf waterway impossible, and thereby denies the American wheat farmer an opportunity to utilize the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway."

LAUDS U. S. ROUTE

He pointed out that in contrast, the Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal is fair, economically sound and a real public necessity. He asserted that the United States engineers have admitted the project is feasible from every point of view. The territory to be served is badly in need of better and cheaper transportation, and water traffic is the cheapest known, he declared, continuing:

"We are advocating the early completion of this canal, because the route, including the improved Ohio, Monongahela and Allegheny rivers, will serve the docks of most of the large mills in Eastern Ohio, Western Pennsylvania and Northern West Virginia, including all plants located on tributaries of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. It will make possible shipments to foreign ports from this district via the Ohio River, Mississippi River and Gulf of Mexico to the ocean."

He decuared completion of the canal would add to American security in war time, providing an outlet for the large munitions tonnage produced in this district.

Party to Celebrate Reopening of Street

A street dance, mushball game, cakewalk and races will be staged by the residents of Cobden street, Sixteenth Ward, to celebrate the resurfacing and opening of their street Saturday.

A number of speakers will be heard. The St. Clair Board of Trade took up the fight four years ago for improvements on the street.

MINNESOTA AIDS JOBLESS BOYS

ST. PAUL, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—A project was under way today to improve the lot of 225,000 youthful Minnesotans, many of whom have hunted work in vain, by furthering their education.

State officials believe it is the first undertaking of its kind.

Terming the young people "guardians of the destinies of the American people," Gov. Floyd B Olson yesterday appointed a committee of 31 state leaders to study methods of solving the problem of jobless youth.

He suggested that in the absence of opportunity for jobs, some means be found to send them to school.

Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, has estimated $50,000 would cover the cost of sending the unemployed young people to public or private educational institutions during the coming winter.

Murphy Arraigned On Murder Charge

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Lee Dwight Murphy, accused of killing his bride seven years ago, pleaded not guilty to a charge of murder in Superior Court yesterday. He was returned here recently from Pittsburgh, after a seven-year search for him.

He was indicted on a charge of killing Nellie Cornelia Buttles Murphy, a Fresno (Cal.) musician, in their home at Long Beach December 10, 1926.

13 Injured as Bus Crashes Into Truck

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Skidding on a wet pavement was blamed today for a bus accident in which 13 passengers were injured, nine seriously, last night. The bus crashed into a truck.

Among the injured were Frances Ebner, 16, Kittnersville, Pa., and Mrs. Celia Cascai and her daughter, Thelma, Emaus, Pa.

GLAVIS REGAINS JOB STANDING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Louis R. Glavis, director of investigation for the Interior Department, who was dismissed in the famous Pinchot-Ballinger dispute of the Taft administration, today was restored to his old civil service rights by an executive order of President Roosevelt.

The action was recommended by Secretary of the Interior Ickes as the righting of an old wrong.

Glavis, who was a field division chief for the Interior Department, sprang into the national spotlight 25 years ago when he objected to the confirmation of coal land claims in Alaska. He claimed fraud.

After a congressional investigation and a dispute which nearly split the Taft cabinet, the then Secretary of the Interior Ballinger was upheld by Taft and Glavis was dismissed. He was recalled by the present administration.

Lasky Seeks Delay In Meeting Debts

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—A petition requesting an extension of time in which to meet his obligations was filed in Federal Court today by Jesse L. Lasky, pioneer film producer.

He said he was unable to meet his debts as they mature and that he desired to effect an agreement with his creditors under the provisions of the recently amended bankruptcy act. He listed total liabilities as $2,020,024.24 and assets of $134,718.93.

Janet Gaynor Signs New Fox Contract

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The Fox Studios announced last night that Janet Gaynor, screen star, had signed a new long-time contract to appear under its banner.

Miss Gaynor, after signing the contract, left Los Angeles incognito on an extensive vacation trip.

PICKET RULING STIRS UNREST AT MINES

By Al GOUGH,
Staff Correspondent

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 3.—The Connellsville coke region seethed with an unrest today as national guardsmen and state police enforced to the letter the Pinchot agreement to regulate mine picketing. The labor controversy spread to another H. C. Frick Coke Company mine, a shirt factory and a dry cleaning plant.

Two Frick deputies were arrested in connection with the fatal shooting of Louis Podorsky, of Colonial No. 3, last Tuesday. No open disorders occurred, although picketing activities on a score of fronts kept the guardsmen and troopers on the jump and the citizens in a state of expectation.

SHIRT FACTORY STRIKE

The Frick-owned Leith mine, employing about 300 men, was forced to suspend operations after a mass picket demonstration at daybreak. More than 1,000 men and women, marching across company property, massed on the Baltimore and Ohio and the Pennsylvania tracks, and in addition to keeping the miners out, they induced women and girls of the Berkowitz shirt factory to join them.

The Berkowitz factory had a strike six weeks ago over a threatened wage cut. The workers charged sweatshop conditions. Between 400 and 500 girls and women are employed in the factory.

Following the shirt company demonstration, several hundred girls accompanied by a handful of miners marched on the French Dry Cleaning plant in the vicinity of Continental No. 1 mine, where men struck yesterday. About 50 of the 100 men and women employed in the plant joined the strikers.

DEPUTIES HELD

The Frick deputies were taken into custody by state police last night, it was announced by District Attorney Wade K. Newell. They are William C. Black and Jack C. Brosius, company guards at Colonial No. 3 mine, before which the shooting occurred. No charges have been lodged against them, but they are being held in the county jail.

Both men are residents of Uniontown. Black, according to his mother, did not participate in the shooting. She says her son suffered head injuries in a clash with pickets several days ago. His head was swathed in bandages when he was taken to jail.

COLONIAL NO. 3 GUARDED

Notification of the strikers' intention to picket Colonial No. 3 mine brought guardsmen to this Frick camp early. A machine gun was set up above the road and the highway was patrolled by infantrymen with fixed bayonets. The pickets collected in small groups and chatted together. There was no excitement.

A meeting of miners' representatives from practically every local in the district last night brought answers to a number of questions which have been puzzling the men during the past few days, and the adoption of two resolutions.

The first resolution hit at the H. C. Frick Coke Company's policy of forestalling state and county relief by extending credit to the striking miners who, if they take advantage of it, must pay it back to the company after the strike. The motion, offered by Matt Ryan, president of the Colonial No. 4 local, declared:

"If the Frick Company has money to contribute to charity, let it turn it into the county relief board for distribution instead of putting miners further into debt."

The motion was carried unanimously as was one offered by District President William Feeney, calling upon Gen. Johnson to bring about "immediate action on the coal code in Washington."

AGENTS ATTEND

Stephen Raushenbaush, representing Gov. Pinchot, called the meeting, which was attended by Miss Elizabeth Wight, Philadelphia Security League investigator; Joseph Washington, of the State Department of Labor, and H. D. Friel, of the United States Department of Labor.

In the Pittsburgh district, men quit at several more mines. Two hundred and fifty walked out at the Cokeburg plant of the Bethlehem Mines Corporation, 400 at the Gibson mine of the Hillman Coal and Coke Company, and others at the Ontario Gas and Light Company mine at Ontario, and the Soudan mine of the Valley Camp Coal Company.

Three hundred men, women and children marched this morning at two Marianna mines and a crowd of 1,000 from Bentleyville and Ellsworth was headed off by Sheriff J. A. Seaman and deputies as they marched on the Ontario mine.

Thief's Calling Cards Lead to Arrest

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—A thief visited the apartment of Miss Anna Merkens, stole her purse, but dropped several of his calling cards.

Police read the address and arrested Benjamin Thomas, 24, in whose home they said they found the purse.

WOMAN FIRES ON PICKETS

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 3.—A shooting by a woman during the picketing at Continental No. 1 mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Company yesterday provided the only excitement in the coke region strike. No one was hurt, but for more than an hour the strikers milled around the mine, just beyond the Uniontown city limits. State police and national guardsmen were called.

When the guards and troopers arrived they were shown a formidable looking bread knife which Charles Lowery, of Jamison, told them he had taken from a boy, John Peterson, Negro, 18, according to rumors circulating then, was said to have brandished the knife in the crowd and later, while being chased, gave it to Michael Kodric, 7. It was while the crowd was chasing Peterson, whose father was working in the mine yesterday, that Mrs. Sadie Reed, wife of a stationary engineer in the mine, fired her revolver over the heads of the pursuers, causing them to abandon the chase.

State police made no arrests. The Kodric boy finally admitted, according to police, he had not been given the knife by Peterson, but by several men in the company store who told him to blame it on the Negro.

The mine was ordered closed following yesterday's picketing.

PINCHOT FAVORS MINE TOWN BAN

Gov. Pinchot today agreed that the closed company town should be abolished.

In a letter to the League for Social Justice, made public by Secretary Rose Klein, the Governor wrote:

"I heartily agree with your letter to Gen. Johnson about closed company towns. These communities where houses, stores and streets are owned by the employers, where everyone who enters or leaves must pass the inspection of private police, do not belong in America's system of government. If constitutional rights cannot be enforced in a company town, the company town must go.

"I hope that the bituminous coal code will provide that these towns be incorporated as rapidly as possible."

His letter was a reply to a copy of one sent out by the league to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, head of the National Recovery Administration.

Sapiro Flight From U. S. Denied

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Reports from Chicago that Aaron Sapiro, widely known attorney indicted recently in the mid-western city on a racketeering charge, had applied for a passport to leave the country were denied today by his counsel, David Siegel.

HERO'S BURIAL FOR SLAIN PICKET

By DAVID H. ROSENTHAL
Staff Correspondent.

ALLISON, Pa., Aug. 3.—The bleak company-owned house of Louis M. Podorsky, 38-year-old war veteran and martyr to the coal miners' cause, today stands as a shrine towards which the lagging feet of thousands of Podorsky's striking buddies have turned from picket line to mourners' row.

These gaunt-faced buddies are trudging day and night to pay their respects to the saddened widow and three fatherless children. It was on the picket line that Podorsky met death.

He had faced the grim reaper many times before in the battle of life. In the World War it was shrapnel and gas. The slight limp when he walked came from a shell wound, and that hardly perceptible hacking cough—that came from the gas. He was hailed as a hero and given two bright gold wound stripes to wear.

Once again on the front line, fighting for a cause in which he had infinitely more personal interest, he felt the sharp twinge of shot. He wasn't expecting it this time. His was a mission of peaceful picketing in a war in which he was at a disadvantage. He could not fight back against bullets.

But bullets struck him down, and he died.

Three fatherless children are still wondering what it's all about. His grief-stricken widow is too stunned to think much about it. His buddies, sorrowing and wondering who will be next, grimly face the saddened family.

The best they can do is give Podorsky a hero's funeral. Saturday morning they will hold services in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church at Brownsville. Later in the day they'll take part in a full military tribute to their departed buddy.

Podorsky's body will lie in state at the American Legion home in Connellsville until 3 p. m. With military pomp and full Legion regalia another service will be held at the graveside in St. John's Slovak Cemetery, Connellsville.

Strikers and war veterans from all over the coke region are expected to turn out.

BLAME SHERIFF FOR SHOOTINGS

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 3.—William Feeney, president of District No. 4, United Mine Workers, last night charged the H. C. Frick Coke Company and Sheriff Harry E. Hackney, of Fayette County, with responsibility for the wounding of six pickets in the Star Junction strike zone Tuesday.

"These deputy gunmen, paid by the Frick company and deputized by Sheriff Hackney, who blinded six miners with tear gas and then shot them down in cold blood, will be prosecuted.

"Will the Frick company defend and protect these gunmen from the consequences of their murderous acts, or will they join with all decent citizens in punishing them to the full extent of the law? The Frick Coke company and Sheriff Hackney stand indicted before the bar of public opinion."

Feeney branded the shootings as "the most dispicable act in the history of Fayette County."

PICKETS QUOTE PINCHOT'S WIFE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Police guarding the Cambria Silk Hosiery Company plant today dispersed several hundred strikers and sympathizers who, hooting and jeering, shouted:

"We can picket; Mrs. Pinchot says so."

The wife of Gov. Pinchot telephoned Joseph A. Lestrange, acting superintendent of police, yesterday to protest against the clubbing of a 15-year-old girl by a policeman as officers sought to clear streets near the factory.

New Baby Nira Honored by Roosevelt

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt today had honored Mrs. Christopher J. Collins, Jr., and her new daughter, Nira.

In a letter written at the summer White House at Hyde Park, N. Y., the President congratulated Mrs. Collins and sent his personal wishes to the child who was christened in honor of his National Industrial Recovery Act.

The father was not present for the first reading of the letter. He was at work on one of the jobs created within the last few weeks by NIRA.

Pickets Force Miners to Eat Along Road

CHARLEROI, Pa., Aug. 3.—More than 600 pickets stopped miners en route to the Charleroi mine of the Y. & O. Coal Company here, forced the men to open their dinner baskets, eat their lunch and return home.

Charleroi police were on hand as pickets surrounded the mine and inspected the dinner pails. There was no violence.

Many of the miners after eating posthaste lunch, joined the picket line.

MINER'S HOME SET AFIRE

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 3.—Incendiaries were suspected of setting fire to the eight-room brick house occupied by Matthew Staringa, miner, of Star Junction, early today, causing Staringa and his family to flee.

Staringa had been employed at the Victoria mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Company until the present strike started. Aroused by the barking of his dog, he said he found his house on fire and saw two men running away. He found two cans and several bottles that smelled of oil outside his home, he reported.

Perryopolis firemen extinguished the blaze, which caused $700 damage.

Miss Perkins Snubs Hosiery Employers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Refusal of Reading (Pa.) hosiery manufacturers to let employes vote on union representation is said by Labor Department associates of Secretary Frances Perkins to have been the reason why she cut short an interview with the operators.

The strike of 10,000 hosiery workers in Bucks County, which includes Reading, has been attributed to the refusal of the manufacturers to recognize the American Federation of Full Fashioned Hosiery Workers. This is a violation of the National Recovery program, the strikers contend.

Bethlehem Mines At Johnstown Strike

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania coal strikes spread to Johnstown today. Five hundred miners walked out of Bethlehem Mines Corporation workings, located within the city limits.

Bethlehem Mines is a subsidiary of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

Union Asks Ouster Of Mine Officials

Dismissal of three officials, recognition of the United Mine Workers of America and a standard wage of $5 a day for six hours and five days a week were demanded at a meeting of 500 striking miners at Suterville late yesterday. The demands will be forwarded to J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

James R. Cavanaugh, of Elizabeth, district organizer of the union, charged that espionage exists in the company's mines. Those whose dismissal is demanded are General Superintendent William Lauder, Superintendent Thomas Clark and John Zelesky, a foreman.

When she saw the picture of a little girl with a bow in her hat and a fancy caped coat in the Sun-Telegraph's "Remember When" series this week, Mrs. Bertha Clark "remembered when" more vividly than any other reader.

She remembered that she had been that little girl.

She remembered how her father, the man at her side in the picture, had looked as a young man in his snappy bowler hat—style 1904. Her father, August Glantz, was foreman at the Consolidated Ice Company in those days when he used to take his baby daughter for Sunday strolls in West Park.

Mrs. Clark, now living at 432 Darragh street, Oakland, said she did not know of the existence of the picture, in which she recognized the likeness of her father. She only knew herself—about 3 years old at the time—by that unforgettable embroidered coat.

The picture was taken and lent to the Sun-Telegraph by C. H. Beuchler, of 613 West Diamond street, an acquaintance of Glantz's.

Glantz, who later became superintendent at his company, now conducts a confectionary store at 1106 Franklin street, North Side.

Now Husbands Vie For Beauty Honors

LOGAN, Ia., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The beaches choose their bathing beauties, the colleges select their most popular man and woman, and now comes the Harrison County Farm Bureau with a "most beautiful husband" contest.

Satin for Trim

Pattern 1525

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

Paris creates and we adapt . . . hence the exciting fall frock sketched today. Something very new in necklines is reflected in the chic vestee with contrasting tie at the throat, shoulders are broadened with epaulets . . . while the diagonal seaming and beltless silhouette slenderize beautifully. The shoulder trim may be omitted.

Pattern 1525 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards 39-inch fabric and ¼ yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send 15 CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

THE SUMMER EDITION OF THE PATTERN BOOK FEATURES afternoon, sports, golf, tennis dresses, jumpers, house frocks, special beginners' patterns, styles for juniors, and cool clothes for youngsters, and instructions for making a chic sweater. Panama Canal Troops Maneuver in Rain

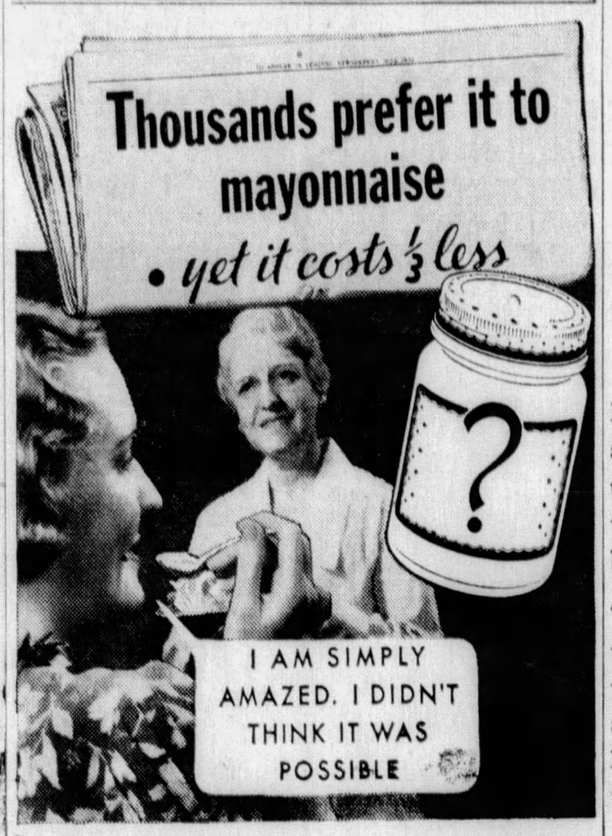
PANAMA CITY, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Panama Canal Department troops, contrary to long-standing custom to hold maneuvers only during the dry season, last night began movements intended to test the defenses of the Canal Zone. The maneuvers will continue several days.

Coast Guard units, the infantry, field artillery, anti-aircraft guns and airplanes joined in the maneuvers.

Fire Chief Ablaze, Rescued by Friends

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—About the hottest fire John A. Throckmorton, chief of the local fire department, ever heard of was right in his own pocket.

The chief, while watching a ball game, placed a lighted pipe in his coat pocket. So absorbed was he in the game that friends had to tell him he was on fire.



A new triumph in fine food—to be announced Tonight over WCAE, 10 P. M., E. D. S. T.

Every wife knows that we husbands are a "strange breed of cats." We put up with all sorts of inconveniences in the home, as a matter of habit or maybe we think we are being economical.

There is no greater inconvenience in the home today than fooling around waiting for hot water, climbing up and down to light or turn out the heater, and we generally lose our temper in doing it.

The husband who puts up with this for another day is actually throwing away dollars when he can have a genuine Pittsburg Instantaneous Water Heater and rust-free hot water wherever and whenever he wants it . . . for no down payment and the first monthly payment begins in October.

For an explanation of our special plan use the coupon below.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES
TO FLY AROUND THE WORLD
ALONE!

• ABOVE—FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HISTORY a man has flown around the world alone! Sleepless . . . hungry . . . ignoring the perils of fog and ice . . . storms and forced landings . . . Wiley Post won the admiration of the whole world with his courage, his skill, and his marvelous physical endurance in flying around the world in 7 days, 18 hours, 49½ minutes. Here he is shown as he landed at Floyd Bennett Field.

• LEFT—RESTED AND SMILING after his daring flight, Wiley Post enjoys a Camel. "Smoking Camels as I have for so long," says Post, "I never worry about healthy nerves—and I'm a constant smoker, too."

• LEFT—"I CAN'T SPEAK as a record-breaking flyer. I'm a young married woman, and my home and club work keep me going every minute. Add to that the fact that I am naturally inclined to be the nervous type. I didn't start with Camels, but later switched to them because I found they are milder and have a delightful flavor. I smoke only Camels now because I have discovered that they allow me to smoke all I want—without upsetting my nerves."

How are Your Nerves?

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

In an exclusive interview WILEY POST says: "Circling the globe alone in the Winnie Mae was the toughest ordeal I've ever been through! A round-the-world flyer has to be in shape to stand the extremes of physical exhaustion. He has to be ready for any weather, any emergency. His job calls for nerves in perfect condition. Smoking Camels as I have for so long, I never worry about healthy nerves—and I'm a constant smoker, too. Everybody knows that Camels are made from more expensive tobaccos, and you can certainly tell it in the mildness and good taste of Camels, and the fact that Camels never jangle the nerves!"

* * *

Thousands of smokers have switched to Camels and found that they are better for steady smoking. Your nerves and your taste will confirm this. Begin today with Camels. Know that you are smoking a milder cigarette . . . and that steady smoking does not interfere with healthy nerves!

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. Leaf tobaccos for cigarettes can be bought from 5¢ a pound to $1.00 . . . but Camel pays the millions more that insure your enjoyment.

Camel's Costlier Tobaccos

NEVER GET ON YOUR NERVES
NEVER TIRE YOUR TASTE

It Pays to Read Advertisements

It Will Pay You to Read This One

THE other day a friend gave my wife a recipe for a new Froze: Orange Pudding. We had it last night for dessert.

"This is something new," I said. "Where did you get it?"

"Mae gave me the recipe yesterday. She clipped it from ar advertisement."

My wife didn't read that advertisement. If her friend hadn't read it, what a treat we would have missed.

Do you read the advertisements? It will pay you many times over to do so. From them you may learn about all sorts of new things. New foods, new ways to use them, new recipes that will add variety to the daily menu.

Right in the advertisements in this paper there are countless things to interest you, to save you money, to bring you the most value for what you spend. And now, as a reward for reading this advertisement, here is the recipe that inspired it.

Recipe for Frozen Orange Pudding

Ingredients: 2 egg yolks (beaten); 1 cup orange juice; 1 cup cream (light cream or top milk will do); 4 teaspoonfuls flour; ⅛ teaspoonful salt; ⅓ cup sugar; 1 teaspoonful grated orange rind.

Blend thoroughly egg yolks, sugar, flour, salt, and add orange juice and cream. Put in double boiler until thick. Add orange rind, cool and pour into freezing tray of refrigerator—or three or four hours on ice. When ready to serve, top each dish with meringue made by beating two egg whites stiff and adding ¼ cup sugar. Garnish with orange segments.

It pays to read all the advertisements in this paper.

WHARF PLANS OUTLINED TO U. S. BOARD

The city's tentative plans for the improvement of downtown wharves were submitted to Army engineers today at a conference in Council chambers. Presiding was Maj. W. D. Styer, a federal district engineer.

Meeting with the Army men were engineers of the Department of Public Works, Director Edward G. Lang, Congressman Henry Ellenbogen, representatives of the City Planning Commission and interested businessmen.

Director Lang explained the plans. He also told Maj. Styer that he had received a telegram from the State Power and Water Resources Board informing the city that the state has approved the city's plans for the improvement of the downtown wharves. Lang also declared that before the city contemplated going ahead with the project, federal funds would have to be obtained.

The estimated cost of the improvement is $4,500,000. Plans call for the construction of a highway by widening Water street along the Monongahela River from Liberty Bridge to the Point Bridge, and a similar widening of Duquesne way along the Allegheny to Tenth street.

WHARF PARKING COST TO RISE

Because the Greater Pittsburgh Garage Men's Association has offered to follow the provisions of the National Recovery Act, the city probably will increase the price of parking on the wharves.

The garage owners, represented by President William Fisher, told Council yesterday the association members would be compelled to raise parking charges as the recovery act will necessitate reduced working hours and employment of more men.

Fisher said the city's 10-cent wharf parking would be too low a price for private operators to meet in competition as the average outdoor parking charge in private lots is 25 cents.

Council referred the matter to the law department and the Mayor. The members indicated the city's rates would be increased when the private operators raised theirs.

Fisher did not say what rates the association would adopt.

Council yesterday received a petition signed by approximately 1,000 persons asking that wharf parking be continued. The petition described wharf parking as one of the most valuable services performed by the city.

Judge Thomas M. Marshall recently handed down a decision against the parking of automobiles on the Allegheny River wharf.

Several Arrested In Arsenal Blast

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Several persons were under arrest today for investigation in connection with an arsenal explosion that caused injuries to four guardsmen and considerable damage.

A wire was found at the scene, and officials believed the blast might have been set off by electrical contact. Five hundred men were ordered here from Leon as Managua was placed under modified military law, and the arsenal was heavily guarded.

Woolen Mills Start Under Code Monday

LAWRENCE, Mass., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The worsted divisions of three large textile mills employing an aggregate of 25,000 operatives today announced, effective next Monday adherence to the woolen code; 40-hours work with 48 hours' pay, and, in addition, a flat 10 per cent wage increase.

The mills were the American Woolen Company, the Arlington Mills and the Pacific Mills.

Pennsy to Abandon 14 Small Stations

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Fourteen small stations and flag stops on the middle division of the Pennsylvania Railroad between Harrisburg and Altoona will be abandoned under plans now being considered, it was revealed today by officials of the road.

They said the stations will be closed for reasons of economy, but that arrangements will be made to handle freight and passenger business at other nearby stations. It was explained abandonment of the stops is in accord with the management's economy policy and that no disruption in service will result.

AMERICAN HELD IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Aug. 3. — (INS.)—Walter Orloff, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a student at Greifswald University, who has been detained at Greifswald since July 1 on charges of Communist activity, left there today for Berlin, where he will be given a hearing.

He will be questioned at the office of Premier Hermann Wilhelm Goering, of Prussia, and will be released if sufficient evidence against him can not be produced.

George S. Messersmith, American consul general, who requested the hearing, will confer with Prussian officials on the case late this afternoon.

Deaf Girl Signed As Dancer in Stage Show

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—A 16-year-old girl, who has lived in a world of silence all her life was signed yesterday as a feature dancer in a Hollywood stage show.

Born deaf, the girl, Charlotte Lamberton, has learned to feel the vibrations of music. Her mother, Mrs. Frank Lamberton, of Long Beach, after painstaking effort, taught her to speak despite her inability to distinguish sound.

The girl said:

"I found I could 'feel' the vibrations of music through my body. Dancing seemed to release my feelings from an existence of silence. A silent life can be as wonderful as any."

HEIRESS WED, NOT KIDNAPED

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Nineteen-year-old Dorothy Genevieve Salter, Drexel Park heiress, whose disappearance Tuesday evening caused relatives to fear she had been abducted, was married to James Y. Kirk in Elkridge, Md., last night, it was learned today.

News of the girl's elopement and marriage ended an intensive search by police along the entire eastern seaboard.

Miss Salter is a daughter of the late William Salter, vice president and cashier of the Sixth National Bank of Philadelphia. Her husband is the manager of a gasoline station in Washington.

MOTHER GUILTY OF FATAL SLAP

VISALIA, Cal., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Mrs. Nancy Yates Wilson, 36, who admitted she slapped her baby into silence to still his whimpering in the night, was convicted of manslaughter here yesterday by a jury of seven men and five women.

A penalty of from one to ten years in prison is provided for manslaughter. Judge Frank Lamberson set Friday for pronouncing sentence.

Defense counsel said they would seek probation.

Pitt Grad Digs For His School's Lost History

Efforts are being made to find the "lost history" of the University of Pittsburgh. Early records of the university were destroyed in the fire of 1845, which laid waste to more than 20 blocks in the heart of the city.

Edward G. Baynham, 2315 Glen Mawr avenue, a graduate of the university, has been commissioned to supervise the collecting of additional historic material pertaining to the institution. Baynham plans to study records and papers owned by several old Pittsburgh families, who have signified their willingness to assist.

Paul and Ferde Battle Over Sax Player

By AIRCASTER

Ferde Grofe and Paul Whiteman for the second time in two years are meowing at each other—no longer pals. Their newest trouble arose over a saxophone player, Chet Hazlet, whom both maestros wanted for their broadcasts, and Grofe saying "No," although Hazlett will play on tonight's Whiteman bill.

Since the illness of John Mills, of the Mills Brothers quartet, rumors have flown about persistently that John, heavy basso, was dead and that his death was supposed to be a great secret. The absence of the quartet from the kilocycles seems to have given credence to the report, and quite naturally, this irked John.

At his request, CBS is putting the quartet on the air at 9 o'clock tonight, just to convince the customers that things are O. K. with the outfit.

Robison's Fame

Willard Robison's fame grew out of his "Deep River" music, descriptive of the South, yet Robison is a westerner and doesn't know a thing about the South, except that it's the opposite from North.

Dave Grant, one of the Funnyboners, studied music most of his life, but it is he who writes the gags for the trio. Gordon Graham, another member of the team, doesn't know how to play a note yet it is he who makes the arrangements for all their songs.

Globe-Trotter Schedule

Louis L. Kaufman, Globe Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst-Metrotone News, broadcasts news flashes over WCAE-WJAS at 9:05 a. m., and 12:15, 2:15 and 6:30 p. m.

Globe-Trotting

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

They say the English girls are cold. Oh, yeah?" thinks Eddie Ready, Sharpsburg lad, who has been acting on European stages during the last three years.

He was billed at London's Palladium. Ramon Navarro appeared in the same booking. Eddie resembles the Latin actor and Ramon's stage door feminine fans pounced upon Eddie as he was leaving the theater, literally tearing his clothes from his back. The police and firemen arrived in time to prevent a Tarzan scene.

EXCLUSIVE FURNITURE AGENTS IN PITTSBURGH FOR W. & J. SLOANE, NEW YORK

YOUTH ADMITS LURING BOY TO DEATH

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Philip Charles Edwards, 19-year-old high school graduate, was held in jail today as a suspect in the mutilation murder of 7-year-old Dalbert Aposhian while police checked the closing episodes of his story of the crime.

Capt. of Detectives Harry J. Kelly, at first frankly disbelieving the youth, later said he had discovered facts which partially verified the story.

Edward first told it to detectives in Los Angeles, where he was picked up as a loiterer Monday, and repeated it when brought here. Kelly said the youth told six officers and a shorthand writer that he met Dalbert on a downtown street shortly after noon July 18, the day the boy disappeared.

USED CANDY AS LURE

With candy, sandwiches and ice cream, Kelly quoted Edwards as saying, he coaxed the boy to go for a street car ride. At the end of the car line, Edwards informed the officers, he told Dalbert he lived "over the hills," and they set off afoot toward the brush-covered mesa.

There he hit the boy with a rock, Kelly said Edwards told him, and left the body until dark, when he returned in a stolen automobile and took it to the waterfront.

Kelly said Edwards told him he mutilated the body with a butcher knife, threw it in the bay and placed severed portions in a quart jar and threw them in, too. Navy divers were to seek the jar today.

ROUTE TRACED

Kelly and his assistants took Edwards over the route he had told them he and the boy had taken. They said they found clerks in candy and ice cream stores who said they had seen Edwards with the boy.

They found a rock and a napkin on the mesa. Edwards told them, Kelly said, the rock was the one he used, and the napkin was one he took off the sandwiches he bought.

Edwards, asked his motive, said:

"I guess I was crazy. I must have been nuts."

WILL DEFEND SELF

The youth said he had taken two years of law in high school and would defend himself.

Mrs. Helen Graham, Edwards' mother, said she did not believe her son killed the boy.

The mother said she could not remember a night when her son had failed to come home within a few minutes after 10 o'clock.

CARMEN JOIN CUBAN STRIKE

HAVANA, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Havana walked to work today, or rode in private automobiles and horse-drawn vehicles, because street car workers were on strike in sympathy with bus and taxi drivers.

The Conductors and Motormen's Union decided on a 24-hour strike, beginning last midnight, to show their support for the omnibus men's protest against what they call exorbitant fees for licenses to operate.

Trolley officials previously declared the bus and taxi walkout meant $4,000 additional revenue daily for the company, with a sliding wage scale insuring higher wages for street car operators.

Private automobiles carried brooms in front to sweep away tacks scattered by strikers.

Cubans Open Parley On Political Reforms

HAVANA, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Twice-daily meetings on constitutional reforms began today with representatives of various political groups and United States Ambassador Sumner Welles in attendance.

One plan under consideration, would make the cabinet and the government more directly responsible to Congress, thus limiting presidential powers.

Blaze Routs 40, 5 Firemen Hurt

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—A fire in a rooming hous eearly today injured five firemen, drove 40 men and women to the streets in their sleeping graments, and caused the arrest of the proprietor, Thomas Butina, 36.

Three separate fires were reported to have broken out in the basement of the building and firemne said they encountered gasoline and kerosene fumes. An explosion allegedly caused by the gasoline and kerosene fumes caused the injuries to the fire fighters.

Woman Accused By Barton Convicted

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Mrs. Frances W. King, accused by Bruce Barton of attempting to extort $50,000 from him on a threat of publishing a novel which the advertising executive contended was a "vicious and scurrilous libel," was convicted of blackmail last night by a jury in the Court of General Sessions, Judge Joseph E. Corrigan.

The jury deliberated some six hours.

Attorneys Seeking Pay for Audit

Attorneys E. H. Wicks, E. M. McDonald and Paul Hutchinson today asked Judge Elder W Marshall to fix compensation for their audit of the county poor farm.

He referred them to Judge James H. Gray, who handled the case originally. The attorneys had been refused payment by the County Commissioners, who were upheld by Judge William McNaugher, but the Superior Court reversed the order.

Scout Drowned

HAROLD SIRNEY

Boy Scout Sirney, 17, an Eagle Scout and Monessen High School's junior class president, drowned at Lock Four, near Monessen, when his canoe, "The Black Knight," capsized. Stephen Kohut was also drowned.

Flyer, Freight Train Crash at Crossing

MARION, Ill., Aug. 3.—(INS.)—A northbound C. E. & I., passenger train and a southbound Illinois Central freight collided at the crossing here today.

The engineer of the freight train was reported to have been seriously injured. Both locomotives were derailed. None of the other cars left the tracks, it was said.

'76 GOLD RUSH DAYS REVIVED

DEADWOOD, S. D., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The glamorous and romantic days of a half century ago were revived today in this historic gold city of the old west as Deadwood began its 10th annual "days of '76" celebration.

For three days this once "wide-open" city will turn time back 57 years and see again some of the old-time frontier characters whose names were by-words when this narrow, crooked gulch was the scene of one of the wildest gold rushes the world has ever known.

With a spirit worthy of their indomitable forebearers the women of Deadwood were in the forefront of the celebration, saving it from threatened cancellation by taking over its management for the first time and arranging every detail of the fete.

First among the spectacles was a monster parade with women costumed in the dress of their grandmothers and the men bewhiskered and roughly clad. For weeks the male population of the city has gone unshaven.

Afterward Preacher Smith, Wild Bill Hickok, Calamity Jane, Poker Alice and others of the early days will mingle with blue-uniformed cavalrymen, prospectors, placer miners and Sioux Indians in native costumes.

Two Noted Britons Mark Birthdays

LONDON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Two eminent Britons today received birthday greetings—Lord Aberdeen and Stanley Baldwin.

The Marquess of Aberdeen and Temair, former Governor General of Canada, is 86. Stanley Baldwin, former Prime Minister and now Lord President of the Council, is 66.

Peace Move Left To ABC Powers

GENEVA, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The League of Nations Council decided at a secret session today to turn over to the ABC powers the negotiations to end the conflict between Bolivia and Paraguay over the Gran Chaco.

TWO PARDONED IN BEER CASE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Louis Dodaro and Sam Caprioli, of Rockford, Ill., have been freed from Leavenworth Penitentiary, their sentence of two years each for violating the national prohibition law having been commuted by President Roosevelt.

The Justice Department announced today the executive had commuted the sentences effective July 31 and the men were released yesterday.

The men also were fined $10,000 each, which has been paid.

Dodaro, a baker, and Caprioli were convicted as participants in the Northern Illinois liquor conspiracy and were charged with having purchased large quantities of corn sugar and yeast which was sold to illicit breweries.

In their petition for clemency, they maintained that they had not knowingly violated the prohibition law and the department in a verbal statement said that its investigation had indicated that members of a gang had frequently used the name of the Rockford men in buying material to produce beer.

REDS CUT PRICE IN RAIL DEAL

TOKIO, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The negotiations between Soviet Russia and Manchukuo over the sale of the Chinese Eastern Railway in Manchuria, which have been deadlocked almost six weeks, showed their first bit of action today when the Russians offered to take 200,000,000 gold rubles instead of 250,000,000 (nominally $103,000,000 instead of $128,750,000).

Manchukuo, with the support of Japan, still stood pat on its bid of 50,000,000 yen (currently $14,000,000).

Scot's Cash Aids Irish Fete at World's Fair

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—A Scotsman came to the rescue of an Irishman by spending 20 cents yesterday and thereby H. R. Maloney, 17, of Springfield, O., was able to be present at the World's Fair to celebrate Irish Day.

The youth was caught trying to sneak into the fair grounds. At the police station he said he lacked 20 cents of having enough money to get in. Sergt. Tom Murray, who said he was Scotch, but sympathetic, gave the youth 20 cents and told him to go to the fair.

1-CENT SLUGS BRING FINES

A flattened penny cost Joseph Bliss, 29, of 300 Chadwick avenue, Sewickley, $10 or 10 days in jail this morning.

Investigators of the Bell Telephone Company testified in Central Police Court this morning they caught Bliss in a drug store booth putting a flattened penny in the coin box. He also had three other flat pennies in his pocket, the investigators testified.

Magistrate Leo Rothenberg fined Bliss on a suspicious person charge when the company investigators agreed not to prosecute.

Testifying in his own defense, Bliss told Rothenberg:

"I have been carrying those things around with me for some time, and yesterday I had to make a telephone call."

He said the pennies had been flattened on a street car rail.

Citizens' League Leaders Need New Chairman

—By MARK SHIELDS—

Citizens' League leaders are looking for a new chairman in the Tenth Ward, following a meeting Tuesday night at which Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell was indorsed for Mayor, though the league favo[r]s Councilman P. [J.] McArdle.

Mr. Shields.

The former chairman for the league in the Tenth was John M. Huston. He early subscribed to the "ideals and principles" of the league, but when McArdle was indorsed it became known he did not approve, and favored Mackrell. Some Citizens' Leaguers say he was asked to resign the chairmanship at that time, others that the affair was held in abeyance because of considerations having nothing to do with politics.

At any rate, Mr. Huston now has resigned. His resignation was dated August 2, the day after the meeting, though it was written prior to the Mackrell indorsement. Mr. Huston at the meeting is reported to have said the gathering was not a Citizens' League affair. It is known that the indorsement did not come as a surprise to the league, which had been well aware of Mr. Huston's preferences, and felt he no longer would or should be indentified with its activities.

It is no secret that all the Citizens' League membership did not accept the indorsement of Mr. McArdle, though having been zealously for William P. Witherow and having been asked by Mr. Witherow to support McArdle. There have, however, been no open evidences of disapproval, and the league contends that its chairmen in every other ward are in a satisfactory frame of mind.

Fifth Ward Deal Seen for Smith

The scrambled condition of the judicial race at present is evidenced by the indorsements which are being made by various groups. The Fifth Ward regular Republican organization indorsed Judge Ralph H. Smith Tuesday night, though he is opposed by Senator James J. Coyne. That was brought about through David B. Roberts, and it is accepted that the indorsement for Smith was one of the conditions upon which Roberts swore in for Mayor John S. Herron.

Out in the Twelfth Legislative District, indorsement by the Voters' League, an independent group, has been extended to Judge Smith, and then to Judge Harry H. Rowand and Attorney Alexander P. Lindsay. Judge Rowand is expected to get substantial support from the regular Republican organization.

The Society of the 28th Division has indorsed Judge Rowand and Attorney Raymond D. Evans, who also is reported to have prospects of assistance from the organization.

These are just a few evidences of the criss-cross of allegiance in the Common Pleas Court race, where three places are to be filled. So far, there has been no gesture by the organization toward the formation of a slate, as has been done in past campaigns. In previous fights, with the preference of the organization known in advance, the independent, or unindorsed aspirants, have been able to make common cause among themselves with shining targets to shoot at.

An outstanding example of this was 1927, when Judges James H. Gray and Frank P. Patterson and the late Judge Richard W. Martin cracked the organization slate in three places.

Coyne Aid Foreseen In Coleman Race

One thing militating against an organization slate this year is that the organization is not a unit on the subject. Just as the Fifth Ward Tuesday night indorsed Judge Smith, so are there organization groups wherein Lindsay, Judge M. A. Musmanno, William H. Coleman, Judge Rowand, Evans and Attorney Jack Haggerty have friends.

It will cause no surprise if toward the end of the campaign "orders" go out on the judiciary, but even these orders will be subject to alteration from section to section. Ultimately, it will be found that Coyne is doing all he can for Coleman, who is Republican county chairman, and as such has been closely associated with the Senator in recent campaigns.

A big day for the judicial candidates will be August 8 in Harrisburg. On that day there will be the drawing for position on the ballot. First place is worth thousands of votes under ordinary conditions, and that position has resulted in the election of some men who otherwise might have found the going hard.

With three to elect, the first three places will be worth while, as will the last place.

This condition arises through the fact that, where there is a long list of candidates, and many to be elected, the voter cannot know all and, after taking the one or two he really prefers, then marks the ballot the easiest way.

This year, with a comparatively few candidates, and only three places to be filled, confusion will not be so great, but the first three places and the last position nevertheless will have their tangible value at the polls.

VOTING BANNED IN SHANTYTOWN

Inmates of such charitable institutions as the Helping Hand and Father Cox's Shantytown will not be permitted to vote this year, the county's law department held in an opinion today.

More than a half dozen such institutions fall under the opinion and possibly 5,000 persons are affected.

Question Student's Right to Election Job

Exceptions filed in Common Pleas Court today claimed that Amos L. Blum, a Pitt student, is not eligible to hold the post of judge of elections in the Seventh District of the Twenty-sixth Ward because he is employed by the city during summer vacation.

Law was stricken in an automobile while returning from the Indian Harbor Yacht Club to his home in Port Chester, N. Y.

The oil executive was taken to the Greenwich Hospital, where he died shortly after being admitted.

Law's widow, the former Mrs. Frances V. Barnsdall, of Pittsburgh, was in Chicago at the time of his death, and is expected at Port Chester late tonight.

FILE CHURCHILL RULE APPEAL

Litigation between Penn Township and forces that carved out a 1,500-acre slice of the township to incorporate a "Borough of Churchill," was to move into a new phase today with filing of an appeal from a decision handed down by Judge Samuel H. Gardner in Common Pleas Court approving incorporation of the borough.

Judge Gardner yesterday granted a supersedeas holding up all action on the incorporation until the appeal is fought out in Superior Court.

He signed the writ at request of Attorney G. Malcolm McDonald, representing Township Treasurer Andrew A. McKeever. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bayer and Harry F. McDowell, who are also signing the appeal.

The 1,500 acres of farm land included in the borough include 46 homes and 75 persons, although, McKeever states, the law requires that only a town or village can be incorporated as a borough.

15,000 VOTERS UNLISTED, SAYS G. O. P. MAN

Phantoms Offered For Registration, Riordan Charges

Declaring that between 15,000 and 20,000 persons in Pittsburgh have not been assessed and are in danger of losing their vote, the regular Republican organization has petitioned the County Commissioners to take action. Attorney B. Robert Averbach, representing the Republican organization, carried the plea to the Commissioners.

Declaring entire streets were skipped by the register assessors, Averbach submitted several lists of persons he declared had been left off the lists.

PHANTOMS CHARGED

After a brief inspection of the lists submitted by Averbach, Leo A. Riordan, chief county investigator, said they included phantoms, non-citizens and duplications. These names will not be put on the books, he maintained.

Riordan said that out of approximately 100 names listed in the Second District of the Ninth Ward, 29 are ineligibles, including non-citizens, persons under the legal voting age and non-residents.

He declared Averbach's list bore the name of a woman said to be residing in the Butler street section who was in Italy and never had been in this country. Her husband, interviewed by county investigators, said his wife was still abroad.

ICE PLANT LISTED

Another man was reported as living in the Consolidated Ice Company plant, Forty-third street. An 18-year-old boy, Riordan said, was listed as being of voting age. He asserted the list included a man who had been in the Army for 13 months, an inmate of Mayview and many phantoms.

The County Commissioners and George E. Meyers, head of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, promised Averbach that every effort would be made to enroll eligible voters. Thirty special assessors were scheduled to go to work today or tomorrow, to sit in all wards of the city to assess citizens for poll tax purposes.

Aberbach contended that entire city blocks had been skipped by the assessors. He said Chislett street between Stanton avenue and Black street had been missed and not one person residing there had been interviewed by assessors.

McNair to Speak At Two Meetings

William N. McNair, a probable candidate for the Democratic mayoralty nomination, will speak at a street meeting tonight at Frankstown avenue and Blackadore street, and again tomorrow night at Larimer and Shetland avenues. Both meetings are scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Other speakers will be H. W. Noren and Clarence R. Strothers, candidates for Council, and William B. Foster. The Rev. Hess F. Willard will be chairman at both meetings, and tax relief will be the chief topic.

SEES DEMOCRAT AS MAYOR

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Pittsburgh will elect a Democratic Mayor to replace its present Republican incumbent, according to a prediction today from Joseph F. Guffey, state Democratic leader.

Guffey and Warren Van Dyke, of Harrisburg, the state chairman, conferred with party leaders for several hours here last night and later departed for Atlantic City.

Guffey said it was his understanding Allegheny County Democrats had requested William T. McNair, a Pittsburgh attorney, to be the party's mayoralty candidate.

The state leader conferred briefly with Charles D. McAvoy, of Norristown, whom he is supporting for the post of United States Attorney for the eastern district, and with Hugh Brady, of Scranton, presumably about appointments for Lackawanna County.

No Chiseling Clause in Our Recovery Code

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

The next step in the NRA is a jump. Right on the necks of the chiselers and the favor sculptors.

They're the boys who want a head start on the rest of the field and special concessions.

Outside of that, everything is setting as pretty as a frog on a lily pad. Forty-eight states have their shoulders to the wheel and there's nobody riding the rods.

They've made 2,000,000 jobs already and by next fall the average boy should be again holding six different ones a week.

Until the summer is over we will accept a nice job riding herd on eggs in a cold storage plant.

Ought to be a recovery clause in the NRA to get the thermometer out of the red.

LABOR BACKS MUSMANNO

Judge M. A. Musmanno, candidate for Common Pleas Court, has received an indorsement from the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, signed by its president, John A. Phillips. The indorsement reads:

"The records on file in the office of the federation of votes taken on labor legislation for the 1929-31 sessions of the General Assembly, of which Musmanno was a member, show that he supported labor legislation 100 per cent. In his services as judge of the County Court he has again vindicated our high estimate of his qualifications and we now esteem it a privilege to advocate his election to Common Pleas Court in order that his sphere of usefulness may be further increased."

AUTOS HIT TWO, 1 VICTIM DIES

Struck by an automobile at North Highland and Rippey street last night, Mrs. Alice McShane, 59, of 5711 Margaretta street, was in Pittsburgh Hospital today with a possible fracture of the skull. She was crossing Highland avenue when struck.

Patrick Thornton, 6, of 3259 Bainton street, North Side, suffered a possible skull fracture when he was struck by an automobile near his home last night. He was taken to St. John's Hospital.

Dolores Ferguson, 6, a Negro, of 1206 Lynne way, McKeesport, died last night in McKeesport Hospital from a fractured skull suffered last Saturday when she was struck by an automobile at Fifth avenue and Market street, McKeesport, the coroner's office reported. Eugene Ginsimore, of 429 St. Clair street, Clairton, the driver, was ordered to post bond at the coroner's office.

WON'T APPROVE CONTRACT FOR ASPHALT

Holds Political Gift Charge Should Not Bar Low Bidder

Declaring the County Commissioners had not acted in accordance with the law in awarding a contract to the State Construction Company to supply 2000,000 gallons of asphalt at a cost of $16,400, Controller Robert G. Woodside today told the Commissioners he would not approve the contract.

The contract was entered into July 12 after Commissioner C. C. McGovern had ignored the low bidder, the Lake Asphalt Petroleum Company, whose price was $15,880. At the time, McGovern said:

"Allegheny County should not do any business with a company that makes political contributions."

The Lake company was named some months ago in an audtor's report as having made contributions to political funds while doing business with the county. It also developed that Frank J. Chester, former county public works director, had been associated with the concern. This revelation resulted in the Commissioners demanding Chester's resignation.

In refusing to approve the contract, Woodside stated:

First.—The Commissioners failed to comply with the law when they ignored the lowest and best bidder.

Second—The 200,000 gallons of asphalt purchased from the State company would cost the county $520 more than the lowest bidder's price.

Third—Material furnished by the lowest bidder (the Lake Asphalt Petroleum Company) in the past had always been satisfactory.

Fourth—The reason given for refusal to award the contract to the lowest bidder (because of its "unlawful contributions of money for political purposes in the county") is not a sufficient reason, and was not a condition of bidding, either in the specifications or advertisements.

Fifth—If persons who have made political contributions are to be excluded, this fact should be specified both in the specifications and advertisements.

PLEADS GUILTY OF WARD ABUSE

Patrick Donovan, of 901 Wylie avenue, today pleaded guilty to assault and battery and contributing to the delinquency of a ward of Juvenile Court.

He had pleaded not guilty in Criminal Court before Judge John P. Egan, but changed his plea rather than wait for September's grand jury to act on an indictment before going to trial.

Donovan was accused of beating an 8-year-old girl and sending her out to beg. The girl was placed in the care of the Catholic Charities following Judge Benjamin Lencher's investigation of conditions under which the court wards were living.

Judge Egan held the case over for a week in order to make a personal investigation of the charges.

Hoboes Finding 'Breaks' Tough; No Free Soup

The professional "bums" are getting a tough break in Pittsburgh these days, police say, although welfare workers declare the homeless man problem is not much better than it was.

The Helping Hand building and soup line in Water street having closed for the summer, the hoboes capitalizing on the depression are finding things not so easy.

Many of them, according to Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, of Central Police Court, are slipping out of town.

The Helping Hand's offer to feed and lodge them at its summer farm left many of the boys unenthusiastic.

Officials of the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor, who have had a large part in dealing with the homeless man problem, say, however, that the hobo always moves from town to town in summer.

There are probably just as many of him, the welfare workers say, but he keeps moving.

COYNE CONTROL PERILED BY 2 NEW FIGHTS

State Senator James J. Coyne's Fourth Ward was involved today in two court cases which may affect his control of the section.

Tom Dolan, one of the "Three Toms"—Coyne, Dolan and Goslin—under indictment as alleged owners of the Monaca Club seemed certain to lose his post as judge of elections in the Eighth District.

Maitland A. Wilson asked for the appointment on the grounds that Dolan had lost it through moving to Squirrel Hill.

The Coyne faction's attorney, Howard Neely, didn't object to the Dolan dismissal, but asked that Clement M. Buerkle, Sr., of 253 North Craig street, be named to fill the post. Judge Elder W. Marshall set final hearing for Thursday.

Dolan and his entire board are under indictment in Federal Court for alleged election law violations.

To add to the Coyne troubles Constable John S. Ridge, of the Fourth Ward, obtained the appointment of John J. Dempsey, 25 years, 200 pounds, 6 feet, as deputy constable over the objection of his own bondsman, Philip Coyne, brother of the Senator. Ridge had to get a new bond from Edwin C. McFarland.

Ridge asked for the appointment because he said he needed help in cleaning up 20 disorderly houses operating in two apartment buildings in his ward. Deputy Constable Andrew Conroy was removed last week when Ridge claimed Conroy refused to help in the raids.

21,000 SCOUTS RUSH LEADER

GODOLLO, Hungary, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—A magnificent rush of 21,000 Scouts to the reviewing stand of Lord Baden-Powell, chief Scout and regent worthy, of Hungary, marked the climax yesterday of the opening of the world Boy Scout jamboree.

The Scouts had just completed their march around the half-mile arena and dashed up to the reviewing stand with waving banners in a manner to recall spectacles of medieval knighthood.

The modern note of international friendship was sounded by the regent and Lord Baden-Powell in their addresses to the boys of many nations, including nearly 400 Scouts from the United States.

The American boys, marching behind six waving flags, won a generous share of the applause accorded to all of the 37 national units.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 3.—(Universal.)—Search for Mrs. Olga Van Doran McLean, 45-year-old society matron who disappeared with her 22-year-old chauffeur July 22, spread as far west as Chicago today as her family expressed the fear that she might "do away with herself."

Mrs. McLean and the chauffeur, Rowland Hartley, left in the limousine of her husband, Frank McLean, wealthy clubman and insurance man, the police have been informed.

MODEL CONVICT MAY BE FREED

The State Board of Pardons is considering a parole for Frank Dombek, model prisoner at the penitentiary, who, in 1920, was convicted of killing Mrs. Marie Rzasa in her home at 1102 Bingham street, South Side.

Dombek, according to records in the Coroner's office, killed Mrs. Rzasa on February 3, 1919. She was found strangled with a necktie, her skull fractured, presumably by a brick. Dombek was arrested in 1929 and sent to the Woods Run prison. Since then he has become an expert cabinetmaker.

CUT IN $400 FEE FOR VOTE ZONE JOB SOUGHT

Maintaining that an attorney's fee allowed by Judge W. H. McNaughter for work in connection with charges at election districts in Wilkinsburg was too high, the County Commissioners are seeking a reduction. Commissioner W. D. Mansfield was named to confer with the judge.

The Commissioners were notified yesterday that Judge McNaughter had allowed Attorney Arnold M. Replogle $400 as a fee and $16 for expenses. He represented E. L. Piper, John L. Hernon and Thomas E. Whitten, appointed by the court to make the change. The three men altered the boundary lines of seven districts and created an additional district.

Hernon is an employe of the County Bureau of Elections and Whitten is an assistant County Solicitor. Because they are county employes they did not charge for their services. Piper charged $100 and this was approved.

The Commissioners expressed amazement that an attorney would be needed when Whitten, a solicitor, was on the commission.

EX-GOV. SMALL SUED BY STATE

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Former Gov. Len Small and former Lieut. Gov. Fred Sterling today were made defendants in a suit to recover more than $2,000,000.

The demands in the suit, filed by Attorney General Otto Kerner, are for interest on state funds handled by both former officials when they served as treasurers of the State of Illinois.

Former Gov. Small, in 1922 when Edward J. Brundage was Attorney General of the state, was acquitted on a conspiracy charge involving loans of state funds to Chicago packers when it was charged that Small and the late Senator Edward Curtis got 7 per cent for state money loaned through the "Grant Park Bank" and paid the state 2 per cent.

C. C. C. to Increase Local Purchases

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Camp commanders of the Civilian Conservation Corps today were ordered to purchase subsistance supplies from local merchants except in cases where the cost would be greater than the expense of obtaining the supplies from the nearest Army post and transporting them to the camps.

Heretofore camp commanders have purchased perishable supplies from local merchants, but have obtained all non-perishable supplies from Army posts.

REPLACES PIGS YANKS STOLE ON MARCH TO SEA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Two pigs were solemnly delivered to a young southern officer at the War Department today at the instance of a brother-officer and descendant of Gen. William T. Sherman to replace a pair stolen by Sherman's raiders in the march to the sea.

Dignified officials were amazed when a crate containing two fat Poland China pigs was lugged to the office of Capt. Thomas Jefferson Davis, aide to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff.

But an accompanying letter told the story. Capt. Davis had often taunted Lieut. John B. Sherman, a grand-nephew of Gen. Sherman, about the pigs the latter's forces had taken from the Davis estate in the swing from Atlanta and the conscience-stricken lieutenant was making restitution in the name of his distinguished relative.

Wrote Lieut. Sherman, who is now stationed with the 16th Brigade in Washington:

"Subject: Pigs.

"To: Capt. Thomas Jefferson Davis, A. G. D., War Department, Washington, D. C.

"1—In answer to your claim for property stolen by Gen. William T. Sherman, during his stroll through South Carolina and Georgia, it gives me great pleasure to be able to reimburse you, in kind, for the property taken.

"2—Gen. Sherman was very lenient in the terms of peace offered the Rebel Army and I am sure that it was a matter of oversight that your family was not reimbursed many years ago.

"3—I hope that this favorable action on your claim will go far to cement the friendly relations between the North and the South and at least keep one rebel from claiming that he would have been a millionaire today had it not been for my uncle's march through the South.

"4—Will you be so kind as to acknowledge receipt of the two pigs by indorsement hereon.

"(Signed) John B. Sherman, first lieutenant, Infantry, for and in the absence of William T. Sherman, General, United States Army."

Capt. Davis laughingly said he will now make a claim for all the increase of the pigs his family lost.

HOMES SHERIFF SOLD MAY BE RECLAIMED

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Pennsylvanians who saw a "sheriff's sign" nailed on their front doors during the last two years now face the possibility of reclaiming their lost homes.

This news for those "sold out by the sheriff" came today from the state headquarters of the new Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

Orson N. Ritzman, assistant to Jacob H. Mays, state manager, announced that the new law for relief of the home owners not only will benefit the thousands now on the verge of losing their homes, but also will give first aid to those who actually have lost their homes during the last 24 months.

He indicated the ruling will affect the entire state.

During the second day in which the corporation has been functioning here, a steady stream of more than 2,000 loan applicants visited the offices. This was about half of yesterday's total.

25 JOIN RUSH FOR DIVORCES

Twenty-five persons yesterday sued for divorces in Common Pleas Court, breaking the total for the week, 47. They had joined in the usual summer rush so their cases would be listed for early hearing at the fall term. The cases follow:

Viola against Bernard Rixner, Nellie I. against John S. Wellinger, Helen against Eugene H. Peake, Flora G. against Arthur F. Yund, Helen S. against Joseph Moskal, Erma against Russell Mears, Frank S. against Florence E. Swaney, Edward E. against Agnes J. Armstrong, Helen C. against Leo P. Gallagher, Bertha against Joseph Donahue, DeWitt B. against Hilma D. Christy, Lura E. against Clark W. Reynolds, Elvira against Cologero Colura, Helen against William H. Zansky, Helen against Thomas F. Maher, Ruby P. against James J. Casson, Paul F. against Margaret M. Burry, Mary S. against William M. Ferguson, Mary against Michael Sega, Forest against Carrie B. Wocner, Ethel A. against Rex E. Toogood, Ruth against James V. Reilly, Olga against Allan C. Mason, Catherine S. against Charles I. Wenrich and Rose M. against Charles O. Case.

Amerli Porco was refused a divorce in an opinion handed down by Judge Sylvester J. Snee.

SEAMAN SAVED, THEN ARRESTED

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—A shipwrecked seaman, who had identified himself as "Jack Davis," has admitted in a statement to John J. Pichinson, an attorney, that his real name is John A. Dann and he is wanted in Florida on federal charges of smuggling aliens and narcotics.

He was rescued Monday from a battered sailing sloop which beached near Corpus Christi after being tossed about the Gulf of Mexico for more than a week by a tropical hurricane.

Sheriff Paul Cox received telegraphic instructions from officers at Panama City, Fla., to hold Dann on charges of grand larceny for theft of the sloop. Dann indicated he would fight extradition.

Driscoll Sworn in As Laurence's Aide

William Driscoll, of 231 Edith street, Nineteenth Ward, was sworn in as chief deputy internal revenue collector of this district today by Collector David L. Lawrence.

He will have charge of 53 men and women deputies comprising the field force. Driscoll held the same post under the Wilson administration. He succeeds W. R. Stevenson.

Bee Sting Kills Man 15 Minutes Later

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The sting of a bee carried death for William F. Wagner.

Wagner lived only 15 minutes after the insect stung him on the forehead, and physicians said the poison apparently affected his heart. A bricklayer, Wagner was 61 years old.

Peiping Inaugurates First City Council

PEIPING, China, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—China entered a new era of popular municipal self-government today with the inauguration of the first City Council in Peiping.

This is the first time in more than 2,000 years, it was said, that the common people of China participated in choosing their rulers.

Sheriff Wounded By Deputy Dies

CHANDLER, Okla., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Sheriff Louis Wallace of Lincoln County, died in a hospital here late last night as a result of shotgun wounds received Monday when he was fired upon mistakenly by one of his possemen in a pursuit of two motorcar thieves, who escaped.

End Strike Protesting German Vets' Visit

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The Argentine Federation of Labor ended a 24-hour strike today protesting against the arrival of German war veterans on a pleasure tour. Fascists and Anti-Fascists engaged in street disorders, in which two were hurt.

VETS TO HONOR OFFICIAL

Honoring his election as junior vice commander, Department of Pennsylvania, Veterans of Foreign Wars, a testimonial celebration will be offered Joseph M. Stack by Trees-Carlisle Post No. 166, tomorrow night.

Mr. Stack

Members of other veteran organizations and unattached veterans are invited to the testimonial, at the Trees-Carlisle headquarters, 6023 Penn avenue. Stack is past commander of the post, and past commander of Allegheny County council of the organization.

BANDIT GANG ELUDES POSSE

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Members of a large gang of robbers who terrorized Weir City more than four hours yesterday, stole the safe of the Weir City State Bank and locked 16 citizens in jail, apparently had eluded posses today.

Two of the robbers were forced to abandon the truck carrying the stolen safe under fire of Coffeyville police who pursued.

They later were sighted on the Etchens Grandview stock farm, but a search by National Guardsmen and a civilian posse failed to disclose further traces of the fugitives.

The truck containing the bank's safe and $3,000 was repaired here and taken back to Weir City under direction of J. C. Broadley, an officer of the looted bank, and a heavy escort of officers.

Indian Armor Found By 'Glacier Priest'

FALSE PASS, Alaska, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Discovery of ancient Indian wooden armor, war masks and paddles of huge war canoes used by the early Aleuts, was reported today by Father Bernard Hubbard, the "Glacier Priest."

His expedition uncovered the finds in ocean caves on an uninhabited volcanic island in the Aleutian chain. The implements were buried beneath fallen rock and debris.

Constable Hannan's Brother Found Dead

Michael Hannan, 44, brother of Constable Luke Hannan, of the Sixth Ward, was found dead last night at the foot of Thirtieth street.

An autopsy disclosed that Hannan, who lived at 2711½ Liberty avenue, died from hemorrhages and pneumonia caused by rib fractures, suffered in a fall three weeks ago, according to the Coroner's report.

Youth Aiding Law For 'Thrill' Slain

IDABEL, Okla., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The thrill of aiding "the law" led young Elmer Huckabay to his death near a mountain still south of Golden.

Huckabay accompanied Constable Amos Taylor on a raid yesterday and they arrested two young men. A. R. Smalling, father of the two youths, met them, Taylor said, and opened fire, killing Huckabay.

Church Members Urged to Register

The committee on registration of church members for the primaries and November elections has mailed enrollment blanks, poll tax blanks, registration information and other data to 1,200 workers in 350 churches in the Pittsburgh district, William S. Wise, executive secretary, said today. Aiding Mr. Wise are Mrs. F. W. Henrici, David K. Bair, E. J. Wuerthele and William Stirling.

If Ben Franklin Winks, Your $100 Bill Is Bogus

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—If Benjamin Franklin's portrait appears to be giving you a wink from a $100 bill—beware.

Capt. William H. Houhton, chief of the United States Secret Service in the Philadelphia district, said this is the "tipoff" on a new batch of counterfeit $100 bills.

Houghton said that Franklin had one eye slightly larger than the other on the bogus bills, with the lid on the smaller eye slightly drooped.

SAFETY SURVEY ON HILL

The Hill District is being studied today and tomorrow by City Traffic Engineer Lewis W. McIntyre, in co-operation with the Better Traffic Committee, to determine methods for reduction of the accident rate in that section.

More than 300 accidents have occurred in the Third and Fifth Wards in five years, resulting in 11 deaths, the injury of 115, and damage of $15,450. Recommendation for new signals and legislation may result from the present street-by-street survey.

4 DANCING GIRLS SUE FILM MEN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Four young women, Erika Low, Miriam Burke, Bettie Craig and Opal Webber, were suing for $600,000 damages today because, they said, they were thrust into a motion picture against their will.

They appeared at a Christmas benefit here and while they were dancing the defendants, Louis Lewn, Paramount Pictures Distributing Company and affiliated corporations took movies of them. These movies, the girls alleged, later were used in the film "Hollywood on Parade," which "exposed and enlarged upon their weight."

They further charged that when the picture was shown it was accompanied by disparaging wisecracks, one of which was:

"If you want to please the customers, cut out those hefty dames."

Sauerkraut Ends Jail Hunger Strike

BURLINGTON, Ia., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Robert Campbell, 26, of Topeka, Kan., held in jail here awaiting grand jury action, yesterday broke a four-day hunger strike.

Sauerkraut served to prisoners in the jail broke down Campbell's resistance, officers said.

Three Hill Boys Vanish From Homes

Three Hill district boys who wandered away from their homes late yesterday were being sought today by the Missing Persons Bureau. Their disappearance was reported to their parents by Dominic Maroni, 11, of 18 Congress street, who said they had run away from him while en route to a swimming pool on the North Side. The missing boys are Dominic's brother, Joseph, 12; Joseph Spagoppi, 15, of 22 Congress street, and James Murphy, 12, of 17 Congress street.

9,000 Bars of British Silver U. S.-Bound

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Nine thousand bars of silver, said to be a consignment from Britain to apply on the American war debt, will be shipped Saturday to New York via San Francisco. The cargo arrived from the Orient yesterday.

VETS ASSEMBLE IN REUNION OF 80TH

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Veterans from Western Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia assembled here today for the annual reunion of the 80th Division of the American Expeditionary Force.

Maj. Gen. Adelbert Cronkhite, of Pittsburgh, commander of the old Blue Ridge Division, was among early arrivals last night. Others include H. A. McLaren, of Summit, Va., vice commander, and the Rev. Edward A. Wallace, of New York, chaplain.

Memorial services were held this morning under the direction of Bishop John J. Swint, of Wheeling. The first general session will be held tonight.

HEAD OF ELKS SEES RAID

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Aug 3.—(INS.)—Explanations and apologies were in order today after deputy sheriffs raided the Lake County Elks lodge where 500 members were entertaining Grand Exalted Ruler Walter F. Meier, among other lodge celebrities.

The officers confiscated three slot machines, explaining to the excited members that the raid was on orders of Sheriff Lester Tiffany, a member of the Elks lodge and one of the hosts.

Sheriff Tiffany referred the protesters to State's Attorney Charles Mosan, who is likewise a member of the lodge.

The prosecutor admitted that he had sent the sheriff written instructions to get rid of all slot machines in the county.

Steel, Glass Safety Meeting in Capital

Charlotte E. Carr, state secretary of labor and industry, has issued a call for a safety meeting for those engaged in the iron and steel industry and the plate and window glass industry.

The conference will be held in Harrisburg tomorrow at 11 a. m. in the Senate caucus room. Already most of the iron, steel and glass interests in this section have expressed their intention of being present.

O'RYAN MAY AID COLBY BOOM

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan was urged today by W. Kingsland Macy, Republican state chairman, to refuse the mayoralty nomination tendered him last week by a fusion committee and replied that he would do so unless the 300 members of the Republican mayoralty committee acted on his candidacy with "convincing unanimity."

The reply was construed in many quarters as a graceful withdrawal and was viewed as increasing the possibility that Bainbridge Colby, former Secretary of State, would be a compromise choice.

Meanwhile an "Anti-Tammany Democratic party," a convention last night attended by some 250 delegates, nominated a slate of its own headed by James E. Finegan, long a foe of Tammany Hall.

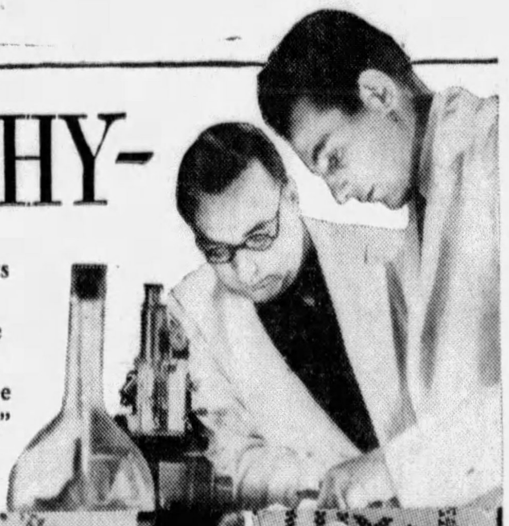
"This soap brings greater loveliness"—says HELEN TWELVETREES

Lovely Paramount Star

"Every screen star knows that lovely skin is irresistibly alluring! We must have skin of flawless beauty—that's why so many of us use Lux Toilet Soap faithfully. It keeps skin soft, smooth, infinitely appealing. Any woman who wants to be more attractive would do well to use this same complexion care—for it truly brings greater loveliness!"

Scientists tell WHY—



Read WHY this soap is so wonderful. Scientists say: "Tests show Lux Toilet Soap contains precious elements Nature puts in skin to keep it youthful. Skin gradually loses these elements—grows old-looking. This soap checks the loss of these elements from the skin. Readily soluble, completely free from harshness, it is a remarkable aid to complexion beauty."

"I wish every girl could know what this soap did for me," says Marie Stevens of Louisville, Ky.

• "I was discouraged with my skin. So dull and unattractive, it robbed me of the fun all girls should have. Then I learned how the screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap to keep their skin lovely."

• "I began using the Beauty Soap of the Stars at once! Gradually my skin took on a new loveliness and clearness and won for me all sorts of nice compliments. Now I'm really proud of it—and so happy."

• No wonder 9 out of 10 lovely screen stars are so devoted to this fragrant, white soap! Why don't you try it? Start today!

Flies and Locusts

By Theodore Dreiser

Here in the West, as well as in other parts of the world, we still cling to the theory that only by promising the individual unrestricted wealth and privilege as against poverty, frustration, and defeat for the many, can we further the development of society. And governmentally we actually proceed to define what type of individual this is to be, the industrialist, the banker, the stockholder, and the investor. Without these society will fail!

But throughout history the world has owed its progress more to the impulse to look upon profit as something apart from gold. Fame and respect have been the sole reward of many. The satisfaction of inherent humanitarian impulses looking toward the happiness or improvement of others has been another type of profit. One of the greatest impulses to create springs from curiosity, the mental necessity to discover or to solve this amazing riddle of our existence or to solve our personal ills. But in the main, the achievements springing from these impulses or desires have not received gold for a reward, very often not even applause or notice, and yet such men have rendered services so enormously superior to the third and fourth rate mentalities that have stepped forward via the industrial system that there is no comparison.

And yet what do we actually see? The present cry of the self-centered individualist whether of the industrial, banking, or merely hoarding class, is that if the profit system in its wildest form is not retained, the incentive to creative action will be destroyed. Mr. Hoover, throughout the desperate years of '30, '31, '32, was satisfied that only by placing more and more resources in the hands of the bankers and the masters of wealth generally was mass prosperity to be received. These, regardless of their lunatic theories, greeds, wastes, and dishonesties, were to be refortified against the results and losses which they had brought upon themselves and others. They were to be saved and retained though the millions of people betrayed by them starved or died.

And to a modified extent that theory is being pursued by the Roosevelt administration. Our great industrial leaders agreeing to this modified version are to be heartened by the certainty of profit for themselves and their investors to continue in the creative activities of which, for some mysterious reason, they are assumed to be the substance, not the mere expression. But the creative impulse in every field existed long before the present high-powered capitalistic era had appeared and not always for profit.

If one is to return to the early world for illustrations, one would have to ask after the intellect that achieved the wheel, and what was its possible reward; or the arch and keystone, the water wheel, the plow, the arrow, the sail, the windmill, compass, pulley, ladder. And yet to this hour the Morgans and Rockefellers take their share of profit from these things.

Taking the modern world as we know it we find it a product of the brains and labors of the underpaid and frequently, from a material point of view, unseeking geniuses. Howe, who invented the sewing machine; Watt, the inventor of the steam engine; Fulton, who invented the steamboat; Edison, who invented the arc light, the phonograph, the moving picture; Madame Curie, who discovered radium; the Wright brothers, who gave the world the airplane.

Leaving the world of inventions one can pass directly and with staggering force to the world of science in general, the distinguished creative thinkers and discoverers in all mental realms. But where in these realms, and to which we actually owe the whole vigorous modern scene, is the plutocrat, the coupon-clipper, the individual who unless he is sure of a thousand per cent profit, will stop his great labor and let the world die?

Actually one must descend from the Himalayan mental and character heights occupied by such minds as Newton, Faraday, Helmholtz, Darwin, Pasteur, Beethoven, Loeb, Einstein, not to the valleys of ordinary human achievements occupied by the professional and educational classes, but infinitely lower, before one comes to the growling, thieving, contesting and even murderous depths occupied by the profit seeker. And how do you find him? As the one who is first compelled to lay aside every dignity and principle motivating these others before he can possibly achieve the profits which he claims for himself. And by what right? Invariably by the "right" of trading upon the ignorance or innocence or liberality or fear or necessity of others who are in the main glad to give the world that which the profit-seeker immediately proceeds to capitalize as his own.

And yet, in the face of this unshakable and beautiful truth that genius in the main creates, discovers and presents almost charitably to the world what it has to give, you have here and now our present world of brokers and middlemen of the thinnest stripe intellectually and morally, our bankers, speculators, promoters and industrialists generally, their stockholders, lawyers, judges, executives. And all proclaiming the doctrine that they must be permitted to gather where they have not labored, and reap where they have not sown, or civilization will surely fail.

Flies. Locusts. The function of thought, discovery, and invention is to strengthen and advance the mental and physical and social position and welfare of man. The function of industry is to apply the thoughts, discoveries, inventions and industry of man to the natural resources of life and to convert these into forms suitable for the use of man, to feed, clothe and entertain him on his march. But in these modern days, this simple and quite secondary process has become a huge network of middleman activity, of conversion, involving as it does the lives and comforts of almost two billion people. And because of the huge network of equipment and activity involved as well as by reason of the exorbitant profit motif which has been permitted to creep into every stage and phase, there has been brought about not the apotheosis of the thinker, the inventor and discoverer, but these larvae and locusts, these money bags and their bankers, politicians, office holders, judges and lawyers. And so we have the spectacle of the few mentally and socially incompetent, but nevertheless wealthy and comfortable, while millions stand by unemployed, untrained, unused and often hungry. And this when the very function of conversion should be the one to bring about their employment, education and social and mental happiness. Yet as the manufacturing or converting interests have grown from local to national and from national to international proportions, the problem of unemployment and crime has grown until now we see it in almost full flower, with war, penitentiaries, asylums as its major accompaniments. And with the millionaire instead of the thinker, the scientist and the inventor held as the first among men, entitled to awe, the sycophancy and fawning slavery of government and office to his every wish and even to the applause and awe of the cheated and defranchised whose bread he eats and the fruits of whose labors he hoards as gold.

Not the worker but himself is to have the whole advantage of invention and improving thought in every form. He and not the worker or the worker's government will patent the machine, the process, the new and improved way for multiplying labor and then use that very government of the millions, its police, Army, Navy, legislative, executive and legal processes to enforce his claim to the same, and to all the profits of the same. And this is called individualism, instead of graftism, or locustism, and the millions or masses of all nations are ordered to fight and die for its preservation, to march under its flag and sing songs to its glory and honor.

The spectacle is fantastic, the argument that of a trickster and a thief. It is to set aside as nothing, or worse, a crime, to be opposed with war and destruction, the great and sound and by now successful experiment, the Soviet Union with all that it has achieved in merging into one colossal entity the intellect and the naturally creative impulses and inventive vigors of all of its immense population, and the using of that for development and its permanent comfort of that population. It is to write down as a crime that the men who work with their hands or minds should ask for an eight-hour day, a five-day week, or a minimum wage. It is to be written down that a pension for the aged, free care for the sick and the injured in the great labor of making a decent life possible for the millions, free education and training of children, the pensioning of soldiers after war, the improving and sanitation of the homes and cities of the people, and the guaranteeing to all periods of rest and pleasure, are burdens which may not be paid for out of the adequate labor of all, but are to be reserved for those strong or sly and dishonest and cruel enough to seize upon the age-old machinery of life and exact interest or profit for its use.

Yet if the world were going to fail, as the individualist now claims it will without his greed and heartless interference and direction, it would have so failed long before hoarders or Midases appeared on the scene. For it has never been pushed forward by the lone profit motive as such, the mere right to eat, drink and walk in material splendor before others, but by mental enthusiasms and curiosities and wonders which have led to study and results for the sake of those studies and results. To argue otherwise is to ignore the whole evidence as well as the true course of history. It is also to argue against the whole and almost timeless struggle of man toward the organized society of today of which he is the beneficiary; a society which should offer to every man a decent chance to work and live.

Clara's Plans Upset by Death

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3.—With the death of Sam Rork, Clara Bow lost a real friend and the only adviser she has been willing to listen to. The redhead has agreed to do one picture at Fox. After that, will she listen to the offer of any other studio?

This question is being argued in many quarters in Hollywood today. Rex Bell who, next to Clara, is best qualified to answer it, tells me:

"Clara is terribly upset. She doesn't know whether she wants to go on at all. I believe we can persuade her into it. But there is no use of them trying to talk business to her until after 'Hoopla' is finished. Without Sam, the picture is going to be doubly hard. She must not be bothered with any other problems."

It was for Rork that the redhead finally consented to make a screen comeback last year. She was under personal contract to him for two more pictures at the time he succumbed to a heart attack.

"And we would have gone on with him as long as we made pictures," Rex said, "Clara trusted Sam."

Now that Rork is dead, the former "It" girl has the right to name someone to represent her in the filming of her picture at Fox. Her cowboy star husband believes she will agree upon Al Rockett, who was a close friend of Rork. The picture, he said, will begin on schedule.

The routine between Ted Healy and his three famous "stooges" goes on, they say, even out of working hours. The trio never know what is going to happen to them next. There was that time, for instance, during the earthquake. One of the stooges happened to be taking a last afternoon nap. As the house began to shake, he stirred, protested:

"Come on now, Ted, stop that."

Wonder if all the romance gossip is responsible for Jean Harlow's less frequent appearances with Hall Rosson? The platinum-haired star's latest escort is William Perry, young man of money. The two are seen together often—the latest time being at the Grand Hotel, dancing to Hal Grayson's music. Over the week-end, too, Jean gave a dinner party to the Indian Prince Singh.

Seeking footlight experience, Anita Page has signed a contract that will keep her employed for at least 20 weeks in a tabloid version of "Crazy Quilt." She's leaving here for the East, accompanied by her mother.

Paramount wanted Jack Oakie's mother to use her son's stage name for her movie debut. She held out for her own name, Mrs. Evelyn Offield. The final compromise is Mrs. Evelyn Oakie Offield . . . Even in these days of safe flying, Paramount has taken out a $250,000 insurance policy to cover any loss to its picture, "Take a Chance," if Buddy Rogers is injured in his week-end commuting from New York to Chicago to lead his band.

NRA Revival On Screen

THE GLOBE TROTTER

America's rally to the emblem of the Blue Eagle is vividly shown in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News. Humble shop keepers and big corporations alike are shown displaying the Blue Eagle NRA sign. In Hyde Park, N. Y., Mrs. Roosevelt is shown displaying one of the emblems on the furniture shop in which she is interested. She gives a talk. President Roosevelt is seen at the summer White House in Hyde Park. He, too, gives a short talk.

The first pictures of Walter H. McGee, the only man ever to be sentenced to death for kidnaping, come from Kansas City. Prosecutor Masten declares that "Missouri has shown the way" and urges other states to follow.

The big sloop Weetamoe, piloted by Harold S. Vanderbilt, is shown winning an exciting race off Newport for the Constellation trophy. The huge spinnaker of the Vanitie, which the Weetamoe defeated, is ripped to pieces by the high winds. The Globe Trotter gives a description of the face.

Pictures show almost 1,000,000 persons on the beach in Coney Island, driven there by the heat, which sent the mercury up to 100 in New York City.

Champagne manufacturers at Egg Harbor, N. J., are preparing for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. With 2,000,000 bottles already on hand, they are shown rushing to fill many more.

Winooka, Australian wonder horse, is seen winning a special $10,000 match race at Tanforan, Cal.

Highlights of the tennis match in which "Bunny" Austin of England, defeated Ellsworth Vines of America, come from France.

Modern Venuses compete at the Chiropractors' Convention in Los Angeles. Blanche McDonld, 18 years old, dancer, is awarded first prize.

Frontier days are brought back by a rodeo in Cheyenne, Wyo.

Joe Laurie and his company of old-time stage stars, entertain Al Smith atop the Empire State Building.

Director

Theodore Viehman, who is directing "Goodbye Again," to be staged by the Summer Playhouse in Shadyside Academy Theater, Fox Chapel, next week, is a graduate of the drama school, Carnegie Tech, and for a long time was a member of its staff.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

The Stage Guild will resume the presentation of its current production at the Willows Oakmont tonight. It is a whimsical comedy, "There's Always Juliet," the cast of which includes Elizabeth Drake, Harold Daniels, Madeleine Skelly Foust and Alexander Kann.

* * *

Leslie Banks, well known English actor who has appeared on our stage, will go Hollywood in September . . . Ruth Etting will have a featured role in the next Wheeler and Woolsay comedy . . . Gilbert Roland is to play opposite Constance Bennett in her new RKO picture, "Without Glory" . . . They're still looking for an actress to play the title role in "Alice in Wonderland," for which Sir Guy Standing, Alison Skipworth, Mary Boland, Jack Oakie and Charles Laughton have been signed . . . Evelyn Venable, who toured last season with Walter Hampden, is in Hollywood to play a role in Dorothea Weick's first American picture, "Cradle Song" . . . Will Rogers, having completed "Doctor Bull," screen version of the James Gould Cozbzens novel, "The Last Adam," is planning to take Mrs. Rogers and their son on a trip some'eres . . . Colleen Moore is holding under consideration an offer from the stage.

Columbo to Sing, Act In Winchell Film

Russ Columbo, Abe Lyman, Eddie Foy, Jr., and Texas Guinan have been added to the cast of "Broadway Thru' a Keyhole," Walter Winchell's intimate story of Broadway's private lives which Twentieth Century Pictures is preparing to film as a musical. Columbo, crooner and orchestra leader, will not only sing in this production, but will have a prominent part in the dramatic action of the story. Harry F. Zanuck predicts that "Broadway Thru' a Keyhole" will prove that Russ Columbo has more appeal for feminine picture fans than any player since the days of Valentino.

Miss Lombard Sings In Picture

In "Brief Moment," Carole Lombard, who has a fine voice, has an opportunity to sing for the first time in any motion picture in which she has appeared.

ALL IN A DAY

By MARK HELLINGER

Three Months to Live

JONAS GREEN was a rich man, but not a particularly happy one. Outside of his money, he had little in life to make him happy. His wealth had formed a barrier between him and his old friends. His wife had divorced him years ago. He seldom saw his children any longer. The only bond that held his servants and employes to him was the monthly pay check.

It was not strange, then, that with little but himself to think of, Jonas should have found his every small ailment magnified in importance. His health was a never-ending source of worry to the man. When, at 50, he was vaguely disturbed by sharp pains in the region of his heart, he summoned to him a fashionable and expensive physician.

Thus we find Jonas and the doctor in the spacious library of the Green home. A careful examination over, the physician smiled reassuringly.

"Not a thing to worry about," he said cheerfully. "You're good for 20 more years. What's been troubling you is merely indigestion. If you'll cut out the rich foods for a while, you'll be as good as new in no time."

As he left, Jonas buttoned his vest slowly. He should have felt relieved, but he did not. The other man's words had merely strengthened in his mind thoughts of a serious ailment. Suppose here had been something vitally wrong?

Death was a terrifying thought. Indigestion—a common enough complaint. But the day would come when something more serious would be the forerunner of his demise. And when that day came, Jonas knew that all his wealth would do him not the slightest bit of good.

He had never thought very much about dying. Now he could not tear the thought from his mind. He paced up and down the library, and the room seemed to be haunted by the inevitability of the future. Finally he seized his hat and hurried out.

"These fashionable doctors;" he muttered. "Bah! He wouldn't tell me if there was anything wrong anyway. Probably afraid the truth would scare me."

All this time, Jonas had been walking further downtown. Now he turned into a side street, entirely unconscious of his surroundings until a sign over the entrance of a building before him caught his attention. "Dr. William Blake," it read.

Jonas walked to the entrance of the building, studied the sign carefully and hesitated. Here was his opportunity to find out the truth. Here was a doctor who did not know him, who would have nothing to gain by lying to him.

Before the door of Dr. Blake's office he hesitated again. It was late and he half hoped that the office might be closed. But there was a dim light burning in an inside room, and with a final sigh he rapped on the glass.

A short wait and then the door was unlocked. The man who stood in the reception room was struggling into a white coat.

"Sorry," he said. "I was just going home. What can I do for you?"

Jones related in detail all his symptoms. He wanted, he said eagerly, a very thorough examination. It was very, very important.

He was ushered into the inner room. The examination was very thorough, very careful. When it was over, Green's hands shook. There was anxiety in his voice.

"Well, what about it?" he demanded. "I want to know everything."

The other man gazed at him soberly.

"You're sure you want to know the truth?"

Jonas gulped and nodded.

"Then I'll tell you. I'll try to tell you in the simplest terms possible. You have a very serious heart ailment. There are medical terms for it that you wouldn't understand. I can only tell you that all that can be done now is to keep as quiet as possible. Excitement will only hasten—the end."

Jonas wet his lips. His throat was dry. His voice was hoarse as he spoke.

"You mean I'm going to—that I haven't long to live?"

"I'd give you three months," slowly. "It may be longer. It may be any time between now and then."

Jonas reached unseeingly for his wallet. He extracted a bill and laid it on a table near him. He groped for the door and walked heavily down the corridor. His thoughts were not very clear. But he knew that all his fears had been realized. And over and over again in his brain one phrase kept repeating itself.

"Three months to live. And it may be any time before that."

Three months! How short that time seemed out of eternity. Three more months of life and then . . . Jonas began to shudder violently. His thoughts became clearer.

Three months! Ninety short days. There was nothing a man could do in that time except wait. A vision of those 90 days of waiting struck terror into his soul. He saw himself sitting in loneliness and fear, waiting only for the phantom to stretch out its fingers for him.

His steps turned mechanically back to his costly mansion. The house where he was to sit and wait for death. He would have given it up gladly, that and everything he owned, for just a little more time. A year, two years. The acts of humanity and philanthropy he could perform in that time would make up in a small measure for his wasted life.

When he reached home, the impressive structure of stone brought a feeling of nausea. He was, he thought, like a prisoner in a death cell awaiting the hour of his execution. So, too, must he wait.

Then, as the thought occured to him, he stopped in his tracks. Why should he wait? Every day would be an added horror. His last remaining hours would be nightmares of terror. He would die a hundred deaths in that brief space of time that was left to him. As he entered his costly mansion, he was laughing strangely, very strangely.

There was a revolver in the drawer of his desk. He loaded it with a single bullet. Two minutes from the time Jonas Green had entered his library, he was dead . . .

It must have been about that time, too, that the two men left the office of Dr. William Blake hurriedly. With them they took most of the contents of Dr. Blake's safe.

As the car that had been waiting at the curb sped off, one of them began to laugh.

"Boy," he chuckled, "if you coulda seen yourself in that white coat! You'd make a swell doc, Joe. But it sure was a narrow squeak."

Joe laughed, too.

"Yeh, working in the hospital when I was in stir did me some good then, all right. That was a dirty trick I played on the old guy, though. I told him he was due to croak soon. You could tell by looking at him that he was as strong as a horse!" . . .

Single Film For Mary

Mary Pickford, Charles Chaplin and Douglas Fairbanks, who, with D. W. Griffith and the late Hiram Abrams, founded the United Artists, will each have one starring vehicle in the company's output in the new season.

Mary Pickford has several stories in mind and expects to be able to make a definite announcement about the title of her new picture and facts connected with direction and cast within the next two weeks.

For the first time in his life Charles Chaplin has written in full the story for a picture prior to beginning production. Dealing with the adventures of the character he has made known to millions, Chaplin's new picture is laid in the industrial center of a big city.

Harking back to one of his great early successes, Douglas Fairbanks plans to make a sequel to the "Mark of Zorro," which is being tentatively called "Zorro Rides Again."

Jean Parker Watched

The rise of Jean Parker to a leading role in a Hollywood production is fully as amazing as the change which took place in Cinderella after her fairy godmother's visit

Jean is 17 years old. She was an unknown student at the Pasadena High School, who had the good fortune to appear in very small parts in several pictures. Now she is being watched as a possible future star. She has the ingenue role on "Lady For a Day," one of Columbia's important fall productions.

Jean was born in Deer Lodge, Montana, and went with her family to California when she was still young. A little more than a year ago she was selected to ride on a float in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, where she was seen by a studio official. Later she was coaxed into taking a screen test. Her speaking voice was excellent and she performed so capably before the camera that she was cast immediately for a small part in "Divorce in The Family." Shortly afterwards she was the little French girl in "The Secret Of Madame Blanche" and the eldest princess in "Rasputin." She also had small roles in "Made On Broadway" and "Strange Rhapsody."

Ralph Graves Author As Well as Actor

Ralph Graves has closed a deal with Edward Small, of Reliance Pictures, for the purlhase of "Style." Graves previously had sold "Born to be Bad" to Twentieth Century Pictures. Graves, in selling his stories, has qualified as author and producer.

Mickey Mouse Feature Planned by Disney

Walt Disney, creator of Mickey Mouse and the Silly Symphonies in color, is planning a feature length cartoon photoplay which, if it materializes, will be released next season by United Artists. Mr. Disney is grooming his entire staff of artists and technicians to handle such an assignment, if he decides to branch out into the feature field.

Gleason in Picture Made in England

James Gleason, celebrated as both actor and writer, recently returned from England where he appeared in a picture soon to be released in this country. Gleason is the author of two stage hits, "Is Zat So?" and "The Shannons of Broadway." He has been popular especially in writing dialogue for the screen, notably in "It's a Wise Child" and "The Right to Love" for M-G-M, "Women of All Nations" for Fox and "The Matrimonial Bed" for Warner Brothers.

"I wanted a clear skin—
I got it...and a happy home, too"

If you long for a better skin pause and reason

A CLEAR, healthy skin is an evidence of good health. Ample red-blood-cells, filled with hemo-glo-bin (skin and tissue purifier), are necessary for good health and a clear skin.

When the hemo-glo-bin is right you feel it . . . your looks show it. But when sickness, colds or the "flu," tear down this vital substance, or you neglect your diet, you get weak, tire easily, lose your appetite. Your resistance is lowered—and your complexion usually shows it.

And here is the reason: When the hemo-glo-bin is reduced, the billions of tiny cells in the body are not getting sufficient oxygen, because it is the hemo-glo-bin that takes the oxygen, breathed into the lungs, to all parts of the body—even to the skin. Also, it throws off the poisonous carbon dioxide.

To clear your skin of pimples and get back that old-time vigor with color in your cheeks, take S.S.S. Tonic just before meals. No need to change your diet . . . S.S.S. will not interfere with any other medicine you may be taking. You will be happy with the beneficial results obtained.

S.S.S. is a proven Tonic . . . by experience for over 100 years . . . and by modern medical research. Start taking it today. At all drug stores in two convenient sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Loses 28 Pounds of Fat

The improvement in this woman's figure, after she had lost 28 lbs. of unwanted fat can easily be imagined from the comparative measurements which she gives below. Note also the effects of the treatment she used. Her method is evidently a good one to follow.

"I am 24 years of age; height 5 ft. 5½ in.; and a short time ago my weight was 28 lbs. above normal. I was listless and without energy. Now, after taking Kruschen Salts regularly I have lost 28 lbs. in weight and have much more vitality. Also I have a very good complexion, and I do not have face blemishes of any kind. Surely this must be due to my having pure blood, and I attribute the fact to my taking Kruschen Salts.

"I made the above reduction in four months, during which time I must admit that I did not touch chocolates or sweets of any description, pastries, potatoes, butter or sugar. I kept to this for four months and lost 28 lbs. I honestly think it would not have been possible without the aid of Kruschen Salts, because as my weight is now normal for my height and age, I am able to keep it without dieting, just by continuing with the Kruschen Salts alone."—I give my measurements below:—(Miss) M. S.

Before	After
Weight 168 lbs.	Weight 140 lbs.
Bust ... 42 ins.	Bust ... 34 ins.
Waist .. 31 ins.	Waist .. 26 ins.
Hips ... 40 ins.	Hips ... 36 ins.

If one inexpensive jar (lasts 4 weeks) doesn't joyfully satisfy, money back from any drug store. Make sure you get Kruschen—prescribed by many physicians and recognized the world over as the SAFE way to reduce and at the same time gain in health and physical charm.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE ABOUT GAS HEAT

MODERNIZE ECONOMIZE WITH GAS

There is no doubt that 1933 will be a big gas heating year. A decided swing toward gas heat is already under way . . . due, of course, to the substantial decrease in gas heating costs made possible by the low Natural Gas rates now in effect . . . a decrease which brings the cost of this clean modern fuel down to a point that is little, if any, higher than less satisfactory fuels. Every home-owner ought at least to get the facts about how much it will cost to heat his home this modern automatic way. For an accurate estimate of the cost of gas heat for your home get in touch with your gas company . . . or your heating contractor . . . or send in the coupon below. We have a most likable addition to that gloriously long debutante list for the fall—young Mary Dilworth Edwards, daughter of the George Dilworth Edwardses.

And her name in the deb list is news—for her mother has been inclined to disapprove of the whole debutante custom.

Mary is a jolly girl, fond of sports, and ranching. But this summer, or rather the remainder of it, she'll spend at Lake Placid, where her parents have taken a cottage.

Deb List Growing

Her name brings the list up to more than 30. And I wouldn't be surprised if we should have 40 little debutantes by the time coming-out parties are with us.

West View Girl Fetes August Bride-to-Be

Last evening Miss Ethel Ellis, of West View, entertained with a party in her home honoring a bride-elect of this month, Miss Clara Mae Richards, of Perrysville avenue. She will marry Paul Walker, of Pittsburgh and Mt. Pleasant, Mich., on August 12. Monday night another entertainment will be given in her honor by Miss Helen Adams and Miss Margaret Walker, of Perrysville avenue.

Mrs. Harry Kridel is to be her sister's matron of honor, and Miss Margaret Walker is to be maid of honor. John Cunningham will serve as best man.

Mr. Walker and his bride plan to make their home in Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

Katherine Scott Married to H. W. Soles

At a quiet ceremony Tuesday morning in the Waynesburg Presbyterian Church, Miss Katherine Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Rinehart Scott, and Harold Wesley Soles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott A. Soles, of McKeesport were married. Officiating was the pastor of the church, the Rev. George S. Maxwell. Only the families were in attendance.

The bride wore an ensemble of black and white satin and a corsage of gardenias. After a cruise of the West Indies and South America, Mr. and Mrs. Soles will be home September 1 in McKeesport.

Mrs. Soles attended Sweet Briar College and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1932. She received her M. A. degree from the University of Pittsburgh this year, and is a member of Chi Omega national social sorority. The bridegroom, who is a graduate of Lafayette College, attended the University of Pittsburgh law school, and he is a member of Phi Kappa Psi social fraternity and of Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity.

Newlyweds Return From West Indies

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pollock have just returned from their honeymoon to the West Indies, during which they visited the Panama Canal and Havana as well as South America. Before her marriage on July 6 Mrs. Pollock was Miss Annette Beatrice Weinman.

Mt. Lebanon Club Will Honor Educator

For the first time in its history, the Mt. Lebanon Women's Club will confer an honorary membership. The honorary member is Miss Jeanette Blair, supervisor of literature in the Mt. Lebanon schools, who has for several years assisted the club in its educational policy.

Members of the club will not receive year books, as usual, this month. Instead the books, outlining the program for the coming season, will be distributed at the opening meeting in October.

The reason for the change is not economic, or anything similarly unromantic, accoording to the program chairman, Mrs. Robert Kunz. Mrs. Kunz thinks the books will add interest to the first session.

Federation Meet Aides Named By Chairman

Mrs. James G. Chalfant, chairman of the southwestern district of the State Federation of Pennsylvania, and general chairman of arrangements for the state convention to be held in the Hotel William Penn during the week of October 9, has been busy selecting her aides.

Mrs. W. H. McCombs will be chairman of badges and arrangements; Mrs. James Huey, conference rooms; Mrs. Harry M. White, emergency; Mrs. J. Charles Runk, exhibits; Mrs. Ralph Harbison, banquet; Mrs. S. D. Pearson, gardens.

Mrs. William J. Miller will be in charge of historical data; Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, of housing and hotels; Mrs. George S. Baton, of hostesses; Mrs. John S. Sloan, information; Mrs. H. D. Stark, play day; and Mrs. George Hill, transportation.

Mrs. I. K. Milliken of Lexington avenue, Aspinwall, will receive luncheon, dinner and banquet reservations.

In charge of the three dinners to be given the opening night, one for past presidents, one for delegates and one for presidents will be Mrs. B. H. Thompson, of New Kensington; Mrs. W. Duncan Taylor, of Aspinwall, and Mrs. H. D. Stark, of Pittsburgh.

Tech Art Teacher Sails for France

Miss Margaret Lee, of the fine arts department of Carnegie Institute of Technology, has sailed from Baltimore for France. She plans to spend some time in Paris.

Miss Emma Mellon Campbell, of Pennsylvania College for Women and Schenley High School, has left for the West. She will visit Glacier National Park and spend some time in La Jolla, Cal.

Field Club Dance Planned by Nurses

The Nurses Official Directory is giving a dance at the Pittsburgh Field Club the evening of August 21. This evening the committee on arrangements is having a meeting and dinner at the club to discuss plans. Miss Sarah Corcoran is general chairman.

Miss Marjory Murfin Lawn Concert Aide

Miss Marjory Murfin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Murfin, of the East End, is chairman of aides for the pop concert on the Hotel Schenley lawn tomorrow night, to be played by Victor Saudek's Little Symphony.

Assisting Miss Murfin will be Miss Gertrude Cunningham, Miss Nancy Mansfield, Miss Gertrude Cunningham, Miss Betty Hart, Miss Janet Wright and Miss Jane Dyke.

VELVET, STILL ARISTOCRAT, FREQUENT ACCESSORY FABRIC

SMART WOMEN are already wearing new accessories that give definite hints of the completed fall fashion story to come. Even dull days have a way of bringing out hordes of new things—women long ago learned that nothing defeats a gray day better than ignoring it and wearing fresh new clothes.

* * *

THIS YEAR, velvet does the trick. But it is a new velvet, with countless never-before-seen surfaces and strange faces. Some smooth, some rough, some ribbed, some checked, some striped. And in new colors—particularly that taupe-brown of which we've spoken before; black and white, perennial autumn favorites; a few strong tones, deep greens and rich blues with a darkish, purplish cast.

* * *

VELVET HATS are making an early appearance. They have a clearly defined Asiatic tendency—somewhat Javanese, or better still, Chinese. They have pagoda outlines, ending in tiny peaks or toques. Sometimes a feather perches there, or a curled ribbon ornament, or simply nothing at all. But such an amusing way of gaining height is terribly chic, at the same time one fine way of handing precious extra inches to the four-out-of-five short women. This Chinese indication made a sensational debut in daytime and evening dresses at the same time.

* * *

PANNE VELVET is enjoying a renewed popularity. In the sketch, at the lower left, we show you what one clever hand did to this beautiful surface by blocking a design in blue and white on the black hat and scarf.

* * *

* * *

ACCESSORIES THAT contrast their fabric rather than their colors are newest. We are intrigued by velvet worn with dull woolens for that reason. Massive belts are being worn by smartest women—the wide, wide velvet with brilliants outlining the buckle is a very beautiful example. It is also interesting to see that, though summer fabric shoes continue to be worn, velvets and satins are seen on smart feet everywhere too. (The shoe sketched is of satin and velvet, a most unusual combination for very dressy daytime occasions.)

* * *

THE JEWELRY question for velvet depends on you. Pearls are indisputably smart. Two, three rows of them. Or one little string. Most astute women wear them as often as diamonds or sparkling gilt chains, particularly for daylight hours.

Gossipy Chat With Nancy Jane

The William H. Siviters now have an admiral as a son-in-law, Rear Admiral James Chambers Pryor. President Roosevelt has approved his recommendation.

You'll recall that the Siviters' daughter, Frances Pierpont Siviter, married Capt. Pryor, of the Medical Corps. And Mrs. Pryor and her young daughter Pierie visit here often. They are living now in Sherwood Forest, Md.

Capt. Pryor was President Theodore Roosevelt's physician, by the way. And he's past president of the Association of Military Surgeons. The Pryors' winter home is in Nashville, Tenn.

Patricia Pitt's camera man, taking a picture of one of society's brides-to-be, said to the girl, "Come, give us a big smile."

"Show your fangs, Sis," advised her unromantic young brother.

Two little girls, who had set up in the lemonade stand business in front of their parents' attractive home in Bigelow boulevard, East End, attracted the attention of two little boys in the neighborhood. The boys yelled:

"How much is your old lemonade?"

"Five cents."

"Oh, that's too much."

The young saleswomen said:

"But you get crackers with it."

Mother Should Not Deny Daughter Happiness

Is it Mary's, or any girl's, duty to give up life and love to "stay with poor mother"?

And if she does—what will become of her when mother is gone?

Maybe you are a Mother With One Chick. If so, do you think you have a right to ask her to give her life to you? And what would you say to Mary?

Dear Elsie Robinson:

I wonder if you would settle a question of right and wrong for me. I can't seem to decide it for myself. I know what I want to do, but I am afraid that it would be wrong for me to do it.

You see, I am engaged, and have been for almost a year. We want to be married this summer. But there is my mother. I am all she has left, and she cries every time I mention leaving her.

She tells me that I am all she has to live for, and it breaks her heart to think that I care more for someone else than I do for her. She tells me, too, that I don't know when I am well off—that marriages so often turn out unhappily that she hates to see me take such a chance.

She is not dependent on me. She owns the home, and has enough income so that she can be comfortable. My father left that to her when he died 12 years ago. I was 16 then, and we have been very close together. She grieved terribly over losing him, and she has often said that she couldn't have lived if it hadn't been for me.

She is 56 now and not very strong. She has a weak heart, and I am so afraid that if I do leave her it will be very hard for her.

HESITATES TO DECIDE

When I said that she was not dependent on me I meant, of course, financially. She is very dependent on me in other ways. We have a maid, but Mother doesn't like to have her do things for her. She loves to have me fuss over her and make her comfortable.

I want, terribly, to marry this man. I am deeply in love with him, and he with me, and I long to make a home for him. He is a fine man, and I feel that we would be very happy.

But have I a right to happiness if it makes my mother unhappy—leave her alone in her old age? I am afraid that I have not. Sometimes I feel like just slipping away and marrying him, and then I think that would be selfish and cruel, since I mean so much to her.

Please help me. What is right? MARY.

SOLE INTEREST

What is right?

It is right that you should live your life, Mary. By her own will your mother gave you that life—and she has no right to demand that you sacrifice it for her now.

It is a fine thing, of course, for you to love her and want her to be happy. But it is not a fine thing to let her cripple you. And that is actually what she is doing.

Is she asking you to stay with her because "she is so fond of you?" No, honey—because she is so fond of herself.

You say she will be "so alone" if you leave her. But that isn't your fault. Your mother herself shut her life away from other lives—and she can reach out now and find scores of interests if she wishes.

The real truth is that for 12 years now she has been the sole interest in your life—and you've been her exclusive slave. She is jealous, greedy and lazy. She wants to bind herself to you—and bind you to years of bitter loneliness after she has gone on and life has passed you by.

Don't let her do it, my dear! Be gentle with her, loyal to her, always — but get going on your own career.

That's my advice to Mary.

What's yours?

Marriage's True Goal, and Happiness, Discussed by Fay King

By FAY KING

A youth wishing to appear sophisticated and worldly becomes devoted to a fascinating older woman. Calculating sirens seldom encourage young men unless the latter happen to be rich or famous.

An older man, disliking to be considered middle-aged and settled, and wishing to appear still a youthful Romeo, becomes devoted to a young Juliet. Ambitious young Juliets will encourage any older man who can help them.

But marriages of this sort usually end in a "bust," because young men mature and become bored with older sirens. Young Juliets out grow their peach-bloom youth, and their aging Romeos, more rabid for real youth, are not fooled by face-liftings.

The happiest couples are those of a like age, really in love, and not pretending anything.

Mary and Noel Return to Madge for Advice

At just the right moment Noel had changed his campaign, and I saw in Mary's starry eyes, as he pleaded "say you'll marry me right away," that his strategy had been successful.

"Of course I'll marry you, Goof," Mary said, with tenderness tinged with mockery. "I just was waiting to be sure you were asking me all your own self, instead of having somebody put you up to it. As long as that's all washed up, there's nothing more to be said except a coy 'yes.' I'm supposed to blush divinely, aren't I?"

Noel's arms were still around her, but I saw him loosen their clasp ever so lightly, permitting him to look at her more closely. And as that intent, almost devouring gaze went over her piquant face, Mary's cheeks suddenly flamed into the "divine blush" of which she had spoken so flippantly.

"Mary!" Noel wreathed, and again, "Mary!" intoned almost as if the name were a prayer.

"That's me!" Mary said with a little laugh, but there was that in her eyes, as she looked at him, which redeemed the flippancy. Then, as might a little child, she lifted her lips to his.

"Kiss me, darling," she said, "and then we'll talk over things with Auntie Madge."

They evidently were accepting me as part of the furniture, and unashamed I watched that kiss, noted with approval that Noel gave it with infinite tenderness, but with no trace of the tempestuousness which I knew no longer fitted Mary's mood.

MARY HUMOROUS

"Now, Auntie Madge"—Mary drew herself out of Noel's arms, but caught his hand in hers and brought him over to the side of my couch—"what's the first thing to be done? You see, I never got married before, and unless the boy friend's been holding out on me, he's never jumped over the broomstick either. So you see we're a bit green, and in need of advice. Take that chair, Noel, and pull it close, and I'll sit here, while we listen to words from the fount of all wisdom."

She pulled a hassock to the side of the couch and gracefully settled down upon it, wrinkling her nose at me saucily as she finished her sentence.

"There is only one possible epithet that fits you," I told her, smiling.

"'Impudent brat,' I suppose," she said with a grin.

"Exactly. You guessed it the first time," I retorted. "But we mustn't waste time calling names, no matter how richly they are deserved. We must think of something more important—indeed, the most important thing of all—and that is how to break this news to Mr. Veritzen."

"I know how I'd like to break it to him—over his dome with a coal shovel," Mary murmured rebelliously, then her eyes flashed to Noel's in quick but humorous contrition.

AGRRES TO SILENCE

"Sorry, darling!" she said. "That's no way to talk about your respected and aged par-i-ent."

"Do you think I care what you say about him after this last scheme of his to separate us?" Noel demanded sternly. "He's no father of mine any more, and I shall tell him so—"

"No!" Mary and I exclaimed together, and Mary added an apparently flippant comment, which I was quite sure masked real dismay at Noel's proposal.

"Trust you to tip over the well-known apple cart," she gibed. "You know what harm he could do both of us, and Auntie Madge, also, if he got good and mad."

It was on the tip of my tongue to say, "Don't consider me!" but I caught the words back.

"In that case," Noel said a bit stiffly, "I shall of course say nothing."

"That will be best," I said quietly. "But there must be no delay in telling him. Shall I call him up now, and ask him to come over here as soon as possible?"

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Child Should Be Taught, Not Forced in Habit

"Can left-handedness be remedied without injury to the child?" "Is it hereditary?" "Should a child be forced to use his right hand by his teacher at school?" "Is the mechanism of the brain of the right-handed child different from that of the left-handed child?" These are questions recently asked me by a worried mother.

Dr. Copeland

Left-handedness is often the cause of unnecessary worry. Though the number of left-handed persons is relatively small, there is no evidence to show that those who use the left hand are inferior in any way to their right-handed brothers. Let me assure you that careful studies made by prominent psychologists prove this to be a minor problem and really of no importance.

Society accepts right-handedness as a convention, but handwriting, sewing, painting, golf playing, bricklaying, carpentry and plumbing are performed equally well by the left-handed person. I have met successful surgeons who are left-handed and are in no way handicapped by that fact.

It is a good plan to teach your child to use his right hand. This training should commence at an early age. But if the child persists in using his left hand do not become alarmed. I advise against scolding and punishing a child who does this.

Encourage the use of the right hand. But if signs of irritability, nervousness, or speech defects occur, it is wise to allow the child to use the hand most natural for him.

I spoke of speech defect. I did this because a recent investigation indicates that defects in speech are more commonly found among left-handed children who are forced to use the right hand. This is an interesting statement.

Let me assure the worried mother that the left-handed child is no different from any other child. Certainly, he should not be thought abnormal. This problem has been carefully studied in Columbia University, New York City. The authorities there claim that children naturally left-handed are mentally and emotionally normal. Danger arises only when these children are forced to use the right hand when they are more inclined to favor the left.

Too often, mother tries to improve the child's handwriting by encouraging him to use his right hand. The child will learn to write clearly and carefully if he is permitted to write with the hand he chooses.

Of course, as I have stated, infants and young children should be encouraged to use the right hand. They seem odd if they don't. Please remember that this training is only beneficial at a very early age and is often harmful when the child has reached school age.

Household Hints

A pail of cold water placed in a newly painted room will absorb all the odor of the paint.

Rhubarb and apples are greatly improved in flavor if stewed in the juice of an orange instead of in water.

Roast joints warmed up again keep their original fresh taste if placed in cold water before being put in the oven.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

A Dangerous Double

Good Contract Bridge players often welcome an adverse Penalty Double as it aids in locating key cards against which, under other circumstances, a finesse would not be taken. It is very often true that a light Penalty Double, based upon a bid by the adversary sitting to the left of the player, assures the contract and eliminates all guess.

The hand below, played in a recent rubber game, is a case in point.

North, Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

	♠ 8 5 ♡ 9 ◇ K Q 3 ♣ A K 10 8 6 5 3
♠ Q 9 3 2 ♡ K Q J 2 ◇ A 8 ♣ Q J 4	North West East South	♠ K J 10 6 4 ♡ 8 5 3 ◇ J 5 4 2 ♣ 2
	♠ A 7 ♡ A 10 7 6 4 ◇ 10 9 7 6 ♣ 9 7

Mr. Walter Malowan

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♡	Double
3 ♣	Pass	3 N T	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

East's Overcall of one spade was a nuisance bid, pure and simple, made with the hope of preventing a game contract in notrump. South's bid of three notrump contained a large element of risk, but, however daring the call, the play, by its soundness, redeemed it. The Double of three notrump by West does not appear at all bad on a superficial examination. He has an apparent trick in clubs, a certain trick in hearts, four cards including an honor of the suit bid by his partner and the Ace of diamonds — seemingly enough to assure the defeat of the contract. The Double, however, proved to be a fatal mistake, as North had opened the bidding with one club, and South, Mr. Walter Malowan, reasoned when the Dummy went down that part of West's Double must be a stopper in the club suit.

Mr. Malowan won the first trick with the Ace of spades, led a small club from the closed hand, and, when West also played small, finessed the Ten, which held the trick. As a result, he made his contract without difficulty instead of being penalized several hundred points, which would almost unquestionably have occurred had not West decided to double the contract.

It is, of course, clear that West could not have accomplished anything by splitting his equals in clubs on the first lead of that suit, as in that case Mr. Malowan would have won the first trick and returned to his own hand with the heart Ace to again finesse against the West hand.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Correct Word

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am not sure whether you answer questions of this nature; however, since you are an authority on good manners, I wonder whether you can settle this small debate for myself and a friend?

During the course of conversation the other evening, A remarked that "spaghetti is a healthy food." When the question arose as to whether the word "healthy" was being used properly, A changed his sentence, saying, "spaghetti is healthy for you."

B contends that the word "healthy" was improperly used in both instances. Will you please tell me who was correct and give us an example as to how the sentence could be expressed? E.

Healthful is the word that should be used in connection with food, when we mean that the food is wholesome, good for us. We say that a man or woman is healthy; but we speak of conditions that are health-giving (such as climate, air, exercise, food) as healthful.

BALL FIELD FIGHTING MUST BE HALTED

THEY'RE GOING ENTIRELY too far with the business of bringing back the "good old days of fighting baseball." With Bill Walker and Arky Vaughan putting on another fistic battle only 24 hours after the clash between George Watkins and Steve Swetonic, Forbes Field games have been marred by too much of the rough stuff, and it's high time for the players to put a check on themselves. There's a vast difference between hard, aggressive baseball and fisticuffs. When the athletes start to punch each other on the field they open the way for a possible riot, put their own game in a bad light and invite suspensions that will weaken and hurt their clubs. Pittsburgh fans have seen enough of it.

Arky Vaughan

And some of the umpires fail to help matters by their indecision on such points as the dead-ball angle following yesterday's fight, inviting further trouble and tiresome wrangles. An umpire's judgment on plays rarely is to be questioned. He is in a better position to see them than is any spectator far back in the grandstand. But the arbiters certainly should know the right ruling to make in such a situation as that of yesterday, and be prompt and firm in making and enforcing it, without huddles, hesitations and reversals of original decisions.

JESS HAINES, veteran pitcher, who did a neat finishing job for the Cards yesterday to snap the Pirates' winning streak of eight straight victories, was 40 years old on July 22, but he's still a very useful man to have around.

Since Frankie Frisch was made manager, the Redbirds have won seven out of eight games, and no fewer than four of the seven wins are credited to Haines—one over the Reds, two over the Cubs, and one over the Buccaneers. Quite a record for nine days, at 40 or any other age.

HAD THE PIRATES won yesterday they would have advanced to within two games of first place. As it was, all of the three other contenders gained on them, the Giants by half a game and the Cubs and Cards by a full box score.

The first-division clubs were bunched more closely today, as a result, with the Giants leading by the three games, the Pirates only two games ahead of the Cubs, and the Bruins only one game ahead of the Cards. The difference between the first and fourth clubs was only six games.

LARRY FRENCH may not win as many games nor hurl as many shutouts as Carl Hubbell does this year, but one thing on which the Pirate southpaw is bent in competition with his Giant rival is to surpass him as a workhorse and beat him out in number of innings pitched. Baseball has no more willing toiler than French, and if he doesn't succeed in his ambition it will be due only to incapacitation or lack of opportunity. "And I don't want to be aided in doing it through Hubbell's being put out of commission or failing to finish his games," says Larry. "I hope he keeps right on pitching regularly and completing the games he starts, so that if I do succeed in pitching more innings than he does I'll beat him on the level and while he is in his best form and working steadily." Larry added four more innings to his string in being charged with yesterday's defeat.

FRENCH LAST YEAR, with 274 innings pitched, finished 10 innings behind Hubbell, who topped the National League southpaws with 284, only two innings behind Right Hander Dizzy Dean, the loop leader. But French led Hubbell in 1931, 276 innings to 248, and also in 1930, 275 to 242

In 1929, French's first year in the majors, Hubbell had a wide margin, 268 innings to 123, but in all-time average the Pirate left-hander has outworked the New Yorker. Larry having an average of 237 innings per year for his four complete seasons, against Hubbell's average of 233 innings yearly for five campaigns. French has an ambition to pitch 300 innings in a season. He has 192 to his credit up to date for 1933. Hubbell has pitched 213.

A QUERY COMES from G. B.: "In mushball, three men are on bases, with two out, when the batter hits a clean single. The runner on second base, on his way to the plate, fails to touch third base. The ball is thrown to third base and the man is declared out? Does the run scored by the man on third base count?"

Larry French

The run does not count. The runner on second actually never reached third, so that when he was declared out it was equivalent to a force play, and no runs can be scored when the third out is made

DUNDEE, YAROSZ TO MEET HERE AUGUST 21

By JAMES MILLER

Ted Yarosz and Vince Dundee, who, had original plans not gone amiss, would have settled the question of their supremacy by now, will tangle at Forbes Field August 21. This was confirmed last night by Max Waxman, manager of Dundee, in a telephone chat with John Hernon, who is promoting the show.

The bout originally was scheduled for July 24, but was postponed when Dundee injured an ankle in a training session.

The scrap will be of 10 rounds and is one of the most attractive to be carded here in years.

Dundee, with his injured ankle back in good shape again, is in training at Camp Oakland Chalet, Oakland, N. J., for the bout. While Vince is getting in his conditioning licks at camp, Teddy is preparing himself for his bout with Young Terry at Newark, N. J., Monday night.

State Athletic Commissioner Havey J. Boyle proposes to recommend the suspension of Joe Mazer, North Braddock Bowl boxing promoter, it was learned today. The action probably will be taken within a few days.

Between Rounds

Al Quaill, the amateur middleweight champion of the state, who has won his last 31 straight bouts, will return professional this fall under the management of Lew Brown, of New York. Phil Goldstein, former local boxer, who is tutoring Quaill, is making the connection for Al. Brown handled Goldstein during his fighting days.

With the signing of Fritzie Zivic, fast-stepping Lawrenceville youngster, and Joey Greb, a newcomer from Wilkes-Barre, Bus Vogel, matchmaker, of Hickey Park, Millvale, has completed his show of four 10-round bouts for Monday night. In the main go, Harry Dublinsky, the Chicago lightweight, who always makes a hit with the local fans, battles Charley Baxter, of the North Side. The semi-final brings together Charley Burns, of Johnstown and Jimmy Thomas, Hill district Negro featherweight. Mose Butch, Oakland southpaw, and Eddie Pucci, Canton, (O.), 124-pounder, tangle in the second number.

Johnny Datto, local Filipino belter, is being kept busy these nights even though he's not fighting. Johnny strums his guitar and sings in a roadhouse on the Babcock boulevard, and from reports, Johnny is making good.

Max (Kingfish) Elling, Jewish welterweight of the Hill, is looking for bouts. Max is willing to take on any district boy in his class.

Johnny Chiodo, lightweight, who has been in ill health for about two months, again is in shape for the boxing wars. He has been signed to meet Charley Burns in the 10-round main bout of a show to be staged at the Point Stadium, Johnstown, Pa., on August 31.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE NEVER-CHANGING SHADOW—For all practical purposes astronomers and meteorologists consider the sun's rays to be parallel within the atmosphere of the earth, due to the great distance of the sun from the earth (about 93,000,000 miles). Hence whether a plane is 50 feet from the ground, 500 feet, or 5,000 feet, the size of the plane's shadow will be the same, although to the observer in the plane it would appear to diminish, while to an observer on the ground it would appear blurred. Also, to the ground observer, when a plane gets high enough for its outline to be contained within the disc of the sun, the shadow blurs and appears to be surrounded by a "halo." But could the shadow be measured exactly in ideal air conditions, it would be found to be the same as when the plane has just left the ground.

TOMORROW—THE ODDEST OLD MAN.

Three Horses Get Straight-Heat Wins

A trio of straight-heat triumphs were recorded yesterday at the weekly meeting of the Schenley Matinee Club at the Oval. Five races were on the program.

Real Worth opened the straight-heat winning by taking the opening event, a trot. Single Lady scored a like victory in the fourth race, a pacing event, and Adella T. tallied in the fifth.

Ruth Richards won in split heats in the second race, and Lindy Guy by the same route in the third.

CARDS SHATTER WIN STREAK OF PIRATES

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Pirate fans today had soured on the "huddle" as an umpiring adjunct. Patrons of Forbes Field and the home players, themselves, have seen the Buccos get the moaning end of so many of these diamond clinics they are willing to ask for waivers on them.

The "huddle" was painfully invoked again yesterday in the Oakland Orchard as the Pirates and Cardinals fought a stirring 12-inning game that ended with the Redbirds winning, 4-3. Umpire Magerkurth, officiating at the plate, allowed P. Waner's run in the ninth while Pitcher Bill Walker, of the Cards, and Shortstop Arky Vaughan, of the Pirates, were fighting below first base.

Magerkurth shook off the protests of the Redbirds for several minutes and then asked for a conference with Umpire Quigley. The worst expectations of the Buccos were realized. The clinic reversed the spontaneous ruling which had favored the Pirates.

On the other side of the slate it seems only fair to compliment Umpire Quigley on his quick action in checking the furious fight of Walker and Vaughan as the two tangled when Vaughan tried to beat out his infield tap.

Heinie Meine had the Cards blanked, 2-0, with two out in the seventh when a disputed double put men on third and second. Catcher Earl Grace insisted Durocher's double was a foul by eight inches. Jim Collins batted for Tex Carleton and tied up the game with a single.

The foe scored in the eighth, but the Bucs forced a deadlock in the ninth on Durocher's error after the fist fight had been quelled. A bad bound on a double-play grounder gave the Cards the victory in the tenth. Crawford's roller toward Piet hopped queerly into the outfield and Frisch went to third. He scored on a single.

ATHLETICS HELP SENATORS INCREASE LEAD

MACKS WALLOP YANKS; NATS BEAT RED SOX

Associated Press.

A sudden revival of hitting on the part of the Philadelphia Athletics has helped the Washington Senators to double their lead over New York in the American League race. Washington turned back the Boston Red Sox, 2-1, when they backed up Al Crowder's four-hit hurling with a homer by Dave Harris and an ninth-inning rally against Bob Kline.

The A's hit four Yankee pitchers with everything but the bat bag, piling up 19 hits to win, 16 to 3, and shatter a six-game losing streak.

INDIANS WIN

The Cleveland Indians stayed on the Athletics' heels by putting over eigh runs in the ninth after St. Louis had tied the score and beating the Browns 16-8.

The Chicago White Sox staged a big advance with two last-minute victories over the Detroit Tigers, 2-1 and 4-3. Charley Berry's homer in the ninth gave Sam Jones the decision over Fred Marberry in the opener and Evar Swanson's double with two out in the ninth drove in the tally that won the second game.

GIANTS BREAK EVEN

The Giants, who occasionally have been accused of being "hitless wonders," slammed out 24 hits to win the second game 18 to 1 after the combination of a dozen hits and five New York errors had given the Phils a 13-to-6 triumph despite two homers by Mel Ott.

The Cubs remained ahead of the Cards by whaling their old "jinx," Red Lucas, in the first inning to score four runs and defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 10 to 6.

The Boston Braves got an even break with the Brooklyn Dodgers in a doubleheader although they were outhit in both games. They pounded Walter Beck's flinging for an 8-5 victory in the opener, but Van Mungo stopped them with five hits and Brooklyn won the second clash, 3-1.

KAVEL PLANS TO COACH

By JESS CARVER

George Kavel, an Irwin citizen, who halfbacked his way through three strenuous football campaigns at Carnegie Tech, and who, coupled with William Egbert Sample, of the Kentucky and Ohio Samples, captained the Plaid varsity last fall, is eyeing the coaching game.

George Kavel

George is expected to sign most any time now as football coach at Wilkes-Barre High School.

A derned good halfback and a smart performer withal, Kavel considered for a spell signing with one of the professional teams and declared both with the local pros of Art Rooney and the New York Giants. The forthcoming offers did not meet with Kavel's approval and he has discarded the idea of entering the pro game and plans to coach. He's had a couple offers beside the one from the Eastern part of the state, but likes the Wilkes-Barre proposition best.

Elmer Layden head man at Duquesne University, has returned from his annual summer pilgrimage to his home in Davenport, Ia., and is ready to go to work on plans for the coming football campaign. He and his first lieutenant, Joe Bach, will hold almost daily huddles from now until the Dukes open their training camp in September.

Billy Evans Refuses To Aid Hildebrand

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Oral Hildebrand today was told he must make his own peace with Manager Walter Johnson.

The youthful star of the Cleveland pitching staff, who drew a $100 fine and an indefinite suspension for a temperamental display of anger at St. Louis, Monday, came here to tell his story to Billy Evans, but before he approached the general manager, Evans issued a statement saying:

"Hildebrand's dispute is with Johnson. He must make his peace with him."

At the same time, Evans asserted:

"No Cleveland manager has to take orders from the business office. Johnson is the boss of the players."

He expressed confidence the differences between Johnson and Hildebrand would be ironed out satisfactorily.

Hildebrand, for his part, said he hopes to rejoin the team as soon as possible.

Old Rivals Meet Again

JACK DEMPSEY JIMMY M'LARNIN JESS WILLARD

A feud, said to have existed since 1919 when Dempsey battered Jess Willard into insensibility to win the world heavyweight crown, was ended in Los Angeles when they exchanged greetings. TILDEN III, MATE SCORE UPSET

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The annual Southampton invitation tennis tournament moved into its quarter-final rounds today with Frank Shields, of New York, and William T. Tilden III, of Philadelphia, holding most of the honors so far.

Just as Shields gained an outstanding position in the singles division, young Tilden dominated the first two rounds of the doubles play yesterday. Playing with B G. Calvert as his partner, Tilden, a nephew of the famous "Big Bill," displayed a deadly overhead game and a will to win that carried him to one of the day's biggest upsets.

The Philadelphia pair defeated Henry Culley, of Santa Barbara, Cal., and Joseph Coughlin, of Los Angeles, who have won the doubles crowns of the Agawam Hunt Club, the Longwood Cricket Club and the Crescent-Hamilton Athletic Club tourneys in the past month, in a first-round match. The scores were 6-1, 3-6, 9-7 They were well on their way to another victory when rain stopped play.

Only one other seeded pair, the Oxford-Cambridge team of James W. Nuthall and Peter S. Young, who were sixth on the list, failed to come through, bowing to Jack Tidball, of Los Angeles, and Robert Millen, of Westbury, N. Y., 7-5, 6-4, in the first round. The others, Gregory Mangin and Berkeley Bell, who have won the crown for the past two years; George Lott and Sidney Wood, Frank Shields and Frank Parker, Gil Hall and Dr. Eugene McCauliff, John McDiarmid and Robert Bryan and Bryan Grant and Eddie Jacobs, won two matches apiece.

Scott-Paine Set To Race Gar Wood

HYTHE, England, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—With a newly-built all-steel craft resembling the fuselage of an airplane, Hubert Scott-Paine, British sportsman, will sail for Detroit this month to challenge Gar Wood for the Harmsworth speedboat trophy, it was learned today.

Scott-Paine plans to leave England on August 12 or 13. The trophy race is scheduled to be run on Lake St. Clair in September.

The new boat, christened Miss England III, is unique in construction. The driver and mechanic will sit in a small cockpit of airplane type cut in the hull of glistening steel.

In recent trials, Scott-Paine reached a speed of 100 miles an hour. The British daredevil claims he is the first man to attain such a speed on salt water.

Miss England III is powered by a Napier engine developing 1,375 horsepower.

Betty Zimmerman Wins Golf Honors

Betty Zimmerman won the midsummer handicap tourney at the Highland Country Club this morning when she defeated Mary Louise Thomas, 5 and 3.

PUBLIC LINKS MEDAL SHARED

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 3.—(INS.)—The four corners of the United States had an interest in the opening 36-hole round of match play in the National Public Links golf tournament here today.

Ten states were battling for a place in the magic group of 23 qualifiers as darkness yesterday halted a playoff among 12 players tied at 154.

Four were eliminated. The remaining eight were to resume their battle for position this morning on the second hole, and continue until three other players are eliminated.

Of the 27 players assured of a crack at the championship, California numbered 10, Washington six, Oregon five, Minnesota two and Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York and Florida one each.

Missouri, Indiana and Illinois were among the 10 states represented by 12 players who were to finish their qualifying rounds today.

Jimmy Deeble, 15-year-old Columbia Heights High School husky from Minneapolis, squeezed under the wire with a 153 yesterday and was to have the test of his life today against Tab Boyer, Portland (Ore.) sports writer, who tied with Leslie Leal, Bellingham (Wash.) mill worker, for medal honors at 144.

Boyer and Leal led Charles Ferrera, San Francisco, 1931 champion, and Joe Green, Philadelphia, by two strokes. Ferrera and Green had 146s.

Tom Barr, Pittsburgh's lone entry, failed to qualify, it being the first time in the history of the tournament that Pittsburgh has not had representation in the match play competition.

Chicago, Irish Bouts Recarded Tonight

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Thwarted by rain last night, Ireland's amateur boxing champions and Chicago titleholders are to meet tonight at Soldier Field in the third annual international Golden Gloves tournament.

The 1932 bouts were delayed 24 hours by rain, but a crowd of 45,000 turned out to see the Chicagoans and German champions tie at four victories each. The advance sale for this renewal indicates that more than 50,000 spectators will watch the Irish and Chicago lads take pokes at each other's chins.

Centre Fullback Signed by Rooney

Martin Kottler, fullback and captain of the Centre College eleven last year, yesterday signed a contract with President Art Rooney to play with the Pittsburgh National Football League club.

Kottler lives in Carnegie, and has a big reputation with the college teams in the South. He is a husky youth and is expected to prove his worth with the local entry in the big-time football.

PARKS TENNIS FAVORITES FACE TESTS TODAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Women's singles semi-finals and bracket-of-eight contesting in the man-to-man event make up a promising program of action this morning and afternoon in the fourth renewal of the annual Pittsburgh Public Parks tennis championships, in progress since Monday, on the clay courts in Frick Park, Forbes and Braddock avenues.

Favored by perfect weather, the tourney has breezed along thus far precisely according to schedule and, barring accidents, will wind up Saturday in ample time to permit Steel City victors to jaunt to New York for the national municipal title conclave next week.

KING FACES TEST

Milton King, ex-Kiski ace, seeded first in men's singles, follows up yesterday's layoff by engaging Joe Tucker, sixth on the list, at 5:30 o'clock today. Tucker's impressive 6-0, 6-3 verdict over Irwin Solow, Allderdice High performer, yesterday serves warning of a tough session for the prime favorite.

The remaining pair of quarter-final frays was slated for 2 o'clock, S. A. McCorkle, fourth of the select octet, meeting Harry Milton, Duke frosh luminary rated fifth, and Boo Meyer, number three favorite, encountering Lloyd Gordon, ambidextrous North Side conqueror of Zola Alpert, last of the seeded contingent.

SEEDED STARS WIN

Seeded satellites, with exception of Elizabeth Recker, Bellevue entry and fourth of the ranked quartet, forged to the penultimate frame of the feminine tussling. Miss Recker, fighting to the conclusive point, fell before the consistency of Margaret Esser in a marathon fracas, 7-5, 8-10, 6-3. Meanwhile, Mrs. Jean Artzberger, seeking to extend her championship tenure that has continued since 1930, swept aside Melva Fleming in love sets as Mrs. Helene Kauffeld, 1932 runner-up, clicked off Joy Hartman, 6-2, 6-0.

Today Mrs. Artzberger tangles with Miss Esser at 11 a. m. and Mrs. Kauffeld opposes Miss Schmidt at 3:30.

Doubles competition reigns as feature of play-offs this evening. The summary:

MEN'S SINGLES

OUTFIELDER SUSPENDED

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Vernon (Moose) Johnson, Western League leading hitter, has been suspended indefinitely and fined $100 by Frank Haley, business manager of the Saints, after he refused to get out of bed and leave with the club for Bartlesville. Haley said Johnson had broken training upon several occasions and that an effort was being made to get a strong outfielder to replace him.

HERSHEY CARDS TOURNEY FOR SEPTEMBER

By TOM BIRKS

Another big tournament has been added to the state golf program for this season. It will be a money affair at Hershey, Pa., scheduled for August 31, September 1 and 2, and is expected to draw star members of the paid brigade, including most of the tri-state district pros.

With this tournament scheduled for the first week in September, the Oakmont professional tourney, announced exclusively in the Sun-Telegraph last Saturday, will attract the pros when they get back from the Harrisburg district.

$500 PRIZE MONEY

H. C. Fownes, president of the Oakmont Country Club, is making the prize money well worth the efforts of the professionals. There will not be any pro-amateur tourney connected with the play. Five hundred dollars in prize money will be offered.

Tomorrow the Western Pennsylvania Women's Golf Association will hold a one-day tourney at the Pittsburgh Field Club.

Playing over the Shannopin course yesterday, F. D. Unkefer sank his tee shot on the 151-yard No. 7 hole to join the hole-in-one club. He was playing with Mrs. Unkefer and H. E. Clarke.

BUTLER PAIR WINS

Mrs. H. W. Christie and Roger Patrizio, of the home club, with a score of 83, led the field in the mixed foursome tournament at the Butler Country Club yesterday. A field of 124 golfers competed.

Mrs. Anderson and F. G. Sears, of the Stanton Heights, had a low net score of 75. Betty Abernathy, of Oakmont, and Fred Brand, of Shannopin, had a second low gross card of 85. The scores:

FIRST DIVISION

Mrs. Anderson and F. G. Sears, Stanton Heights, 90-15—75; C. D. Baker and Mrs. Zinsmeister, Butler, 86-9—77; Mrs. H. H. Phillips and Walter Curley, Field Club, 90-13—77; Miss Mary Kuhn, Field Club, and Jim Buntin, Shannopin, 86-9—77; Bob Thompson and Mrs. Dambach, Ellwood City, 87-9—78; Mrs. S. Holstein, Butler, and H. W. Christie, Butler, 92-14—78; Mrs. Hambleton, Field Club, and E. R. Braun, Jr., Shannopin, 90-12—78; Eleanor Allman and Tom Green, Butler, 92-14—78; Mr. and Mrs. James Ramsey, Hiland, 93-14—79; R. S. Greer, Jr., and Nancy Atwell, 94-15—79.

SECOND DIVISION

Mrs. Strassley and Dr. Aschomb, Hiland, 94-21—73; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, Shannopin, 101-26—75; Mrs. J. B. Holmes and Stuart Holstein, Butler, 95-20—75; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Douthett, Jr., Butler, 92-16—76; Mrs. F. T. Roessing and Harry Mateer, Butler, 93-16—77; Miss Jane Hazlett and Wayne Brown, Butler, 95-17—78; Mrs. Walterstett and Mr. Clayborn, Pittsburgh, 104-25—79; Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Garbisch, Butler, 96-17—79; Mrs. Clayborn and Mr. Walterstett, Pittsburgh, 99-19—80.

Ambridge Oldtimers Lose to Sewickley

The Ambridge Oldtimers, veterans of the American Bridge Company championship team of other days, went down to defeat last night before the present Sewickley nine, 14 to 8. The game was called in the eighth inning because of darkness.

Many well-known names were in the Ambridge lineup, including Andy, Joe and Jim Swetonic, brothers of Steve, Pirate pitcher.

FORMER ORIOLE DEAD

BALTIMORE, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Patrolman John G. Albert, 29, former player with the Baltimore Orioles, died yesterday at the Baltimore City Hospital from a broken neck suffered Monday when he dived into four feet of water in Back River.

OUIMET'S GOLF

By FRANCIS OUIMET

Former National Amateur and Open Champion.

In every locality throughout the country there is a certain group of young players, both amateur and professional, who enter their local championships year after year, and though they have the ability to win, because of a lack of confidence they fail. I know a very fine golfer among the amateurs who at some time or other has beaten players of national reputation, and yet he cannot seem to be able to work his way through a championship. On skill alone he is fully capable, but in his particular case it is due to temperament, and nothing else.

Francis Ouimet

The great fault with young golfers, as I view it—and to be sure there are many exceptions—is, they gear themselves up for an 18-hole match forgetting entirely that each match is a stepping stone to the championship and should be viewed as such. In a recent tournament the player I have in mind qualified with ease and in the first round knocked out one of the prime favorites for the title. His next opponent was a player who had a much higher handicap, and on playing form alone there should have been no question as to the outcome.

ALL FOES DANGEROUS

The better man of the two figured he could take things easy and win his match without difficulty. That is always a dangerous state of mind to get one's self into for, no matter how humble the opponent, it is a mistake to treat anybody in a light vein. At the end of nine holes the pair were even, having played a mediocre brand of golf. Starting with the tenth hole, the high handicap golfer suddenly struck a patch of fine golf, far beyond anything he had ever played before, and to the surprise of everyone, he won by 3 to 2. He realized after nine holes had been played his chances of victory were just as bright as those of his opponent, and having been given several openings early in the contest, his confidence improved as he went along, because he realized the other man was not performing in his best form.

Had the low handicap golfer settled down quickly with the thought that he would leave few, if any, openings, I have every reason to believe he would have won the match with hardly a struggle. It is a known fact that in match play you usually play only as well as your opponent permits you to. If he is unsteady, you gain confidence in your own play. If he should be brilliant, then he prevents you from being brilliant. The great secret of Bobby Jones's success was the fact he never let an opponent dominate the play. It takes a super golfer such as Jones to do a thing like this, and we know there are not many Bobby Joneses.

JONES DUEL RECALLED

I like to remember a semi-final match I had with Bobby at Baltusrol because it typifies the thought that is running through my mind. I was playing quite well for me, and felt rather confident I would give him a real contest instead of one of our usual games, which invariably found me struggling to get somewhere. He won the first hole, and I took the second. Then we halved 12 successive holes in par figures. I was waiting around for a break which never came, and at the end of 18 holes I stood 3 down. More determined than ever, I went out for the final 18. For nine holes I never played better golf in my life, was 3 under par for the stretch, and in spite of this fine streak of play I had lost another hole.

Bobby sensed the fact that I was on my game, and he believed that if he could just keep going along reeling off the holes in par figures sooner or later he would win out. When I was beaten, 5 and 4, I needed four pars for a 69, and he needed par for a 67. Had he looked upon our match in the light of just another contest, I might have beaten him, but the reason for his greatness lay in the fact that he never treated any match lightly. As far as he was concerned, they were all tough. That is the difference between the great golfers and those that lack that little something that keeps them from the top-ranking players.

Long's Sport Comment

on a force play. Because of the force out, the batter also is deprived of a hit and gets nothing but a time at bat.

SOME TEAMS IN baseball, football and other sports omit "13" from the list of numbers worn by the players. They are no more superstitious in that respect than horsemen. Attention is drawn to this fact again by the opening of the Saratoga race meeting today. There are 84 stables at the Saratoga course but there is no No. 13. The hoodoo numeral has been eliminated from the stable markings so long that the oldest trainers cannot remember when it was done. Instead of stable No. 13 there is stable "O. B." and those initials stand for Oden Bowie, governor of Maryland more than 50 years ago, who quartered his horses and those of his son there. Far back in the early days of Saratoga somebody just ran No. 13 off the track and it stayed off. But at that, horsemen take no chances that it may have returned. Among the applications for stalls and stables at Saratoga this year at least a dozen were supplemented with the request, "Please do not put my stock in stable No. 13."

FOR THE START of football practice at Notre Dame on September 15, a squad of 68 men, the cream of the 250 who tried out during the spring drills, has been invited to report. The volunteers and reserve or "B" team players will swell the total to a figure from 100 to 120.

The Irish this year are offering the best home schedule in their history, with Kansas, Pitt, Purdue and Southern California appearing at South Bend in the order named. Notre Dame's home attendance increased right through the depression, and it is estimated that this year's figures for games at home and abroad may equal the 441,000 total of 1932, though the Irish always draw better in Pittsburgh and Los Angeles than when they play the Panthers and Trojans in South Bend.

Such a player is David I. McCahill, Jr., Pittsburgh's premier polo player, the No. 2 man on the Pittsburgh Polo Club's team, and a former Shady Side Academy star who will enter Brown University in the fall.

YOUNG McCAHILL, whose father also plays polo in addition to other sports on horses, such as riding to the hounds, cross-country runs and some jumping, has a one-goal handicap rating from the United States Polo Association, which recognizes the Pittsburgh Polo Club alone of all the teams in this district. Dave McCahill, Jr., will use his left-hand prowess Saturday afternoon and will need it. His team plays the excellent Iroquois Polo Club combination from famed Hamburg Place, Lexington, Ky. The visiting team comes here after two invitation matches with the noted Oak Brook squad, of Chicago, at the World Fair last Saturday and Tuesday. The match at the Squaw Mill Run grounds in the Fox Chapel district Saturday will be open to the public and probably will draw the largest local polo crowd of the year, being the most important and colorful competition of the 1933 season in these parts. The Pittsburgh team will go to Lexington for a return match later this year. The handicaps are equal, both teams [illegible]

UMPIRES RILE BUC FANS

Larry French was charged with the defeat and Jess Haines received credit for the victory. The home setback snapped the eight-game winning streak of the Bucs.

SUSPENSIONS UNLIKELY

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Neither Floyd Vaughan, Pittsburgh shortstop, nor Bill Walker, St. Louis Cardinals' pitcher, is likely to be suspended or fined for their fist fight in a game at Pittsburgh yesterday, John Heydler, president of the National League, intimated today.

However, a final and official decision rests on the report of Umpire Magerkurth, which has not been received yet at league headquarters, Heydler added.

Heydler said:

"The fact that Magerkurth did not call me on long distance telephone last night or this morning leads me to believe the fight was not of a serious nature. However, final disposition of the case rests on the umpire's report."

Brown Berry Cops Circuit Feature

SALEM, N. H., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The 3-year-old Brown Berry, owned by J. K. Lyle, of Plainfield, N. J., qualified as the favorite for the famous Hambletonian classic by capturing two first and a second in competition with 11 other crack trotters in the $5,000 American stake event, feature of yesterday's Grand Circuit program at Rockingham Park.

The event was a dress rehearsal for the $50,000 event that will be run off at Goshen, N. Y., on August 16. Brown Berry, given three masterly drives by Fred Egan, of Lexington, Ky., had to compete against 10 other Hambletonian candidates, including the highly favored Mary Reynolds and the winter book leaders, Spencer McElwyn and Sir Raleigh.

Strib Easy Victor Over George Neron

BECKLEY, W. Va., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—W. L. (Young) Stribling, 192, of Macon, Ga., poked his way to an easy victory over George Neron, 203, of New York, in the main bout of a boxing show last night.

Stribling hit Neron, claimant of the championship of Greece, almost at will with his swift left jabs and hooks. Neron, a native of Salonica, Greece, failed to score heavily at any time during the contest, contenting himself for the most part with tying Stribling up in the clinches.

There were no knockdowns, and the young Georgian won every round by a wide margin.

Fight Results

At Beckley, W. Va.—W. L. (Young) Stribling defeated George Neron, 10 rounds.

At London, Ont.—Sammy Mandell knocked out Bud Jennings, 4 rounds.

At Barcelona, Spain—Kid Chocolate defeated Francois Matchens, 10 rounds.

At Indianapolis—Tony Sciolino and Eddie (Kid) Speaks drew, 10 rounds; Henry Moreno defeated Henry Hook, 8 rounds.

At Evansville—Scotty Scotten defeated Jimmy Buckler, 10 rounds.

At Reno—Jose Santa knocked out Gene Brown, 5 rounds.

At Pismo Beach, Cal.—Young Tommy won by technical knockout over Rudolfo Tenia, 2 rounds.

S. HILLS DRAWS NEW FOE FOR LEGION GAME

READING, Pa., Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Joseph B. Schmid, state chairman of the American Legion athletic committee, announced today the disqualification of Olyphant and the substitution of Hellertown in its scheduled game with South Hills in the semi-finals of the legion junior baseball championship here today.

Olyphant used an ineligible player, Schmid said.

The Olyphant team already had arrived here and it was necessary to telephone for the Hellertown nine from Lehigh County.

The South Hills-Hellertown game is the first on the day's schedule. The Keystone Juniors, of Reading, defending champion and in the semi-finals for the fourth year, meet Perkasie in the second game.

DORMONT NINE FACES BOOKS

Dormont is carded to clash with Books at Olympic Park in a feature City League game this evening. Possession of second place with a chance to overtake the flying Whitaker nine will be the prize for the winner.

Whitaker won another last evening from the Cochrans, so neither Books nor Dormont can afford to lose tonight's game. In the same league, the Cochrans go to Brentwood, while Homewood meets the league leaders at Whitaker.

In last evening's City League encounters, Whitaker beat the Cochrans, 10 to 7, and Dormont battled to a 3-3 deadlock with Homewood.

The Crawfords, touring the East, won a close one at Phillipsburg, nosing out the North End nine of that city, 2 to 1.

BOXER KILLED IN BOUT

RENO, Nev., Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Nick Krumovich, 18, an Oakland (Cal.) orphan, fighting under the name of Speedy Sparks, Seattle middleweight, was killed here last night in the first round of a scheduled four-round bout with Johnny Blanchard, 26, of New Haven, Conn.

Witnesses questioned by police agreed that Krumovich's neck was broken when his head struck the ropes after he had been hit by Blanchard.

Autopsy Surgeon Thomas W. Bath said Krumovich died "instantly."

Blanchard was booked for investigation, but was released on his own recognizance upon the responsibility of Imey Garfinkle, Salt Lake City promoter of the program.

Crowd Boos Keed's Win in Barcelona

BARCELONA, Spain, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Kid Chocolate, the Cuban Negro, who holds the featherweight championship, won an unpopular 10-round decision from Matchens, claimant of the Belgian title, in a 10-round bout here last night. The crowd of 6,000 jeered and shouted at the decision, believing the Belgian's great work in the closing rounds had earned him a draw, and threatened to mob the referee, Juan Casanova, and the two judges.

Chocolate gave a flashy boxing exhibition in the early rounds, but tired badly toward the finish as the aggressive Matchens kept attacking from start to finish.

EXCHANGE RULE SLOWS STOCK TRADING

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Security markets moved cautiously today as traders attempted to interpret the new stock exchanges curbs on speculation.

The activity in both stocks and bonds was at an extremely low ebb and quotations in all categories mulled about in a narrow range throughout the early hours. Many of the leaders sagged fractionally to around a point, but various specialties maintained fairly firm positions. Grains were moderately lower in the restricted Chicago center and were barely steady at Winnipeg. Cotton and silver futures pointed somewhat lower. The dollar slumped again in early dealings, but soon got back virtually all of its losses. Bonds were dull and irregular.

While market observers generally expressed the opinion that a backing and filling movement probably could be expected during the next few weeks, barring exceptional news, it was pointed out that the recent relaxation of liquidating pressure was a healthy sign, and that, if prices remain within a comparatively narrow range for awhile, considerable investment buying may be attracted.

Yesterday's flare-up of speculative inflationary psychology, based on an unconfirmed financial news ticker service story from Washington, seemingly did not get very far. Many traders who bough hopefully in Wednesday's last-minute rush sold in the early hours today when it was realized that any drastic currency expansion would not fit in with the revival of confidence indicated by the heavy oversubscription of the government's new bond issue.

The report of Dun and Bradstreet that bank clearings for the week ended August 2 fell off about $600,000,000 from the preceding week's total, was highly interesting to financial circles.

While the recession was considered fairly large, under the circumstances, it was pointed out that the aggregate clearings for leading cities of $4,897,601,000 was still .9 per cent above the figure in the same week last year. The past week's total included only two days of the heavy first-of-the-month settlements, whereas the 1932 week included three.

RUMORS FORCE DOLLAR DOWN

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(INS.)—Foreign speculative selling based on rumors of imminent inflation sent the dollar down sharply against foreign currencies today. In terms of gold the dollar dropped to 72 cents against 72.9 cents at yesterday's close and above 74 cents at yesterday's high.

British sterling soared to $4.59, up 5¾ cents from yesterday's close and 17 cents above Tuesday's low point.

European gold currencies were higher with the franc at 5.42 cents, up 7 points. Restricted gold currencies scored equally large gains.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The drop of dollar values in foreign markets due to unconfirmed reports from here the administration was contemplating early devaluation of the gold dollar were received without comment by officials.

It was pointed out that no action could be taken except by President Roosevelt. Unofficially it was said that if he contemplated any change in the present dollar situation, officials here had not been informed.

Refuse Rehearing On Sugar Rates

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today denied the petition of Inter-Coastal steamship lines and the Mississippi Valley barge line for reconsideration of the Commission's recent order permitting reductions on rates of sugar moving into Chicago and St. Louis areas from the South, East and West.

The reductions were authorized to meet the competition of water carriers.

Stock Market Here To Close Saturdays

The board of directors of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange announced that the institution will be closed on Saturdays August 5, 12, 19, 26 and September 2, 1933. This follows similar action by the New York Stock Exchange last week.

SIX MORTGAGE FIRMS TAKEN OVER BY N. Y.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—George S. Van Schaick, state superintendent of insurance, announced last night that six title and mortgage guaranty companies have been taken over for rehabilitation and that 27 others have been relieved of the restrictions under which they had been operating since March 15.

All six companies taken over by the state are in the metropolitan district.

The companies outside New York City which were freed from restrictions are the Albany Title Company, the Hudson Counties Title and Mortgage Company, the Hudson-Harlem Valley Title and Mortgage Company, the Jefferson Title and Mortgage Corporation, the Rockland Title and Mortgage Guaranty Company, the Syracuse Title and Guaranty Company, the Central New York Mortgage and Title Company of Utica and the Central New York Mortgage and Title Company of Albany.

The six mortgage companies taken over for rehabilitation are: The Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company, the Lawyers' Mortgage Company, the Union Guarantee and Mortgage Company, the First Mortgage Guaranty and Title Company, of New Rochelle, the National Title Guaranty Company and the State Title and Mortgage Company.

Van Schaick said a rehabilitation program for the 10 companies still left under his department's jurisdiction is being formulated and will be announced within two weeks. His statement said:

"The condition of the mortgage guaranty companies which are not able to open is one of non-liquidity due to the frozen condition of real estate and mortgage investment everywhere.

"The creditors and certificate-holders of these mortgage guaranty companies are entitled to be paid in full before any benefit accrues to anyone else. They are entitled to an orderly work-out of the securities behind their claims instead of ruthless sacrifice or liquidation."

This, Van Schaick said, is the basis of a plan evolved for rehabilitation.

Manufacturers Should Push Air-Cooling

By B. C. FORBES

"I'M GOING to spend most of today shopping at ——, because their store is so delightfully cool."

That remark by my wife yesterday prompted such thoughts as: "Why aren't air-conditioning companies flooding the country with advertising? Why isn't every air-cooled store telling the public they can escape from the heat by shopping there? Air-cooled theaters should be advertised similarly. Certain progressive railroads now have cars kept at a comfortable temperature; they should be shouting this fact in advertising day by day."

Mr. Forbes

Motoring during the intense heat of New York and surrounding territory, we had to stay still for 15 minutes. The air was stifling. Said one of the party:

"How much more comfortable it would have been to come in an air-cooled railway car."

It has been a mystery to me for years why man has done so little to combat excessive heat when he has for centuries and centuries attached so much importance to combatting excessive cold. Peoples have even worshipped fire.

Isn't it time that equal importance were attached to creating cold by those doomed to live in hot climates?

I CAN vision the day, not distant, when every well-to-do home, every office building, every store, every place of amusement, every factory, even every mine, will have apparatus for regulating the temperature.

The heat has been so distressing in New York this week that it has been impossible to work normally. Certain concerns have actually dismissed their working forces at midday.

Doubtless it will soon dawn upon employers that it will pay them to install air-conditioning facilities in all their workplaces.

As volume increases, the cost of installing temperature-regulating appliances will naturally decrease. The first mechanical refrigerators were much more costly than those of today. Now, few homes, even of moderate size, are not equipped with refrigeration by builders before offering them for sale. So will it be with air-conditioning in relatively few years.

Air-conditioning needs no sales argument. It is something everybody would like to have. The only problem is the cost. Rapid progress is now being made in solving this problem. Indeed, there are a million-and-one places which should have air-conditioning, even at present costs, which do not have it.

In my opinion, the air-conditioning industry is destined to become one of the most important, most extensive in America. It promises to absorb a vast number of workers.

Its leaders should go the limit in selling their extremely desirable wares to more and more people.

DIFFERENCES between executives of Standard Oil companies very rarely reach the public. Hence, the extraordinary publicity given the resignation of James A. Moffett, vice president of Standard Oil of New Jersey, over what the newspapers picture as a clash with President Walter C. Teagle.

It has been repeatedly intimated in print that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., would likely take a hand.

It has also been indicated that Mr. Teagle was not entirely in sympathy with the administration's policies.

I know Mr. Rockefeller's policy toward executives. He practically never interferes unless some dispute arises which the executives themselves cannot settle. He is the man then appealed to. I happen to know that Mr. Rockefeller has long regarded Mr. Teagle as the ablest of all Standard Oil men. Therefore, it is inconceivable that he would not support Teagle's judgment.

Insinuations that Teagle has not been "playing the game" with Washington are ridiculous. The fact is that Walter Teagle devoted more time than any other industrialist in America to furthering Washington's share-the-work campaign. He actually gave up his ordinary duties for months to devote his whole time to this public service.

Incidentally, another executive extremely highly regarded at headquarters is Kenneth R. Kingsbury, president of Standard Oil of California. Teagle and he have long tried to find ways and means to merge their two far-flung enterprises. Legal—political—obstacles were encountered; but under the "new deal" the plan may conceivably be officially sanctioned.

Both Teagle and Kingsbury began at the very bottom with Standard Oil, stoking furnaces. Both are still tremendously hard workers, but they keep in fettle by devoting a rational amount of time to recreation—Teagle partakes himself to remote spots for fishing and hunting. Kingsbury's favorite sport is golf. They both are hard as nails—physically. Both have proved unusually successful in winning the loyalty of their men.

Code Threatens Sales Of 'Gas' on Credit

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP.)—Hopeful that discussion with oil industry leaders might be concluded today, recovery administration officials were confident obstacles to working out a trade practice plan could be overcome.

The major issue of price control remains unsettled, as does a reopened fight over a provision in the tentative code submitted by Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, construed by an independent faction under Jack Blalock of Marshall, Tex., to give the President authority to go within states lines to regulate production.

Blalock and his group are opposed to this proviso which they asserted violates state rights, is unconstitutional, and is advocated by large companies seeking to allocate production on the basis of holdings rather than wells and ability to produce.

Meanwhile James A. Moffett, former vice president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, began his work as a member of the advisory committee assisting Johnson, of which Walter C. Teagle, president of the Jersey Standard, is chairman.

Moffett last week resigned from the company after a disagreement with Teagle and other officials, announcing he favored President Roosevelt's recovery program, but that he apparently was not in accord with other company officials.

Private discussion of a number of oil leaders here disclosed today that the marketing code as it now is pending before Johnson will prohibit credit sales of gasoline to automobile owners and other consumers.

The code stipulates service stations may make deliveries only for cash or coupon books in denominations of not less than $10.

Coal Strike Threatens Entire Recovery Program

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE RAPID SPREAD of the coal strike from Fayette County fields to the Pittsburgh and other districts threatens the entire industrial recovery program, in the opinion of many business leaders here.

The strike has been directed at mines owned by steel companies. It has extended to commercial mines which ordinarily might be depended upon to supply the needs of steel producers. Steel companies still can reach into fields farther south and to other districts not yet affected by the strike. This, however, would increase their costs and, if the strike should continue to spread, even these sources might be shut off.

Some of the steel companies have accumulated stocks of coal, but in no cases are they great enough to carry operations for any protracted period.

* * *

Only Frick Mines Fighting Strike

THE H. C. FRICK Coke Company, subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, has been the only producer which has attempted to break the strke. Other companies feel that this is not the time to prejudice their position with the government by fomenting rioting and bloodshed. At the first signs of a strike most of them have shut down operations and have made no attempt to bring in strike breakers.

Coal men declare that there is no serious shortage at present but they declare that signs of a shortage will be likely to develop within the next ten days unless some action is taken to bring the miners back to work.

* * *

Prices Record Sharp Advances

DURING RECENT weeks prices have advanced sharply. This has reflected the wage advances granted to miners as well as the spread of the strike. Mine run is now quoted at about $1.75 a ton at the mines. Lump is $2.25 a ton. Slack is about $1.25 a ton. These prices are 60 and 75 cents a ton higher than two weeks ago. In the case of slack, the price has doubled.

Some steel companies, in anticipation of a shortage are beginning to search far afield for supplies of suitable coal. The fact that a particular type of fuel is needed for coking tends to complicate the problem.

Iowa's Corn Crop Making Progress

DES MOINES, Aug. 3.—Iowa's corn crop made good to excellent progress in half the state during the last week. The crop in Southern and Western Iowa is in poor shape because of lack of rain. The earliest corn is in the roasting ear stage. Other corn is just laid by and fit only for fodder. Good rains are now needed in all sections. Wheat has been threshed out fairly well, but oats and barley yields are generally the lowest on record.

CHAPTER XIX.

She looked up into his eyes, dark and fathomless pools. What could he—a man—understand of her, a woman? Did the man exist with the attuned fineness to understand the craving which she herself could not express in words.

"I'm not like these other women, dear," she said with kindly patience. "Around the studio I hear plenty of talk of men about women, and women about men. These women that men possess—they call them dames. They are so easy to capture. For a man as handsome as you, dear, they are waiting at every turn. Perhaps that is what I fear. I cannot be just one more dame, even to you, dear."

She had little of physical or mental energy left to convey what she felt. She wondered, with a slight curiosity, if he realized how much of strength had exuded out of her. So many men would sense it—would press on to conquest through her helplessness.

"I want you to believe this," said Cavanaugh, measuring his words. "You are the first woman in my life I ever asked to marry me—"

"But it's not marriage!" cried Leni with a tinge of fierceness. "Marriage has nothing to do with it. Why do you waste your time on me? I am an eccentric! Perhaps I seek something that cannot exist—"

Cavanaugh let go her hand and stood up beside the bed. Fishing in his pockets he found a cigaret and lit it. Downstairs a deep-throated clock gonged its measure of eternity. He began to stride about the room like a restless animal.

"Why do you bother about me?" she half moaned. "There are so many others!"

ADMITS LOVE

Cavanaugh returned to the bed and stood looking down at her. Even in the insufficient light her hair on the pillow glinted like a scattered aura of gold.

"I bother with you," he said, "because I love you."

Leni gazed steadily at him with pupils widened by the darkness. She said the most banal thing he had ever heard her say.

"Have you said that to many women?"

"Lots of them, he admitted seriously. "But I was usually full of cocktails. I never meant it before."

Leni tried to drink in his words—tried to find in them the assurance of all she desired.

Few men in her life had ever said they loved her. So many had wanted so much and offered so little . . .Vienna, Berlin, London, Hollywood.

Lucky Cavanaugh was the best man of them all. The only one who had ever resurrected the romantic dreams of her poor childhood and made them come alive. It was strange. That great invisible public that paid for all the luxury surrounding her would never believe how untouched she had been with love. It sounded silly to think of Leni Luneska—the personification of romance on the screen—and dwelling in a secret and perpetual hunger. And now she apparently had what she craved. The man had come and said he loved her. Had said it . . . in words . . .

PITIES HER

"Thank you," she said with a curious meekness.

Her slight form looked so frail and spent on the coverlet that Cavanaugh was overcome with a gentleness that he reserved for small children and young animals like puppies and stray kittens.

The thing that baffled him was that he could shift from desire so quickly to the sensation of pity.

Strange, too, that Leni Luneska, stripped of public glamour, could become such a forlorn little creature that he wanted to pick her up in his arms and carry her around.

The desire to do something for her began to glide over him and he remembered that it was in his power to stand between her and disaster. Without him, Mulrooney would inevitably drag her through the muck of exposure. A new strength began to tingle in Cavanaugh. There would be relief for his feelings in action.

Essentially, he realized, he was not a lover. She had fascinated him and thrown him into an unfamiliar and bewildering rhythm.

He went back to the bed and sat down beside her again.

Her breathing was smooth and undisturbed. At last, in the midst of their great question, she had fallen asleep. It was incredibly youthful and naive. Cavanaugh could not help smiling.

FACES DIFFICULT TASK

In spite of everything that was to be faced he had a sense of coming back to earth, back to the normal things of life, through this little wave of amusement.

He took a folded quilt from the bottom of the bed and spread it over her. She remained motionless. He went to the window and drew the heavy curtains so the morning sunlight would not disturb her sleep. These duties gave him a sensation of quiet satisfaction. Stooping over the bed he pressed his lips lightly against the gold of her hair. Then, noiselessly, he left the room. In the hall downstairs, he picked up his overcoat and let himself out the front door.

It was good to fill his lungs with deep intakes of the cool air. The streets were empty and deserted, cool and deeply sunk in slumber. He took off his hat and let the fresh-feeling air play around his head.

Cavanaugh was not a man given to the habit of mapping out his future action. His bargain with Mulrooney was something that did not lend itself easily to planning. His head and his breast were now so filled with the sensation of Leni Luneska that he made no effort to think out what he was going to do about delivering the criminals. On the surface, it seemed an almost impossible task.

DISREGARDS WARNING

No hunch rose to his mind. Without some instinct to lead him he would be quite helpless—but even that was not a matter of great concern. He would go home and get a few hours' sleep. If he kept walking long enough he would come to a telephone which would bring him a taxi cab.

At the back part of his mind a little vibration of warning began to throb, but he dismissed it and refused to listen. After he had stretched his healthy young body out in a comfortable bed and soaked himself with sleep he would be willing to listen to hunches. . . .

* * *

Ever since he had fired the single shot that drilled Karl Kruger's heart, the unsatisfied thirst continued to burn in the center of Steve Poletzki. Sleep was impossible. He felt no fatigue. It was always so when he got keyed up.

While the effect of the dope lasted—sometimes for 24 hours—he was flooded through with this hectic bodily energy that ran like an electric current through the overstimulated network of nerves under the surface of his pallid skin.

He had an immense opinion of himself. His brain was cunning and stubborn and agile. The pupils of his pale eyes were reduced to mere flecks of abnormal brilliance.

WAITS FOR LUCKY

At the moment Lucky Cavanaugh was letting himself in at the downstairs of his apartment house, Poletzki was clinging to the iron ladder on the fourth floor rear of another similar building across a paved alleyway. His position was a shadowy one pressed in between the brick wall and the fire escape and, at this late hour, fairly safe from observation.

From his aerial position Poletzki commanded a somewhat incomplete view into the interior of Cavanaugh's apartment. He could see into Lucky's living room, and beyond it a door leading into a connecting passageway.

Poletzki had been waiting an hour. Always when he was wrought up like this, the palms of his hands sweated profusely and he rubbed them on his sleeves. It had not been difficult to learn the location of Cavanaugh's apartment and to find this vantage point. It would have been possible, of course, for Poletzki to have waited in the entrance and shoot his victim down on sight. Yet this perch on the fire escape suited him better. He could wait with infinite patience and plug his man across the narrow alley.

It would be a mysterious shooting and offer an almost certain chance of escape. Another man might have used another method, but this, to Poletzki, seemed extremely clever. It was stratagem that would fulfill the murder lust within him and put an end to his fear that Cavanaugh would betray him to the police. It was Poletzki's way of doing business.

He felt very calm and capable, although a nerve in his cheek had been jumping and twitching for hours. He was a man with dank blond hair, a colorless face and hands that were always damp.

In the inside pocket of his coat he carried the same automatic that had killed Karl Kruger. The whole project gave him a sense of exhiliration and a sense of superiority.

Behind the desk in the lobby the night clerk of the apartment house dozed at the switchboard. Otherwise he would have given Cavanaugh a message. As it was, Cavanaugh walked past the desk on the soft carpet without awakening the man.

The electric elevator took him to the fourth floor. Emerging, he walked slowly down the long corridor toward his quarters. A little of the gloss was gone from him. He was tired and yawning for sleep.

It was always pleasant for Cavanaugh to get in late at night. His Filipino servant always waited up for him. The boy would draw a warm bath, fetch his pajamas and hang up his clothes.

When he was ready for bed Cavanaugh would sit down for a moment, light a cigaret and glance over any letters that had arrived. The boy would then be dismissed for the night and Cavanaugh, utterly free from insomnia, would be asleep almost as soon as he stretched his body between the fresh sheets. It was a pleasant routine of living and possible only to a man with a substantial income, an untroubled conscience and sound nerves.

Synopsis

At the premiere of her latest picture, Leni Luneska, beautiful star, is stunned by the appearance of her criminal husband, Karl Kruger. Lucky Cavanaugh, gambler, who has just seen Leni for the first time, tries to make Kruger leave. Later Cavanaugh goes to see Kruger, waiting in a small office. Kruger rushes away from Cavanaugh and surprises burglars in the next office. One of them shoot him to death. Detective Mulrooney, well acquainted with Cavanaugh, gives him four days to find the killer or be arrested himself. Lucky takes Leni home. Lucky is warned that the killer is after him to prevent him from "squealing."

HOOKED RUG PATTERN NO. 502

By LAURA WHEELER

The hooked rug fits into the home that has furniture of the past; it is equally acclaimed by decorators as a fitting rug for the modern interior. Just as the quiltmaker of old was also the maker of hooked rugs, so today these American handicrafts go hand in hand. This pattern, adapted from an old Colonial rug, can be adjusted to a variety of sizes and shapes, thus offering an opportunity for making various sized rugs of the same pattern for one room. The means of adjusting the pattern is a strip of border, which can be inserted in lengths from 2 to 24 inches. See illustration above. The pattern can be used as shown, or can be separated, using the corners and the centers alone. Pattern No. 502 consists of a design 24x32 inches, with colors indicated on the transfer pattern, and illustrated directions for making the rug step by step.

Send 15c for this pattern to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York City.

The Junior Patrol Mail Box

Say, fellows, are you helping others during this hot weather?

When it's very warm, the way it has been the last few days, it's hard for everybody to do any work. Now is the time when you should watch and see if you can help your mother and father.

Don't let your mother go to the store—do her errands for her when you can, and help her with the dishes and the ironing.

And be careful yourselves to not get sick. The hot sun is dangerous. Sunburn hurts and sunstroke is very dangerous. Don't stay out in the hot sun too long no matter how much fun you are having. During the hottest part of the day, get all the fellows together and play a quiet game in the shade. You can have guessing contests, or tell stories, or read together, or maybe even pitch a tent and get ready to sleep out of doors.

Here a swell letter today from Capt. Edward Zimmerman, of Box 395, R. D. 1, Pitcairn. He writes:

"We took a large box and made a desk for our captain and two lieutenants. I was elected captain and Boyd Duff, first lieutenant. My younger brother is second lieutenant. We built a place to swim in a creek near our house. We all hope our patrol will be a success."

That sound like real progress, Edward, and we hope that it won't be long before we hear from you again. Also, that it won't be long before you have lots more members in your club. Is there room for 10 or more fellows in your swimming pool?

This sweltering weather a swim party is lots of fun, sure enough. We hope you invite your other friends in the neighborhood to swim with you and your pals. That's one way to help others.

Other captains heard from this week are Jean Krotec, of 5175 Butler street, who can play the piano and sing; Thomas Chernitsky, of R. D. 1, Dunbar, Pa., who has 21 members in his patrol; Bernard Freedman, of 1509 Victoria avenue, Arnold, Pa., who would like to correspond with other captains; Louis Steiner, of 405 Sapphire way, Pittsburgh, who is coaching 10 boys to join the Junior Patrol; Mary Bakas, of California, Pa., who enjoys the Junior Patrol program; Martha Barneshin, of 345 Forward avenue, Pittsburgh, whose club went hiking a week or so ago; and Nancy Kincaid, of 940 Corporation street, Beaver, Pa., who is glad that Spike was brave enough to save the little boy from the river.

Have you noticed the fine cartoon about Popeye selling newspapers, at the bottom of the Mail Box today? It was drawn by a Sun-Telegraph carrier boy who is a member of the Junior Patol in Ambridge, Pa. His name is John Shevchik and he is 16.

WASHINGTON MONUMENT—Making good his threat to explode a bombshell that would "rend asunder society's tinsel and sham," Congressman Horace Frisby swallowed his pride yesterday and accused his wife of infidelity during the Spanish-American war.

"At a time," said Frisby, "when the nation," as one man stood ready to free Cuban slaves, and I was working like a horse as an underpaid bookkeeper in my father's livery stable, I never suspected that the woman I would some day honor was having an affair with sailors."

Frisby turned the above photo over and over.

"The woman," he said, "is Mrs. Frisby——and although she claims that the sailor was her second cousin, I will sue for divorce and custody of the picture. No woman can make a fool of me in public and not pay the price. All the furniture has been tied up, and Mrs. Frisby, while permitted to remain under my roof, will have to get her pin money from that dope she so conveniently calls her second cousin. I will try to laugh and joke as always, but something inside of me is broke beyond repair. I will never marry again for looks."

San Domingo Does It Again

The republic of Santo Domingo is a free and independent divot in the Atlantic.

We understand this was the first chunk of land on which Columbus parked his wave-shocked dogs.

Christopher's premier glimpse of the western half of the world was when he saw a branch full of berries floating off the coast. And it has been the berries ever since.

Landing on Santo Domingo, Christopher planted the flag of Spain and said, "Let us give thanks. Some day this island will balance its budget."

And that is just what Domingo has done. Balanced it so neatly that you can put the deficit in curl papers and the surplus in ribbons.

The first we heard of it was when Bill Carver called up and muttered, "San Domingo has balanced its everloving budget."

Bill used to be on the copy desk of the New York American. Lately, he has gone in for small but solvent islands in the Gulf Stream. He has sent the news of the expert Domingoan budget shuffling all over the world.

Now, every monarchy and every big nation is sending students to Domingo to study how to trim the appropriations to match the day books.

It's a nimble slice of homemade financing. Not only that, but the Domingo republic is the only country in the world that doesn't have to flee to the hills during banking hours.

America, England, France and Russia are so far overboard, budgetly, that their feet don't even show at low tide. They're all big and powerful with fine armies and magnificent navies. But their budgets don't fit their hangars.

They're in hock sinko vinces to a crisp. If you called the elders in right now there ain't a world power that could pay off a dime on a dollar. Yet, there's little Domingo down there in the jungled tropics as pretty and as sassy as a baby on a perforated chair.

It's news when a nation bites a budget.

Questions for Voters

It Is Time for Civic Bodies to Start a Campaign of Education on Constitutional Amendments.

The Sun-Telegraph published yesterday in the classified advertising section an advertisement of interest and importance to every citizen of Pennsylvania, and especially to the citizens of Allegheny County. We refer to the official notice of Richard J. Beamish, secretary of the commonwealth, concerning the 12 proposed amendments to the state constitution which will be submitted to the voters in the election on November 7 next.

The texts of the amendments are set forth in full in the advertisement and are worthy of the study of every person who wishes to vote intelligently.

We particularly commend to the attention of the citizens Joint Resolution No. 11, which authorizes the General Assembly "to provide for the consolidation of the county, poor districts, cities, boroughs and townships of the County of Allegheny, and the offices thereof, into a consolidated city and county, with the constitutional and legal capacity of a municipal corporation."

This proposal involves radical changes in many branches of the local government. The Sun-Telegraph believes that on the whole these changes will be for the better. Certainly it will be to the advantage of the city to gain the population ranking that will be acquired by consolidation with the rest of the county. And more economical and efficient government, another benefit promised, is still more important.

The civic bodies should begin at once a campaign of education in regard to the proposed amendments.

The campaign with respect to the Greater Pittsburgh proposal should not be confined to Allegheny County. Although it affects the people of this county alone, all the voters of Pennsylvania will pass on it. The proposal was before the people of the state once before, and while it received a substantial majority in Allegheny County, it carried the state by a dangerously narrow margin. Many thousands of citizens in other parts of the state voted against it, probably in ignorance of what it involved and because there seemed to be widespread prejudice that year against all plans to amend the constitution.

Joseph T. Miller and Thomas H. Reed went to Philadelphia and made some speeches explaining the proposal and asking the people to vote for it. The Philadelphia newspapers and some of the influential women's clubs gave it their support. The result was that the amendment received a majority in Philadelphia. But it was defeated in nearly all the other counties. This experience clearly proved that an educational campaign is not only valuable but necessary.

If any of our civic bodies has formulated plans for such a campaign, it has not called conspicuous attention to it. There should be no further delay.

End the Violence

Sufficient Militiamen and State Police Should Be Thrown Into the Coal Strike Zone.

Much of the violence that has marked the coal strike in Fayette and other nearby counties during the last few days has been due to the reckless conduct of pickets and coal company guards acting as deputy sheriffs.

The deputies, while supposed to serve the public, have behaved as if their one concern was to serve the companies, and them alone. There is overwhelming evidence that they have fired pistols at pickets when there was no justification for it.

The only excuse that the deputies can have for shooting is that it was necessary to save themselves from being killed. Yet Louis Podorsky, the striker who was fatally wounded at the H. C. Frick Company's Colonial No. 3 mine, is reported to have been shot with little or no provocation from a passing automobile.

If the present force of militiamen and state police on duty in the strike zone is not large enough to preserve order, Gov. Pinchot should send additional men and relieve the deputies from service.

Violence must stop.

Protecting the Forests

The Civilian Conservation Corps Promises to Save Pennsylvania from Heavy Loss.

The United States Forest Service reports that the young men of the Civilian Conservation Corps already have been of great value in combatting forest fires.

This is of particular interest to Pennsylvania, because our state is a heavy sufferer from this cause. According to the American Tree Association of Washington, D. C., 92,000 acres of timber were burned over in Pennsylvania last year, and our average annual loss by forest fires is $586,915.85.

The Civilian Conservation Corps promises to save us from at least part of this heavy loss. The corps now has 88 camps of 200 workers each within the 1,641,000 acres of the state forests, and other camps in other tracts of publicly-owned woodland in Pennsylvania, including the Allegheny National Forest and the North county park.

With more than 18,000 new forest protectors on the job Pennsylvania's fire loss should show an appreciable decrease, not only this year but also after the emergency has passed and the Civilian Conservation Corps demobilized; for much of the work being done is designed to make it easier to fight fires hereafter.

A Skyscraper for $5

With No Takers.

A man in Chicago was offered a chance last April to buy a 20-story "skyscraper" for $5. He turned it down. Preferred to keep his five, he said.

The building was in the Loop, only a block from State street.

It brought in $50,000 a year in rent.

The catch was that taxes were $40,000 a year, and a year's back taxes were due.

Service charges also ate up a large share of the income; $12,500 had to be paid yearly to the owner of the land.

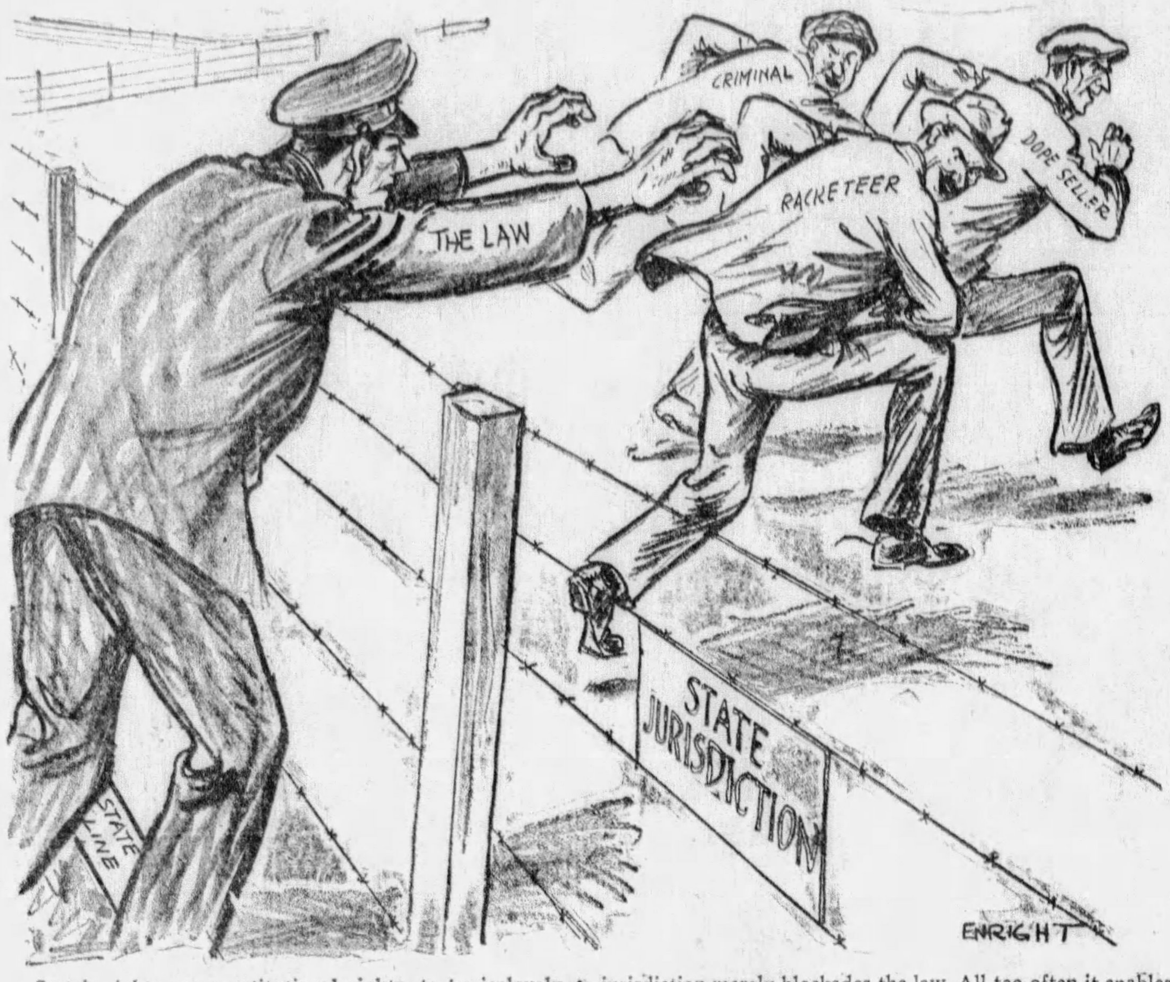
To make both ends meet, the proprietors of the building therefore tore it down and made the lot into a parking space.

They are getting enough from it now to pay expenses and make a little profit.

The city, however, is out $80,000 in taxes. And the moral of this true story—which Pittsburgh can ponder—is that when tax rates move toward the sky, buildings move toward the ground.

Remove the Barriers

(Copyright, 1933.)



State's rights are constitutional rights, to be jealously maintained. And State jurisdiction is, in local affairs, an inalienable State right.

But crime is not a local affair. Kidnapers and racketeers and dope peddlers operate across State boundaries, and State jurisdiction merely blockades the law. All too often it enables the law breaker to escape.

That defect must be remedied. A strong Federal police authority must assert the law's supremacy in the nation, and the State and local police must be co-ordinated with that authority, each in its own jurisdiction.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy

At times you feel like a misfit in the world.

Not many have been willing to overlook your idiosyncrasies to the extent that they will continue to seek your society in spite of the disagreeable traits you may show.

Thus you feel quite alone, at times.

No very close friends, and none to whom you can confide your innermost feelings if you so desired.

If you lived formerly in a village or small city, where it is easier to find confidential friends and keep them, you are missing the friends of former years.

In the city you have more advantages and there are just as many who can be depended upon as friends, but the trouble is to find them.

Find out what groups include those of your age and lines of education.

There must be college groups, church groups, literary or drama groups.

Identify yourself with some group you feel is stable and reputable.

Go slowly and intelligently about it, proving yourself worthy as a friend and you will finally meet those sympathetic to your ideas.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Few biographies would furnish such intimacies around the parlor lamp as Carolyn Wells' guest book. Such a valuable contribution is it considered to art and letters of two generations it was especially bound under direction of Belle Green of the Morgan Library.

It was started by Miss Wells 30 years ago and the first signer was Rudyard Kipling with an informal little verse. Walt Whitman, too, contributed a triolet. Also Hawthorne. And there's the sweeping signature of G. K. Chesterton along with the cramped, shy hand of Lewis Carroll.

On one page Theodore Roosevelt during trust-busting days penned a panegyric to the Big Stick and underneath it the poetical Richard Le Gallienne whimsically mused: "I wish I could write nonsense like that." There are sketches by Whistler, Harrison Fisher, Flagg and Christy.

Oscar Wilde dashed off a mot and Jack London caricatures himself in his flowing black tie. King Edward and King Alfonso are represented and Clemenceau, Lloyd George and Lafcadio Hearn. The book would bring a fortune if offered to collectors but has been willed to Miss Wells' niece.

Incidentally, Carolyn Wells, a few months ago, wrote an article about herself called "Two Years to Live," in a magazine. That was the period diagnosticians allotted her on this sphere of activity. Yet since the piece appeared her health vastly improved, so much so the physician who called daily now drops in once a week.

Jack London loathed puns—especially about his name. After he had come out of the ether following a major operation the cherubic surgeon, rubbing his hands, beamed: "Well, that is the first time I have ever been inside London." And the writer never quite forgave him.

Someone tells me the most revered graduate among students at Vassar is Edna St. Vincent Millay. One of her chief charms seems to be her studied indifference to the world's acclaim. As Mrs. Eugen Boissevain she lives a cloistered existence on a farm at Asterlitz, N. Y. Her husband, who also was wedded to the late Inez Milholland, another Vassar alumnus, does all the managing of the farm while Miss Millay composes her verse.

Larry Waterbury, who with his brother Monty, now gone, popularized polo in America, is seen around town now and then although most of his time is spent at Palm Beach. He has not played polo for 20 years but attends all the Long Island matches and is still the idol, and deservedly so, of the younger generation of players.

Thingumabobs: Mat Brush has a collection of 2,200 elephants . . . Howard Benedict, Broadway theatrical exploiter, is an expert ball player who once had a chance to sign with the Giants . . . The wrestler, Strangler Lewis, is a student of metaphysics . . . Fred C. Kelly and son are off on a tour of Russia . . . Raquel Miller has 12 Pekinese . . . Arthur Samuels was once a piano prodigy . . . Maurice Chevalier's only extravagance is for cuff links . . . Harry Evans collects silk mufflers . . . Three New York tailors regard Warren Williams as the most perfectly groomed actor on the screen . . . Hattie Belle Johnston has joined the American colony in Majorca until October . . . An apartment house in the Bronx is called The Ginsberg Arms . . . Beatrice Lillie has a tiny silver piece in her head as the result of a girlhood accident.

The Sealyham has a new one. Rigid discipline broke him of sitting around howling when hungry. But now when he craves food he comes in limping. He will be putting on an earache next. Taught also after many months of patient zeal to jump over a chair, he now does it a bit differently. He walks under it.

Around Times Square he's one of the lesser insincerities of life. Suddenly from a crowd he springs at you beaming, hands outstretched. You remember him but vaguely but his eyes are shining with recognition. Such affability from a stranger makes you shrink. But you have no alternative. A dog would bite him, a child would run away screaming. Yet you, a full grown nit-wit, are forced to stay, exchanging idiotic inanities, laughing off key and playing out the farce until the end. Why is that?

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

What is a public utility?

It is some convenience or necessity which is used by the public.

Water, for example, is a public utility.

Who makes the water?

God.

Who distributes water?

Private concerns, usually.

Who pockets the profits?

The same concerns.

But how come? If God makes the water free?

Water is free but distribution isn't. Distribution costs. It costs a great deal to build dams, lay pipe lines, install meters, maintain business staff. The private concerns put up the capital for and collect the profit from all this.

Is there a lot of profit?

Yes.

Do we not need that profit which is made on God's free water and our own water bills?

We certainly do.

Could we not provide our own water service?

We certainly could.

Where would we find the money?

Where we find it for other civic projects—through city bonds.

Where would we find the brains and labor?

Where private concerns find them—in American heads and American fists.

Would public ownership put men out of work?

No. As many men, and probably the same men, as are used under private ownership, would be used under public ownership.

Would public ownership reduce wages?

No. If wages could be reduced, the private concerns would do so. But wages are largely controlled by unions and rate commissions.

Would it reduce water rates?

Undoubtedly; for people can do things much cheaper for themselves than by hiring others to do it for them. Under public ownership we would be paying only for the actual service costs, not for millionaire's yachts and country estates. And, if there was a profit, we would be pocketing it.

BUT HASN'T IT BEEN SAID THAT "WE'D GET INTO POLITICS UNDER PUBLIC OWNERSHIP?"

It has. That is the private concern's pet argument. And, human nature being what it is, it is probably true. But suppose it is?

WE COULDN'T POSSIBLY "GET INTO POLITICS" MORE WITH PUBLIC OWNERSHIP THAN WE ARE ALREADY IN IT UNDER PRIVATE OWNERSHIP.

All public utility service corporations have their political contacts, their state and federal lobbies. Every water right that is secured, every rate that is fixed, involves "politics." Incompetent favorites are installed under private ownership; graft and waste go on, just as they might under public ownership—and we foot the bills.

Moreover, under private ownership it is almost impossible for us to clean up crookedness. But under public ownership, it would be our own show which we could butt into or bust up, as we chose.

BUT ISN'T PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF UTILITIES A DANGEROUS, NEW EXPERIMENT?

NOT AT ALL. WE HAVE, THROUGHOUT AMERICA, AN EXAMPLE OF SUCCESSFUL PUBLIC OWNERSHIP IN OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS. EDUCATION IS A "PUBLIC UTILITY" AS MUCH AS HEAT, LIGHT, WATER, POWER, TRANSPORTATION, TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH LINES. IF WE CAN RUN ONE UTILITY SUCESSFULLY, WE CAN RUN ALL.

But isn't there often waste and political corruption in our schools?

There is. But we are not abandoning our public school system because of that. We do not think that it would be better business to turn schools into private concerns, which would charge us many times as much as we now pay in taxes. We may not be perfectly served now, but we do not think that would secure better service—or as good.

Then, if we could have as efficient service, pay far less for it, employ as many men and share the net profit, it would be a good thing, wouldn't it, to have public ownership of utility services?

OUR RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

Perspective

Let me not ever live too near
The things which cause me fret and fear,
Lest enemies I look upon
May loom so vast they hide the sun.
And with dark shadows shut away
The glamour of the golden day.

Nor let me hold too near my heart
The loves which form life's happiest part;
Too much of brilliance blinds the eyes,
May I love well, yet still be wise.
And go, undazzled by the gleam
Of love, which makes earth's loveliest dream.

Let me not ever live too near
The things most dreaded or most dear;
Too much of shade, too much of flame,
Sight, dimmed or dazzled, is the same.
Ah, let me see my bliss or strife
As part, but not the whole of life!

Text for Today

For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith.

The Human Side of the News

Mallorca, Island Paradise, Is Tiring of Wild Americans—Bali and Bermuda Are Other Happy Lands

By EDWIN C. HILL

THERE are indications in the news that lovely Mallorca, gem of the Balearic Isles, in the Mediterranean, off the coast of Spain, is getting a bit weary of the wild, free habits of Americans who flock to that much-advertised beauty spot to live—and drink—cheaply.

Barely a year ago not one American in a hundred could tell you offhand where the Balearic Isles were or what they offered. And suddenly they came spurting into the news and the headlines, with the exciting rumor spreading that one could have paradise itself—a slightly Mohammedan paradise—for a dollar a day and less. Food for the taking, wine flowing in the brooks, servants clamoring to labor for the price of a pack of cigarets a day, and the whole set in a wonderland of flowers and palms.

And presently the steamship lines were besieged with inquiries as to how to get to the Balearics and Americans were heading for the blessed isles with all the excitement of a gold rush. For a time matters went well enough with the tranquil, indolent Mallorcans, but presently, it appears, they began to get vexed with the whoopee habits of many tourists, and when an aristocratic member of the guard was socked by a merrymaker, trouble exploded with a loud bang.

Now comes word from Palma, capital of Mallorca, and a city of 70,000, that if the Yanquis can't behave themselves and respect old Spanish customs they are welcome to stay at home . . . This yearning for an island retreat seems to be inherent in the human cosmos. It has drawn a restless soul to the South Seas, and to the little coral islands of the Bahamas. Next to Mallorca, Bali has been the most widely ballyhooed of all these islands of sunshine and low-hung stars.

Chaplin Finds Bali a Paradise

TO the great artist of mimicry, Charley Chaplin, the Island of Bali, east of the great Island of Java, in the East Indies, is the earthly paradise. Miguel Covarrubias, the famous cartoonist, is another whose eyes light up at the mere word, "Bali" . . . Far from the usual track of steamships and the blight of tourists, this island of 100 miles in length by 50 in width retains its primitive simplicity, little changed in hundreds of years. Three-quarters of a million people live upon it, and are celebrated for their cunning artistry in gold and woodcarving, in silk and pottery.

They are a small race, of Javanese origin, and the women are often strikingly beautiful, set off as they are by silks of gorgeous colors and the native jewelry. Bali is owned by the Dutch who allow no missionaries and restrict immigration. The Balinese are among the fortunate people of the earth who have little need to labor. Nature is their father and mother and their generouss provider. They are cheerfully rich, with pots of gold buried beneath the cellars of their thatched houses. For centuries the island has been exporting its surplus crops of rice, cotton and indigo, and since there is little use for money in this paradise of the eastern seas, their riches have accumulated.

Visitors like Chaplin and Covarrubias found that the Balinese rather despised the white race as a race which has lost interest in the most important things in life and sold itself to machines. For the Balinese the most important things in life are music, dancing and art. Their wise men assert that in thousands of years white people have contributed little or nothing to the arts. Bach is the only composer for whose works they have any respect.

Bermuda Is Also A Happy Land

NEAR at home, and enjoying great popularity, is beautiful Bermuda, that little cluster of coral islands out in the Atlantic, six or seven hundred miles off Charleston, S. C. Bermuda, gleaming like a jewel, glowing with romance and the luster of great names. Shakespeare wrote of it in "The Tempest," for Bermuda, or "The Bermoothes," was Prospero's Isle, where the banished Duke of Milan was shipwrecked, and upon which he worked his enchantments while Ariel flitted and Caliban wallowed in the mire.

Even today it is a happy land. There is no income tax, no death tax. There are almost no taxes at all, which is certainly an American idea of an earthly paradise. A comfortable cottage can be had for $800 a year, and a great mansion for $4,000. But living is not cheap. Fruit and most vegetables cost more in Bermuda than they do in New York or Los Angeles. But servants can be had for $4 and $5 a week. Clothes are a light item. There is no coal bill, and automobiles are forbidden.

It was the late President Wilson, by the way, who led the fight against the importation of motor cars. For generations artists have loved the sunshine of the jewel blue lagoons. Anthony Trollope, Rudyard Kipling, William Dean Howells, Mark Twain, Hugh Walpole and Joseph Hergesheimer have found inspiration in its charm and tranquility.

It was there that Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett wrote "The Secret Garden," and Eugene O'Neill ground out "Strange Interlude" and the first draft of "Mourning Becomes Electra" . . . Odd to think that its first Governor was a tyrannous old Virginia planter named Capt. Daniel Tucker, since the round dance that is footed so gaily to this day in the South, was named for him, "Old Dan Tucker."

BRIDE CHOSEN

By Winifred Black

So he married the maid servant and all his family went to the wedding. The little maid servant, they say, was as pretty as a peach and as good as gold, and everybody is very happy.

Now, what's so interesting about that?

The little maid servant was just a nice, neat, cozy, comfortable, smiling little maid servant. Her name was Dorthy, not Dorothy, mind you, but Dorthy, and if that isn't a good old early English name for you I'd like to know what is.

The man she married is a great-grandson of Charles Dickens—and now you know all about it.

Well, all I can say is, if Dorthy is half as enchanting as the maid servants the great Dickens loved to write about, then his grandson is to be congratulated.

Peggoty—do you remember her, with her cheeks as red as ripe cranberries, and her sparkling black eyes, and the way she loved to read about "Cockindils" and how the buttons always burst off her dress whenever she began to think how unkind poor little David's stepfather was to him?

And the barmaids at the Willing Hand, and the little Chamber maids at the cheery, cozy, comfortable inns where all the Dickens men and women were always staying for a day or so.

And the maid with the dimples—she was at old Wardeles wasn't she? Why I can hear the hickory crackling in the old fireplace and smell the hams drying in the smoke of the kitchen chimney.

It's snowing outside and the wind is howling like a dirvish, but what's that to Dorothy or Meg I ask you? And she with a possat in a fine big jug, and good looking Sam, the boy of all work, waiting for her, in the friendly kitchen.

And the maids at the May Pole Inn, who could ever forget them?

I wonder if this young Dickens, who was in all the dispatches the other day when the papers told of his marrying the housemaid, had been reading his great-grandfather's books and made up his mind that others could have the fine ladies if they chose, but for his part he'd choose a nice, neat waisted, trim ankled, rosy, smiling housemaid for his and let the rest of the world roll by.

Here's to Young Dickens, the great-grandson of dear old Dickens, the best loved writer who ever lived in any country on the face of the globe.

And may he and his pretty bride carry out the tradition of simple, wholesome, sane happiness that was one of the finest articles of his famous great-grandsire's creed.

So Robin is your name, is it, young sir, well, may you give the earth half a dozen Robins and half a dozen Dorthys.

We need a few of your breed to keep the dizzy old world sane and wholesome.
